The Greatest News.
15 Billions to Spare.

— By ARTHUR BRISBANE —

(Copyright, 1928.)

FAR above the ocean, flying back to Germany, the great Graf Zeppelin is homeward bound. The world admires the efficiency of the German engineers and builders, and congratulates the brilliant air captain, Dr. Eckener.

And the world's small boys will envy one American boy, making the trip as a stowaway.

WITH the election only one week away Wall Street still refuses to be frightened, to shiver or shake, or lower prices. In fact, prices go up.

IT must be that high finance does not take seriously the kind of "Socialism" attributed to Gov. Smith.

As a matter of fact everybody knows it is "government" or "state Socialism" that Mr. Hoover had in mind. That was invented by Bismarck and doesn't frighten anybody. On the contrary, it is a good thing, as Germany has discovered, after you get used to it.

THE most important news in the world has nothing to do with the election, or the intelligence of the modern "flapper" highly prized by educational authorities. The year's important news tells of a giant telescope, with a 200-inch mirror that will reveal to the eyes of men hundreds of millions of new stars and distant "universes."

APPALLING to man's feeble intellect is a thin instrument that will bring within reach of our eyes the light of nebulae in a far-off universe, light that has been traveling through space one billion years, at a speed of 186,000 miles a second.

MR. RASKOB, a brilliantly able business man, said, probably out of politeness to please political associates, that our prosperity is not genuine. The General Motors Company, for which he has done good work, seems not to share his opinion, judging by the price of its stock and the size of its earnings.

MR. MELLON, secretary of the treasury, thinks our prosperity is sound enough and so do others of financial ability.

Mr. Frederick Ecker, vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, says the main element in prosperity is the wage earner's "back log."

WORKERS in this country earn about ONE HUNDRED BILLION dollars a year.

There is a good deal of extravagance and waste, but in spite of that, not more than 85 per cent of the earnings is spent. This means that the people earn each year FIFTEEN BILLIONS more than they spend.

EVERY year, after paying their living expenses, the people have left over fifteen thousand million dollars, 50 per cent more than the gigantic sum lent to Europe in the war by this country.

This "social surplus" comes in EVERY YEAR.

That is a substantial "back log" to keep the prosperity fires burning.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., in memory of his mother, gives to the University of Chicago $1,000,000 "to promote the religious idealism of students of the university."

THOSE, unfortunately numerous, that do exist WITHOUT religious idealism, never lifting their eyes from the ground to contemplate and question the heavens and the glory that they declare, are like the men living in Plato's cave, their backs to the light, knowing only shadows on the walls.

MR. RASKOB says that Pennsylvania is CERTAINLY going Democratic.

Republicans say the Solid South is CERTAINLY smashed.

Gov. Smith, now traveling through it, in the last few days of the campaign may change conditions. His last-minute trip indicates that his managers are worried about the South.

In the United States 43,000,000 have registered, this total number is greater by 14,000,000 than the number that voted in the election of 1924.

It is expected that the vote this year will be increased by more than 6,000,000, or almost the total of the Democratic vote in 1924.

Somebody apparently is interested.

FATHERS and mothers of young girls should be interested in the fact that, among all crimes, the greatest increase has been in crimes against women.

THERE can be no doubt that increase in such vicious and dangerous crime is stimulated by the modern women's fashions, skirts short and tight, etc.

They may not be immodest, but they are in some cases DANGEROUS.

A FRENCH count with a long name beginning Pierre Marie Raymond is sent to jail for ten years. Such is his punishment for drowning his illegitimate child 17 months old.

It would be interesting to know how French justice figured out that particular punishment

GRAFT GRAND JURY RECOMMENDS 252 BE INDICTED

The grand jury probing graft in Allegheny county recommended 252 persons for indictment in its presentment today to Judge James B. Drew and declared its investigation had hardly begun to get the facts pertaining to widespread law violation.

In the list of indictments recommended there were three "big names."

There was, as might have been expected, Alfred Forney, slot machine baron.

To keep him company there was Sam Rost, of East End avenue, who, the jurors were told, is the slot machine king in the East End, Wilkinsburg, Homestead, Braddock and Rankin.

And there was Charles W. Collins, attache of the city's Children's Service Bureau, who was reported to have made a practice of starting prosecutions—then suddenly dropping them. He is accused of extortion.

Officialdom was represented by two police lieutenants, John J. Lynch and J. J. Lyons; four petty magistrates, Alderman George S. Wilson and Patrick Cawley, and Justices of the Peace W. L. Baker, of Bellevue, and John F. Smith, of Beadling; Constables George P. Andrews and E. V. Stokes;

The rest were an assorted lot of roadhouse keepers, saloon proprietors, gamblers and petty traffickers in vice—"small fry," all.

Judge Drew received the presentment at 2 p. m., read it in nine minutes, and approved it. This action gave the list back to the grand jury for formal indictment.

After Judge Drew had approved its recommendations, the grand jury was recessed until Friday morning, when it will begin to return indictments. Gardner expects to do the job in one day, aided by confessions of 175 lowly racketeers. On all these 175 confessions it will be necessary to call only one witness—Chief County Detective George Murren.

The next list of indictments, promised Assistant District Attorney Andrew T. Park will include the names of several ward chairmen and other individuals whom

POSTERS BRANDED ILLEGAL BY COURT

The fight to compel the County Commissioners to remove Hoover-Curtis posters pasted on windows and halls of the City-County Building met at least a temporary setback in court today, although Judge Thomas D. Carnahan branded the practice as "clearly illegal."

The court dismissed a petition for a mandatory injunction against the Commissioners on the ground that the Equity Court was powerless to grant it on technical grounds. Judge Carnahan offered to grant a restraining order, but as this would not compel the Commissioners to remove posters already up the offer was declined.

"I feel that these posters which are pasted up should be removed," said Judge Carnahan, "since an Act of Assembly prohibits the defacing of public buildings by placing posters, painting or branding. I cannot grant the petition in its present form, but would advise the complainants to confer with the Commissioners and see what can be done. If the Commissioners will do nothing, action can be instituted that will prevent occurrences like this in the future."

Attorney Charles A. Jones, who, with Attorney Conrad H. Checco, represented Salvatore Sunseri and Charles P. Coscic, the complainants, displayed a photograph taken from the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph as illustrating placarding of the City-County Building.

ZEP CLIMBS ABOVE CLOUDS AND RAIN

By JOHN C. INGRAM.

(Only American Newspaperman Aboard the Graf Zeppelin.)

(Copyright, 1928, by the New York American, Inc., and King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction Prohibited in Whole or Part.)

ABOARD GRAF ZEPPELIN, Oct. 29.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon, practically 11 hours after we rounded the Woolworth Tower on lower Broadway, the Graf Zeppelin announces its present position as 42.17 north, 59.12 west, or about 112 miles southeast of Sable Island, off Nova Scotia, where so many shipwrecks have happened on the flat sands.

We are making 70 mies an hour in spite of heavy fog, wind, squalls, and occassional rain.

In other words we are flying at an altitude of 1,000 feet, 890 miles out of Lakehurst, and if our luck holds we should reach Friedrichshafen about noon Wednesday.

We are traveling somewhat north of the steamer lane.

The first real excitement of the trip came early this morning when the world's first stowaway on a trans-Atlantic airship, a boy of 19, was found calmly sitting on the mailbags. The young chap, who says he has been planning the trip for, more than three months, is Clarance Terhune, who gives his home address as 2922 North Union bouelevard, St. Louis. He has been working as a caddy at the Rye, N. Y., Country Cub. After he had been promptly put to washing dishes by Captain Lehmann, Clarance said that he got aboard the Graf Zeppelin at 8 o'clock last night, climbing in through the mail hatch.

The stowaway kid this afternoon is still washing dishes, but says he likes it.

"I'm glad I came," he declared. "It's worth it."

About 10:30 this afternoon we passed the steamer Davisian, bound for New York, and a big outbound Cunarder, which we were unable to identify.

Up to a short time ago we were making as high as 85 miles an hour, but the wind veered, giving us some slight opposition. The ship suddenly climbed straight up more than 200 feet to hurdle the storm zone and we are now riding above the rain and clouds.

ANNA FERLIN

The Graf Zeppelin in part came today to Pittsburgh, brought by Mrs. Anna Ferlin, 518 James street, Turtle Creek, a visitor at Lakehurst naval flying field just before the great dirigible took off. Mrs. Ferlin was introduced to one Mr. Knute Eckener, son of Dr. Eckener and the lad who distinguished himself on the first crossing by his dare-devil work in repairing the damaged stabilizer. Knute, just for fun, tore off a small piece of the Zeppelin's coat, autographed it and then had two brother-officers, one of whom was Capt. Hans von Schiller, do likewise.

WALSH-MORAN FEUD FLAMES UP AFRESH

Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, who had P. E. (Happy) Moran, dismissed city detective, arrested yesterday as an extortionist, today discounted certain charges made by that same Moran.

Moran said Walsh had "crucified" him, that Walsh had fired him from the force because Moran in his investigations had got "too close to home" for Walsh, that the superintendent would be much more comfortable with Moran fired.

Moran said that, even before this extortion case broke into the open, District Attorney Gardner had been planning to put him before the grand jury which is investigating graft and give him a chance to tell what he knew of Walsh.

Gardner verified that statement. He said he was going to have Moran tell the grand jury of "certain activities of Walsh."

RIDICULOUS, SAYS WALSH

To Moran's story Walsh today answered:

"It's too ridiculous to reply to."

Moran didn't get a hearing today. The two city detectives who are arranging the case against him said they wouldn't be able to produce certain witnesses before Monday. So by agreement of all concerned the hearing was set for Monday in Central Police Court.

Walsh explained, in part, the case against Moran. He said the information charging "Happy" with conspiracy was based upon statements of "Bobbie" White, the California

FIRST KILLING FROST OF FALL HITS CITY

The first general freeze and killing frost hit Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania this morning as the mercury fell to 32, the lowest point of the season.

Forecaster W. S. Brotzman reported that in Beechview the thermometer registered 27. Several suburbs noted temperatures below 30.

"Today's freeze killed vegetation," said Brotzman. "It was general throughout this region. Some points in West Virginia reported 20 degrees. Prospects are for fair weather today, with little change in temperature and for increasing cloudiness and warmer tomorrow. Higher temperatures were reported from the Middle West today."

AIR LINER BATTLES SAFELY THROUGH ATLANTIC STORM

(copyright, 1928, by International News Service. Reproduction in whole or in part expressly prohibited.)

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—The Graf Zeppelin entered an area of good weather today after a storm of cyclonic proportions which lasted through Monday afternoon and last night, according to a copyrighted message filed from the airship at 10:30 a. m., Eastern Standard time, by Rolf Brandt, correspondent of Lokalanzeiger, who is a passenger.

At that time the Graf had covered one-third of the ocean route and one-half the total trip from Lakehurst, N. J., to Germany.

SIGHTED BY SHIP

ABOARD S. S. AMERICAN BANKER AT SEA, Oct. 30.—(By radio via Chatham, Mass., station to International News Service.)—The Graf Zeppelin passed over this ship at 10:40 a. m., Eastern Standard time, today, heading east northeast. The position of the American Banker when the Zeppelin nosed into sight was 52:30 north 37:40 west.

The position given by the S. S. American Banker indicates that the Zeppelin is still some 1,050 miles from the coast of Ireland, and is not making fast time. At the present rate of speed it is probable that the air liner will not sight land much before noon tomorrow, unless there is a decided change in the weather for the better.

Although the message from the steamer to International News Service did not state the weather conditions, it was regarded as probable that the Zeppelin was bucking head winds which greatly retarded its speed.

SPEED REDUCED

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The Graf Zeppelin is not making the speed on her trans-Atlantic home-bound trip that had been expected of her. ..

A 8 o'clock this morning, Pittsburgh time, the Graf was in the position of 40 west and 52:30 north and her speed had been reduced to 40 knots an hour, owing to bad weather, according to word received by International News Service.

The airship was 600 miles east of the Newfoundland coast and 1,100 miles from Ireland, Commodore Eckener expects to pass over the Irish coast Wednesday noon.

RADIOS "ALL WELL"

International News Service.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—A private radio message from the Graf Zeppelin reported picked up here today indicated that the dirigible was about 250 miles northeast of Cape Race, N. F., at 10 p. m., Pittsburgh time, last night, on its return flight from Lakehurst, N. J., to Friedrichshafen, Germany.

"Position Graf midnight 250 miles northeast Cape Race! encountering southeastern gales: course southeast; all well, Dr. Eckener," the message read.

FAR OUT AT SEA

ST. JOHN, N. F., Oct. 30.—With 24 passengers, a crew of 40 and the stowaway aboard, the Graf Zeppelin today was believed to be far out over the Atlantic on a course slightly north of the shipping lanes, on its return flight from Lakehurst, N. J., to Friedrichshafen, Germany.

Reports that the huge craft had been sighted at two places over Newfoundland last evening indicated that Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf, had decided to go north of the "Lindbergh route."

ZEPPELIN STOWAWAY MADE WASH DISHES

By WILHELM SCHULZE.

(Copyright, 1928 King Features Syn., Inc.)

ABOARD GRAF ZEPPELIN, Oct. 29.—We are bringing back to Germany a member of the ship's crew who did not figure in the list of those aboard when we left Lakehurst early this morning. He is a 19-year-old office boy who was hidden behind the baggage piled on the airship and was overlooked in the last inspection.

After the Graf Zeppelin was well on its way and he was certain he could not be thrown off the ship, the young fellow crawled out of his hiding place and perched on the mail bags, where he was found soon after daylight.

Instead of being angry, as might have been expected, Commodore Eckener and Capt. Lehmann greeted the boy in the friendliest manner in recognition of his sportsmanship and daring. He was given a hearty breakfast, as he said he was very hungry after his long hiding. He will be included in the ship's crew and was at once put to washing dishes.

The boy gave his name as Clarence Terhune and said his home is in St. Louis. He told Capt. Lehmann he was a stowaway once before, making a trip on the motorship California when this largest American motorship made its maiden trip.

"This is a greater thrill, though than the motorship," he said. "I like this much better and it is worth the work I will have to do on board. I am glad I came."

The first hours of our journey were uneventful. At 4:15 this morning we were over Long Island and Montauk Point, heading in the direction of New Haven and Nantucket. Later we were over the southern steamer route. We were meeting light head winds with smooth sailing.

Breakfast was served at 5:50 o'clock. The passengers who were interested in the flight over New York began to go to bed, weary from

U. S. TO CANCEL BIG OIL LEASE AS ILLEGAL

By JOHN A. KENNEDY.

(Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The Department of Justice has decided to brand as illegal the $10,000,000 Cat Creek (Mont.) royalty oil contract now controlled by the Lewistown Oil and Refining Company, it was learned last night.

This follows by two weeks the decision of Attorney General Sargent holding the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company's $65,000,000 Salt Creek (Wyo.) royalty oil contract invalid.

Both contracts originally were negotiated by Albert B. Fall in December, 1922, when he was secretary of the interior. They were subsequently renewed last winter by Dr. Hubert Work, former secretary of the Interior who resigned to become chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The renewal was based on an option clause by which the contractors were given the right to make a new five-year contract at the expiration of the orignal agreement.

Both contracts contained the same five-year option clause which, it is contended, was not a part of the original advertisements for bids.

The department's opinion, now being prepared for signature by Attorney General Sargent, it was learned, will hold that the appearance of the five-year option clause in the original agreement constituted a substantial variance from the advertisements and under federal contract law renders the contract itself, as well as the new agreements executed by Dr. Work, invalid.

It was on this same legal principle that the Sinclair contract was invalidated.

TO CANCEL CONTRACT

As soon as the Attorney General's opinion is forwarded to the Department of the Interior, Secretary Roy O. West, it is understood, will take steps to cancel the contract—the same move which was made in the case of the Sinclair company.

Meantime, the Department of Justice is continuing with its plans to bring suit against the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company for alleged fraud in connection with the execution of the original Salt Creek contract with Fall.

Harry F. Sinclair, prime mover in the Salt Creek deal, gave Fall $10,000 in cash shortly before the Sinclair bid was submitted and an additional $25,000 after the contract was signed by Fall.

In the case of the Cat Creek contract, however, no fraud has been alleged in any quarter. It will be voided merely because of the Attorney General's decision that the option clause was illegal.

The Lewistown Oil and Refining Company, which holds the contract is owned by the oil interests associated with Frank P. Book, prominent Detroit capitalist. Mr. Book is president of the company.

WIFE LEFT HUSBAND, JUDGE EXONERATES HER

Judge Thomas D. Carnahan, of Common Pleas Court, informed Mrs. Ruth Clemens, Sloan avenue, Wilkinsburg, that she had done exactly right in telling her husband to leave her, after she had intercepted a letter from an Altoona woman addressed to Harry W. Clemens, from whom she wants a divorce. It was brought out that the woman in question, Mary Edmundson, of Altoona, had lived with Clemens for a short time in a Forbes street house. It also developed that Clemens is at present in jail at Hollidaysburg.

SEES DEFICIT IN LIGHT BUDGET

A $20,000 deficit will exist in the street lighting account before the end of the current year, according to a letter submitted to Council yesterday by Edward G. Lang, director of the Department of Public Works.

Lang said the deficit was due to an insufficient appropriation for 1928 and also to the necessary installation of 499 new lights.

He asked to have provision made in the 1929 budget in case the deficit cannot be financed this year.

Weather Conditions.

The crest of the high pressure area now overlies the Middle Atlantic and the Ohio Valley states, and the barometer is falling rapidly over the Plains states. Highest barometer this morning is 30.58 inches at Elkins, W. Va. The skies are clear from Ohio eastward to the coast, but cloudiness prevails nearly everywhere from Ohio to the Rocky Mountains. There was light rain in all the Gulf states, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas, and it is raining this morning at Shreveport and at Vicksburg.

The temperature changes were mostly slight. Towards colder east of the Mississippi River, and warmer over the Plains states. This unusually high barometer brought the first general killing frost and freezing temperature for the season over Ohio and Western Pennsylvania.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.8 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.0, and Dam No. 6, 7.8. The dams are up.

LOOTER OF WRECKED MAIL PLANE GIVES UP GEMS

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 30.—(AP.)—Arrested Sunday afternoon by United States postal inspectors, charged with having concealed diamonds he found in the wreck of a mail plane near here recently, Benson S. Berlin, of Polk, last night was freed after he had turned over to authorities four large diamonds.

Previously Berlin had turned over 45 small gems, but postal authorities claimed to have knowledge that he had concealed others.

Berlin, authorities said, retrieved the diamonds from a can of oil hidden in his garage.

With the recovery of the four jewels from Berlin, postal authorities stated that they believed he had now turned over all diamonds he had found and, accordingly, granted him his freedom, subject to the call of the United States Court if further action is contemplated.

ZEPPELIN GOING WELL IN NEAR ZERO WEATHER

By ROLF BRANDT,

German correspondent for Lokalanzeiger, Berlin, aboard the Graf Zeppelin.

(Copyright, 1928, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction prohibited in whole or in part).

ABOARD GRAF ZEPPELIN, Monday, Oct. 29.—(11:36 a. m., Pittsburgh time).—Commodore Eckener has just expressed himself as well satisfied with the progress made by the Graf Zeppelin in these early hours of the homeward journey.

EXCLUSIVE

The wind which is now blowing at the rate of about 10 meters per second, does not help or hinder our progress. We are beginning to feel the Newfoundland fog. The night was very cold, the temperature now being about five above zero, Fahrenheit. We have already passed a number of steamers.

We are slightly to the north of the most northerly boundary of the steamer track and will turn into the steamer lane south of Newfoundland.

We are traveling at a speed of about 130 kilometers an hour. The sky now is gray and there is little visibility. It was much more pleasant when the sun came up out of the ocean this morning in spite of the cold.

Shortly after we passed the fireship Pollock, soon after daybreak, we found the young stowaway, Clarence Terhune, who hid himself under the baggage and crawled out into view after an uncomfortable night. He is now a member of the Zeppelin crew.

the excitement of the night flight over the metropolis.

At 7 o'clock we found the stowaway. At 8 o'clock our position was 41:55 latitude and 67:46 longitude. Our speed was 65 knots an hour and we had traveled 310 miles in six hours. Our course was due east.

SHIP O. K.

The Zeppelin first headed over the northern steamer route toward the southern tip of the great Newfoundland banks. After that our direction lay along the great circle course.

At 10:20 we sighted two steamers. One was a Cunard liner and the other a little freighter. The fog through which we had been riding since early morning became heavier and we met with occasional heavy showers that prevented our seeing the ocean. Our speed continued to be good because of the light, following winds.

At 1:10 o'clock when luncheon was served, we realized we were heading directly into a low pressure area. The temperature was rising steadily. With almost geometric precision we avoided the separate sheets of rain.

The low pressure area which does not travel as fast as the Zeppelin, was rapidly overtaken. Then a southwest wind hit us and drove us forward strongly.

The ship and the motors were functioning splendidly. On board the Zeppelin the storm, which raised hugh waves on the surface of the ocean below us, produced only a gentle, swaying motion.

HOMESTEAD MILL TRIES FOR NO-ACCIDENT MONTH

The Homestead Steel Works has inaugurated a "no lost time" drive for November, the purpose being to diminish accidents in the plant. An effort will be made to make the month a no-accident one and to occasion real cause for thanksgiving.

PASSENGER RACES FOR TAKE-OFF

Joseph D. Jessel, member of a Broadway firm, crashed his car into this copse in racing to reach the Graf Zeppelin to take his place as a passenger aboard before its take-off. He was slightly injured, but he caught the giant air liner, which today carries him to Europe.

which it was first thought he would follow.

It is believed Eckener changed his course in order to avoid a gale of hurricane proportions coming out of the southwest. At times he flew at an altitude of more than a mile to avoid fog banks.

MOTORS' ROAR HEARD

According to residents of Burin, N. F., the Zeppelin passed over that town at 5:30 p. m., Pittsburgh time, yesterday. Residents of Beaubois, Rock Harbor, Jeande Bay and Spanishroom also reported they heard the roar of the giant craft's motors, but were unable to see it because of the dim light.

The radio operator at Hillview, in Trinity Bay, vaguely reported seeing what appeared to be an airship "circling from side to side" at about that time.

If these reports are accurate the Zeppelin covered the first 1,600 miles of its journey in less than 17 hours, or at an average speed of about 80 miles an hour.

The dirigible had previously been sighted by the U. S. Laconia at 10:15 a. m. about 175 miles due south of Halifax, N. S. A direct report from the dirigible at 2 p. m. placed the ship about 100 miles south of Cape Race, N. S.

WALSH RAP AT MORAN SIZZLES

avenue bootlegger, who is being held by the District Attorney's office as the "go-between" in the sale of two confessions for $2,000, confessions which revealed an extortion ring of one justice of the peace and four constables of Neville Island.

Said Walsh: "The statements of Constables Bengle and White were stolen from the city detectives quarters and taken to the home of White. And there, in the presence of White and Moran, they were burned, after $2,000 had been turned over by the five accused in a shakedown and involved through the statement: Justice of the Peace C. J. Ranshaw and Constables J. J. V. Groom and Paul Sweeney."

TOLD OF BRIBE

Justice Ranshaw and the four constables were found guilty of extortion in Criminal Court last week despite the absent statements. Then they voluntarily told of buying back the documents.

Today's developments indicated that this case would go down as the Walsh-Moran debate. Whatever charges Walsh made, Moran denied; whatever accusations Moran supplied, Walsh denied.

No matter what disposition is made of the charges against White and Moran, the grand jury is going to hear all about it. Gardner has promised that he'll call everybody concerned.

Walsh went into some detail on the dismissal of Moran from the force 12 weeks ago. The firing was announced then "for the good of the service." Today the superintendent said Moran had been negligent in his duties, that he didn't apply himself to his work, that oftentimes he didn't even report for assignments.

FIGHT TO FINISH, G. O. P. WORKERS WARNED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Although confident the American people will elect Herbert Hoover president next Tuesday, the Republican headquarters here today issued an appeal to th party's army of electioneers to "carry on to the end."

Warnings that "overconfidence" alone could defeat the Republican nominee were sent into every seaboard state, to leaders in the agricultural belt and to party chieftains in the Mountain states. The Hoover board of strategy took the stand that Hoover will win if the party's organization maintains the speed it has shown to date until after all votes are counted.

Dr. Hubert Work, Republican national chairman, voiced the Hoover strategy in a radio address last night.

"I would warn all good Republicans and our friendly supporters from all parties that straw votes cannot reach or record the full sentiment or purpose of all voters," said Work. "The results of all straw votes indicate a gratifying predominant faith in our national candidates, but there must be no abatement of our efforts to get the vote cast—we must carry on to the end, up to the very hour that the polls close."

In his address, Work also praised President Coolidge's administration, declared Republican prosperity was the principal issue in the campaign, and assailed the Democrats for conducting a campaign of villification.

JURY FAVORS INDICTMENTS

Park designated as "big politicians."

COLLUSION SEEN

Outstanding in the presentment were these facts:

1. "We find that in different districts of the county slot machines are placed in poolrooms, confectionery stores, clubs and other places by persons who seem to operate without any interference by the police. We are forced to conclude from the evidence that if the machine placed in any particular store or other place is owned by the right man there is no interference with it, but if the machine comes from some other source the place is promptly raided and the machine confiscated. This clearly shows collusion between owners of these machines and police.

LIQUOR SALES

2. "There seems to be a similar condition existing in the illicit sale of intoxicating liquor. There seems to be different districts of the city of Pittsburgh and other parts of Allegheny county where persons engaged in the sale of liquor all appear to buy their liquor from the same persons, and so long as they buy from those persons are allowed to operate without interference, but if they do not buy from those persons and handle other liquor they are promptly raided and are not allowed to do business.

NOT YET THROUGH

3. "We have found by the testimony of numerous witnesses called that the administration of justice in the subordinate courts of this county in many instances is such that, while there is no evidence to warrant an indictment of such subordinate officers, yet they are such that the condition should be remedied, but we have found in some cases that the administration of these officers is such that will warrant an indictment.

3. "However, we have not yet completed our investigation, and feel that, in view of the evidence we have received, we have hardly begun to get the facts pertaining to a widespread violation of the laws in the City of Pittsburgh and County of Allegheny."

The presentment reviewed the jury's inquisition of many witnesses on the police auto-towing graft, and left the court with the inference that the towing practice was very, very hard on the motoring public and should be remedied in one way or another.

The jurors, according to Gardner, had learned that Collins' interest in keeping down the slot machine traffic lay in the fact that cases against slot machine keepers could be dropped by an arrangement with an easy-going magistrate—and the costs in the case collected.

Perturbed and apologetic, District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner handed copies of the presentment to reporters with the declaration that it was "only the beginning, boys. We're going much farther. We've only scratched the surface."

"It doesn't represent all we have," he said. "It's based only on evidence which would stand in court. We've a lot on people who weren't named — people higher up, the 'big guys.'

"But that evidence is only inferential. It's a lousy trick to indict anybody just for the sake of indicting him, and I'm not going to do it. Yes, we've a lot more—but I can say to you that it doesn't point at any big man, not at all really big top man."

NO MATCH TO GIVE AWAY, HE'S SHOT DOWN BY THUG

Unable to produce a match when called upon for one by two Negroes early yesterday, Jack Gray, 29, a laborer employed at Dead Man's Island dam near Sewickley, was shot down by one of two Negroes who had stopped him and a companion near South Heights.

Grey is in a serious condition in Sewickley Valley Hospital.

Grey and John Miller, 30, a companion, were returning to the construction camp when James Summer and George Gurnes, Negroes, are said to have stopped them, demanding a match. When no match was produced, Summer is said to have shot Grey. Coraopolis police arrested the Negroes.

MELLON URGES VOTERS TO GUARD BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP.)—Secretary Mellon last night asked the electorate to apply business principles to its choice of a president and, if it approves of the administration of President Coolidge and the Republican party, to continue that party in power.

"In my own business experience," he said in an address which was broacast by radio, "whein a management gave me satisfactory balance sheets at the end of the year, showing a reduction in overhead, a decrease in indebtedness and at the same time an increase in dividends, I would be unwilling to see a change in management."

In addition, Mr. Mellon described the Republican party as "the party" of progress, and listed the maintenance of the protective tariff, the restriction of immigration, careful attention to credit problems, and the encouragement of individual enterprise as among the party's traditional and modern principals.

WANTS BUSINESS MAN

Declaring the American government to be "the greatest business enterprise in the world," and infinitely complex in its effect upon its individual citizens and in its relations to what he termed "those great economic forces by which the average man's welfare is greatly affected," the Secretary said that at the head of such a "business" he wanted to see "a man of ability, who is thoroughly familiar with all of its phases," one who "understands these great economic forces with which he must deal" and who has a feeling and sympathy for the conditions under which the average man and woman must live.

"Herbert Hoover measures up to these qualifications," he said. "The government will be safe in his hands. As a Republican and an American I shall support him and vote for him because I believe his election will do the most for the progress and prosperity of the country and for the larger welfare of the world."

Mr. Mellon asserted that the Republican party "has kept abreast of the times and has been prepared to meet new conditions as they arose," but that "each forward step" has been tested "by the light of sound economic principles and of established American traditions."

BUILDS PROSPERITY

"It has jealously guarded and promoted individual initiative, which is perhaps the most powerful contributing factor in the forward march," he continued. "It has ever recognized that motion is not synonymous with progress, but that stability is essential to confidence and that confidence is the very spirit of business enterprise."

Such principles, Mr. Mellon said, have been borne in mind by the present administration, and he went on to cite debt and tax reduction, "sound tariff and immigration legislation," encouragement and promotion of foreign trade, "a consistent foreign policy" and assistance to foreign countries in the stabilization of currencies as the achievements of the Coolidge regime.

"By all these measures," he said, "the administration has helped to build up and maintain prosperity."

JURORS CALLED TO TRY LIQUOR PLOT CASES

From the following 125 petit jurors, summoned to report for jury service in the Federal District Court on November 13, 12 will be drawn to hear the first of the liquor conspiracy cases.

The more than 50 defendants in the North Side conspiracy will go on trial on November 13, the opening day of the term, before Judge R. M. Gibson. Judges F. P. Schoonmaker and Nelson McVicar will preside at trials other than the conspiracy cases.

More than 20 attorneys have put in their appearances for the defendants, who include Representative Samuel J. Grenet, Police Inspector Charles Faulkner and several North Side ward chairmen.

Of the 125 petit jurors called for the first two weeks of the term 21 reside in Allegheny county, the rest in the other 25 counties in the western part of the state.

WAR DEPT. PLANS PLANE BASE AT MIFFLIN AIRPORT

Congress will be asked at the next session to appropriate $75,000 for government buildings on the proposed city-county owned airport, Lebanon Church road, Mifflin township, according to a letter forwarded to Council by Capt. T. S. Voss, commandant of Rodgers Field air corps.

Voss explained he was assigned by the U. S. Army air corps to move that unit's activities from Rodgers Field to the one to be selected by the city and county authorities.

He declared the War Department wants to lease sections of the new airport for government hangars, administration building, machine shop and other necessary structures. The Department also wants to contract for the landing and taking off of government air craft.

Voss declared the government wants to use the new field to train air corps reserves and army fliers through the supervision of regular army air corps officers who would co-operate with the city-county civilian manager of the airport so as not to interfere with commercial flying.

He said it was necessary that he be advised as early as possible about the city-county plans as the War Department wants to ask Congress for the required appropiation.

SMITH ASSAILS KLAN AND DRY LEAGUE

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Leaving behind him a ringing defiance to the Anti-Saloon League and the Ku Klux Klan to do their worst to him next Tuesday, Gov. Al Smith returned to New York today to wind up his campaign for the presidency.

Save for the short trip across the Hudson tomorrow night to Newark, Gov. Smith has now delivered his last speech of the campaign outside New York. He closes the fight this week on home territory.

His spirit fired the tidings that he might lose the eight electoral votes of Maryland because of religious opposition to him in rural Maryland, Gov. Smith, with characteristic audacity, chose Baltimore last night for one of the most sensational speeches of the entire campaign. He ripped into intolerance with both hands, denounced the Anti-Saloon League and the Ku Klux Klan by name, and while a breathless audience of 20,000 people hung on every word, he said:

"I would rather go down to ignominious defeat than to be raised to the greatest position in the gift of the people by any influence that may be exerted by any organization with such perverted ideas of Americanism."

"WETS NOT SINNERS"

He was speaking particularly of the Ku Klux Klan, just a few moments before he had paid his respects to the Anti-Saloon League, which he denounced as a "propaganda organization," as an organization which intimidated and threatened public officials, and which had set up an office across from the capitol "to keep an eye on these fellows" in Congress.

"Does Mr. Hoover deny that the Anti-Saloon League is a propaganda association?" demanded Gov. Smith.

"If he does, I would like to know what he thinks it is. Will Mr. Hoover deny that the Anti-Saloon League has dominated legislators or intimidated officials? He knows differently. So do I."

With this as a starting point, the Democratic nominee went into the subject of the morality of prohibition. And while 20,000 people roared their approval of his sentiments, he declared that opposition to prohibition could not, by any stretch of dogma, be construed to be anti-religious.

"You can legislate from now until doomsday," he said; "every legislative body and every legislative chamber in the world can sit night and day, but you cannot make a new sin by law. If it was not cut out on the slabs of stone that were handed down to Moses on the mount, it is not a sin. The Volstead act was only passed in 1919 over the veto of President Wilson."

Gov. Smith boldly criticised the churches for their espousal of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act, and their making it an issue in this campaign.

"One of the worst things the Anti-Saloon League can be charged with," he said, "is the flood of propaganda they have spread throughout this country in an effort to make God-fearing men and God-fearing women believe that the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act are dogmas of religion. No church that I ever heard of, no church that you ever heard of, has attempted to make the Eighteenth Amendment or the Volstead Act an act of faith."

LAID TO STRESS OF WAR

"They are nothing more or less than legislation passed in the stress of war and lobbied through Congress by the browbeating methods of the Anti-Saloon League.

"For as long back as I can remember, every religion teaches us the value of sobriety; it teaches us the value of temperance and the dangers of intolerance. It must be quite a shock to the American people to have the moral power of the church used to impress men and women with the idea that in talking against the Eighteenth Amendment or the Volstead Act they are against every church, or that they have sinned against God himself."

The Governor went further than his Oklahoma City speech on intolerance when he directly laid at the door of the Republican party much of the intolerance which he said was characterizing the campaign.

In substantiation of his claim that the Klan is receiving support from the Republican management, Gov. Smith cited a public advertisement, published in New Jersey newspapers, which gave notice of a Klan meeting "in conjunction with the Republican National Committee." He also read a statement from an anonymous Republican leader of New Jersey to the effect that several times the national organization had gone over the head of the local organization and caused trouble over the religious issue.

"If I understand the English language," the Governor said, "that man meant to say that on two occasions without his consent, the Republican National Committee injected religion into the campaign in New Jersey."

In further support of his charges, Gov. Smith declared that the Republican state chairman in Virginia was one of the owners of the "Fellowship Forum," a Klan paper, and that he was a "member of the presidential candidate's (Hoover's) party on its way to Tennessee."

Not all of Gov. Smith's speech was devoted to prohibition and intolerance. He dealt with foreign affairs, the tariff, governmental reorganization, water power, and he paid high tribute to Senator George W. Norris, the Nebraska Progressive, whose announcement in support of Smith has done much to bolster Democratic chances in the Northwest.

"Senator Norris never will have cause to regret it," said Gov. Smith.

On foreign relations Gov. Smith said his policy would be the golden rule, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." He applied this doctrine particularly to Latin America.

"We cannot," he said, "pursue one policy in Europe and another in Latin America."

On the platform as Gov. Smith delivered his speech were Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. David K. E. Bruce, daughter of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, who has been one of the Governor's most frequent targets in this campaign. Mrs. Bruce's father-in-law, Senator William Bruce, was one of the speakers who preceded Gov. Smith.

Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Smith posed for pictures before the Governor spoke, and the audience cheered madly.

SIXTH VICTIM DIES IN CROSSING CRASH

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 30.—(AP.)—The death toll of the grade crossing crash at Seward early yesterday was increased to six later in the day with the death of Joseph Tschak, 34, driver of the automobile. ASKS TROLLEY RE-ROUTING TO AID DOWNTOWN TRAFFIC

Relief from serious traffic congestion at Ross street and Fourth avenue and at Ross street and Diamond street was proposed in a letter submitted to Council yesterday by Gen. A. J. Logan, chairman of the Better Traffic Committee.

He proposed re-routing street cars entering the city from Second avenue by having them turn off Ross street at Third avenue instead of making the turn from Ross street to Diamond street for the terminal at Ferry street.

Logan stated the plan has the approval of the safety department.

HOOVER TAKES FAYETTE CO. IN STRAW POLL

Fayette county has a number of Democratic voters within its boundaries and as a result Gov. Alfred E. Smith will receive a fair vote, but not sufficient to win the county for him, according to complete returns in the straw vote canvass of Pennsylvania by The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Herbert Hoover will not improve in strength over the Republican vote obtained by President Coolidge in 1924, it is indicated. In that year Coolidge won 56 per cent of the total vote cast in the county, while Hoover barely captures 50 per cent of the vote in the poll.

Smith has a considerable advantage in the county, on the basis of 140 new voters favoring him to 83 new voters supporting Hoover, 42 Coolidge voters favoring him compared with 131 Davis voters supporting Hoover, and 105 LaFollette voters in the Smith column compared with 21 LaFollette voters favoring Hoover.

The women voters of Fayette county favor Hoover on the basis of 104 votes for him compared with 98 votes to Smith—a close race.

In Uniontown Hoover wins the poll by a vote of 265 to 205.

The standing today in the Pennsylvania poll, conducted in connection with the canvass of the United States by the Hearst papers, is as follows: Hoover 73,037, including 59,341 men and 13,696 women; Smith 38,151, including 29,598 men and 8,553 women.

This vote in 1924 was cast as follows: Coolidge 77,009, including 62,300 men and 14,709 women; Davis 11,789, including 9,931 men and 1,858 women; LaFollette 6,483; not voting 15,907.

HUSBAND JEALOUS, WIFE SAYS IN DIVORCE SUIT

Florence E. Grove, 201 Fourth street, Braddock, knew Levi W. Grove one month when they were married; now she wants a divorce. Mrs. Grove told Judge Thomas D. Carnahan, who heard her story, that she had met the man about a year previously while on a visit to Braddock, but that it was only a month that she really knew him. Grove, she says, was jealous of her. On one occasion he broke the furniture and the dishes. Then they parted and she had him arrested for desertion and non-support. She took him out of jail, but things did not go right.

NORRIS FLOP TO SMITH UPSETS POLITICAL "DOPE"

By CHARLES N. WHEELER
(Noted Political Analyst)

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Senator George W. Norris' final flop into the Tammany wigwam has got the prognosticators running around in circles again. They are wondering whether it means a big swing of the agrarian vote to Gov. Smith.

The four states they are now worrying over are Nebraska, North and South Dakota and Minnesota. They have a total of 30 electoral votes, an important entry in the final column if Smith should carry his home state and Southern New England.

Any attempt to dismiss the Norris flop as a mere insignificant flash in the pan would be stupid, of course. He has a large and loyal following in Nebraska. The people of Nebraska believe he is an honest man. The only question the experts have to figure out now is whether thousands of these earnest admirers who would vote for Norris for anything he wanted can be delivered to some one else—Governor Smith, for example.

It is a question now, the eye-witnesses send word, whether Norris, standing alone against McNary, Haugen, McMasters, Norbeck, Frazier Nye, Sinclair and Brookhart, will greatly aid Gov. Smith even in Nebraska.

DOOMED KILLER SAID TO HAVE WIFE HERE

Russel S. Beitzel, alias Russel Burlhome, who is to die November 30, in San Quentin prison, Cal., for the murder of a Philadelphia girl, is the missing husband of Mrs. Mary Thomas, 228, of 2211 Sylvan avenue, McKeesport.

Mrs. Thomas, who has a son, Leo, 7, last night identified photographs of the California prisoner, as her missing husband.

A week ago the McKeesport woman recognized or thought she recognized a newspaper photograph of Beitzel. She communicated with Sheriff William I. Traeger, of Los Angeles, and yesterday received Bertillon pictures of the prisoner. After seeing the better photographs she is positive the man is her husband, who left her five years ago.

ANOTHER WIFE

Mrs. Thomas is the second woman to claim the prisoner as her mate. A short time after he was arrested Mrs. Jean Mellinger Beitzel, of Lancaster, Pa., said she had married him three years ago. She also said that he was a graduate of Temple University in Philadelphia, and that his home was in York, Pa.

Beitzel was convicted of murdering Barbara Mauger, of Philadelphia, in Stone Canyon, North Hollywood, August 2. The woman had been shot in the head. Police say she came West with Beitzel, posing as his wife.

The McKeesport woman said she is positive that the prisoner's real name is Thomas.

SYRIA SHRINERS HOLD CEREMONY AT UNIONTOWN

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 30.—Shriners of the Syria Temple, Pittsburgh, are making a pilgrimage to this city today. Several thousand arrived this morning and it is estimated that between 4,000 and 5,000 will be present for a special class initiation and parade which will feature the Shrine ceremonies here this afternoon. A large delegation of Pittsburghers, headed by Reginald A. Daniell, illustrious potentate of Syria Temple, arrived by special train.

The program calls for a buffet lunch followed by a business meeting at 2 o'clock. A parade at 3 o'clock will unfold the full pageantry of Shrinedom. Col. W. R. Dunlap is the chief marshal and will be in charge of the uniformed units. Charles W. Baer will be in charge of the nobility.

UNUSUAL CEREMONIES

Today's event marks only the third time in the history of the Syria Temple, the second largest organization of Shriners in the world, that a ceremonial will be held for conferring the degree of "Noble of the Mystic Shrine" in any other city than that in which the temple is located.

Shrine delegations are here from Irwin, Greensburg, Scottdale, Connellsville, Brownsville and Waynesburg.

Theater entertainment and public band concerts are on the program.

Uniontown is acting as an enthusiastic host to the Shriners. Flags are flying and welcome signs are everywhere. A group of 150 local Shriners is serving as a reception committee.

The Pittsburgh delegation will return to its home city on a special train leaving here at 11 o'clock tonight.

PLAN AIR ROUTE FROM CAPITAL TO PGH.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Postoffice Department officials today are considering the establishment of a Washington-Baltimore-Pittsburgh air mail route, it was announced.

No action will be taken by the department heads until after figures on the air mail for the present month are available.

The route under consideration would put Washington in direct communication with the West and give Pittsburgh better air mail facilities to the South. Baltimore is an important link in the lines running north and south.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 30.—(AP.)—The first step has been taken here for the establishment of a radio and telegraph system that will keep air mail pilots appraised of weather conditions while flying over every mile of the course between here and New York.

The system consists of the hook up of 12 aviation bureaus along the route with the terminal fields at Cleveland and Hadley Field, N. J. Weather reports will be relayed on telegraph printers and landing fields will in turn keep in constant touch with fliers by radio.

First messages were sent out from here yesterday by the National Air Transport, Inc., to its Hadley Field office.

The telegraph chain will be completed by November 1. It will take in Parkman, in Ohio; Bellefonte, Mercer, Brookville, Woodward, Sunbury, Numidia, Park Place, Northumberland, all in Pennsylvania, and Hadley Field.

TRANSKUTAN

brings new hope to Rheumatic sufferers

A scientific Rheumatic treatment that is taken in your own bath tub

You must judge the value of Transkutan by the experience of those who have used it. The claims made for Transkutan are based upon what thousands of men and women have found to be true through its use—and what many of Europe's most noted physicians have proved by experiment, and by observation of its effects.

Now Transkutan brings to your own bath tub all the beneficial qualities of world-famous curative springs. And brings it in concentrated form, so that one gentle Transkutan bath in your own tub is equivalent in concentration to ten to fifteen treatments in world-famous natural mineral waters from which Transkutan is directly derived.

Since 1925 Transkutan has amazed the continental medical and scientific world with almost immediate relief from pain and increased ease of movement it affords in all forms of chronic Rheumatic diseases, including Lumbago, Neuritis, Sciatica, Gout and even Arthrtis.

After the very first bath in most cases, pain is definitely relieved and there is an increased ease and freedom of movement that is astonishing. Each succeeding bath usually brings marked improvement, and normally the full benefits of Transkutan are realized in from four to eight baths.

A famous European Specialist is authority for the statement that in his experience Transkutan proves effective in 97% of all cases, where it has been used strictly according to the simple directions that come with each bottle. Such famed institutions as the Sonn-Matt, Lucerne Switzerland; Rudolph Virchow Hospital, Berlin; and the Star and Garter Home (Veterans' Hospital), London, now use Transkutan almost exclusively in the treatment of chronic Rheumatic diseases. At the Sonn-Matt alone more than 1000 Transkutan treatments are given each month.

Transkutan promises relief from pain, surely! But more than that, the experience of thousands goes to prove that each succeeding bath brings added improvement, until, in the vast majority of cases, all Rheumatic symptoms entirely disappear.

Thousands have called that first five dollars a miraculous health investment, for it pointed the way that thousands have followed to freedom from the tortures of Rheumatism. Tonight take your first test Transkutan bath, and by tomorrow morning you will know whether you are among the 97% whom European specialists say do benefit magically thru Transkutan!

The following world famous hospitals and institutions are now using Transkutan:

The Rudolph-Virchow Hospital, Berlin.

The Sonn-Matt Sanitarium, Lucerne, Switzerland.

The Star and Garter Home, London, England.

The Charite Hospital, University of Berlin, Berlin.

The State and Municipal Hospital, Magdeburg, Germany.

☛Do this: Go to your druggist right now. Merely deposit with him $5 for your test bottle of Transkutan. If you happen to be one of the rare few who do not experience noticeable relief from pain from the first Transkutan Bath return the empty bottle to the druggist and he will immediately return your $5 deposit. Thus you can determine, without risking one cent, whether or not Transkutan can help you.

Transkutan is distributed in Pittsburgh by
W. J. GILMORE DRUG CO.

Transkutan may be obtained from the following good druggists:

EXTENSION OF CITY DEBT LIMIT URGED BY COUNCIL

A resolution urging newspapers to give favorable publicity to a proposed amendment to the State Constitution increasing the city debt limit from 7 to 10 per cent of the assessed valuation was passed by Council yesterday on motion of Robert Garland.

The resolution sets forth that the proposed amendment will be submitted to voters at the November election after passing two sessions of the Legislature.

Passage of the amendment is vital to the continued progress of the city, as without the extended borrowing power under the authority of the people, major transportation and dock facilities cannot be financed, it is said.

The resolution points out that an accompanying constitutional amendment to appear on the ballot would increase Philadelphia's borrowing margin from 19 to 14 per cent and other counties in the state from 7 to 10 per cent.

The measure stated that Pittsburgh was destined to be the fourth city in the United States, much larger in population than almost all the counties in the state.

In urging passage of the resolution, Garland pointed out that if an imperative improvement were to be financed after the present margin was exhausted and the project approximated $5,000,000, an extra levy of seven mills would have to be made. Such an addition to the tax burden would actually be confiscation of property, Garland said.

Daniel Winters supported the resolution and pointed out that if Council favored the amendment it would simply be an expression of trying to meet the demands for modern improvements with modern financing.

Sour Stomach Sign of Carelessness

POLITE society frowns on those whose stomachs "grumble." For careful people heed this warning that the contents of the stomach is sour and fermenting. Those who don't, may some day develop gastritis—or even ulcers.

Nine times out of ten indigestion and allied stomach disorders are due to excess stomach acid, which impedes normal digestion and forms sour gases that cause intense pain. To restore good digestion you must eliminate this cause. A tablet of "Pape's Diapepsin" after eating or when pain is felt will instantly neutralize the acidity and banish all digestive trouble and pain.

So, do buy a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" today. This not only means instant relief, but by soothing, healing and strengthening your weak and disordered stomach a little "Pape's Diapepsin" keeps your digestive system healthy and helps to prevent various disorders.

HOTEL HENRY

"ALL MY LIFE I have taken keen pleasure in planning the details of the entertaining that is done in my home. I always interest myself especially in the coffee, for I need not point out how important good coffee is to an enjoyable meal. I prefer a mellow blended flavor like that of Maxwell House."

E M L Harriman

MRS. JOSEPH HARRIMAN is one of America's important hostesses—a power in the exclusive society of Newport.

MRS. JOSEPH HARRIMAN gives a brilliant dinner at Newport

FOR A FORMAL DINNER Mrs. Harriman's table sparkles with choice Waterford glass. Jade green goblets and green candle shades accent the brilliance of the crystal, and a warmer color glows in the bowl of perfect fruit at either end of the table.

ONE OF THE SILVER SERVICES from which after-dinner coffee is offered to Mrs. Harriman's guests by her butler. The women sip their coffee in the drawing room which is decorated in Chinese Chippendale;—the men in the library.

MRS. JOSEPH HARRIMAN belongs by right to that small group of leaders in Newport whose word on things social is law.

Warmth of spirit pervades even the most stately functions in her beautiful Newport home, with its gardens running down to the sea; but, like all distinguished hostesses, Mrs. Harriman cherishes certain small formalities of procedure.

After-dinner coffee is one of her ceremonies. Small cups of the fragrant, golden brown beverage are served to the men in the library, while the women guests are served in the drawing room. Mrs. Harriman's butler offers the cups and fills them, and a second man follows him with cream and sugar.

On occasions like this, nothing less than perfection will do in the coffee itself.

Each sip must taste rich and mellow. So in great houses all over the United States the chosen coffee is Maxwell House.

Maxwell House is the coffee that celebrated hostesses prefer both for their most dazzling social affairs and for their intimate breakfast trays. They like its blended flavor.

Hundreds of different coffee flavors were tried and discarded before that particular blend was perfected!

But the tireless experimenting was justified; for the inimitable blended flavor of Maxwell House Coffee wins instant appreciation from men and women everywhere whose taste in food is discriminating.

From the days when it was first offered to guests of the famous old hotel at Nashville—the renowned old Maxwell House—Maxwell House Coffee has been accepted as the ultimate in coffee flavor. When you taste it yourself you will see why. Your grocer has Maxwell House Coffee.

"WHEN SUPPER WAS BROUGHT TO THE BELLES OF THE BALL IN OLD TENNESSEE"—one of a series of charming paintings which picture the delightful social life that centered in the old Maxwell House in Nashville. Maxwell House Coffee was named for this fine old hotel, where the mellow blended flavor first won the appreciation of people who know good coffee.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, billousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write your name and address in the special coupon you see at the end of this announcement, and send for a bottle to try. This complimentary bottle is forwarded, prepaid without charge of any kind:

TERHUNE ROVES FAR IN PAST TWO YEARS

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP.)—The Graf Zeppelin's stowaway, a 19-year-old St. Louis boy who looks younger than his age, has been "crashing gates" the last two years from New York to Nome.

His name is Clarence Terhune, but fellow caddies at the Rye (N. Y.) Country Club called him "St. Louis." His parents are dead, his father, Charles Terhune, a St. Louis barber, having killed his wife and himself last July.

He was born in St. Louis and attended school there until two years ago, his brother-in-law, George M. Hall revealed. His first wanderings carried him on a hitch-hiking trip from St. Louis to the Pacific coast, from which he returned to crash the gate at the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Soldier Field, Chicago.

Then followed more wandering about the country, caddying when the need for money arose. He was a stowaway on a government cruiser bound for Nome, Alaska, when his mother was killed. After his trip to Alaska he returned to St. Louis, where he remained 10 days and again vanished.

He appeared at the Rye Country Club three months ago and obtained a job as caddy and a room at the home of Mrs. John C. Donnelly in Rye.

Paul Pellasco, the professional at the country club, said Terhune was a quiet chap, who usually appeared at the links in the morning with a bag of cakes, which were his breakfast and lunch. He told Pellasco a few days ago that he had saved $50 and was going away, because he didn't like cold weather.

He took a bath Saturday morning at the rooming house, brushed his hair and walked out, telling Mrs. Donnelly he would be back after a while. He had confided to Mrs. Donnelly's son, however, that he was going on a "long journey." He had also told the boy that he would have liked to have been on the Zeppelin on her first crossing.

His only possession, a knapsack containing a few pieces of clothing and trophies he had picked up on his wanderings he left at Mrs. Donnelly's. They'll be waiting if he ever goes back to claim them.

"I'm going to keep these things until the boy comes back and tells me all about his trip," she said.

Three entrances on three streets—

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

THE DANGER SIGNAL

By ERIC HEATH

IT wasn't all Bunny's fault. In following the gospel of modern youth—that of "being a good sport," on all occasions—she was often influenced to do things that were against her better judgment.

She had a constant fear of being classed as a "barb," which, in current college slang, was short for "barbarian," and was applied with the utmost scorn to those who did not play in with the majority and do whatever was considered at the moment to be the "sporting" thing.

She was, without a doubt, the most popular girl in her set. She was very pretty, witty, always jolly and in a good humor, and she possessed a modest income of her own which she had inherited from her father. She was always the first to be invited to any dance or party, and sometimes she had as many as four different "bids" for one evening.

Though Bunny would not have had her chums know this for the world, she looked at life seriously. Frequently the thought of her father, whom she had idolized, would come unexpectedly into her mind, and memories of her childhood that had been spent on a farm. For years, her father had driven a decrepit second-hand automobile, and she remembered how he used to say that it went fast enough to suit him, and that he had no patience with people who were so selfish and so callous to the rights of others that they could not be content unless they were burning up the road at 45 or 50 miles an hour.

Bunny's crowd were speeders. They were proud of the fact. Lester Conway, the most expert driver among them, held the record for being the most reckless.

Lester had originated the idea of getting a "whale of a kick" out of racing across railroad tracks while the danger signal was "wig-wagging away for dear life." What automobile couldn't beat a train to it?

Bunny pretended that she thought this stunt was simply "immense". In reality, her heart contracted painfully every time Lester's roadster took the leap across, in front of the oncoming train. She would cover up her fright by laughing gaily and by making Lester think that no one as clever and wonderful as he had ever been born on this poor little old earth before.

For two entire terms at college, Lester Conway had been in love with Bunny. His attentions were flattering. Any other girl would have been only too glad to marry him and the near million, earned by his father, that would some day be his.

But Bunny couldn't quite imagine herself being married to Lester. She was puzzled over the fact that it wasn't because he was "wild," or because he had had innumerable affairs with other girls; but it was because Lester was so different, in every way, from her father. Somehow, when she thought of the two men together, she was ashamed of Lester.

Lester was used to having his own way, and he was determined to win Bunny. Her reluctance only added fuel to the fire of his love.

It was impossible for Lester to understand why Bunny should even notice John Barrows, a gawky, green farm boy from South Dakota, who was working his way through college. Bunny had even been seen to walk across the campus with John Barrows, and Barrows was the most "out and out" barb in the whole student body. It was no use talking to Bunny. Even Lester, dense on most subjects, dimly sensed that Bunny never said what she was really thinking. No, talk wouldn't help. Something must be DONE.

Just exactly the right inspiration flashed into Lester's mind in the midst of the gayest and wildest party of the season. The bootleg had been flowing more freely than usual. Even Bunny, who had discovered that if you talked and laughed a lot you didn't have to drink so much, had begun to act with an unrestrained hilarity. Lester, looking at her, saw her as a lovely and desirable blur. He scrambled unsteadily upon the nearest table. Someone clung to one of his legs to support him.

'Who's—who's comin' to the—the—weddin'?" he cried, in a thick voice.

"Wedding?" The cry of surprise went up.

"Bunny and me. S'prise!" announced Lester.

Bunny felt herself being swung around and heard shouts of "I dare you to do it!"

She was not sure just what was happening. When, a few moments later, seated by Lester's side in the roadster, with the others crowded into the rumble seat behind them, the whipping of the fresh air against her face cleared her brain. She sensed that they were going at about 55 miles an hour toward the home of the minister. The trifling matter of a license had not occurred to any of them.

Bunny's thoughts were in a turmoil. They had dared her to marry Lester. Could she, with her reputation for being a good sport, back out? Having given her tacit consent up to this point, could she object now?

She knew the road they were on. About a mile away there was a railroad crossing, perhaps the most unguarded and dangerous one in that section of the country. As they dashed on she thought she could hear the thundering of a train in the distance and the clanging warning of the swinging danger signal.

At the same instant, the picture of her father driving carefully along in the old car gripped her mind.

She gave a wild, frantic cry. "Stop, Lester! Stop!" and as she turned to him, there was a peculiar light in her eyes that frightened him. He jammed on the brakes, and the car swerved with a crazy movement, sliding to a standstill a few yards this side of the tracks. A moment later an express train thundered past.

"What's the matter with you?" demanded Lester angrily. "We could have made it, easily. Losing your nerve?"

Bunny did not answer. She opened the door and got out.

"So long!" she said to the astonished group. There was a dead finality in her tone.

"Well, if you feel that way—" Lester growled. He was about to say more, but Bunny turned and walked off rapidly away from the tracks, into the darkness of the road. Soon she heard the motor start and the roadster continued on.

She did not have her purse with her, and consequently, she had to walk every step of the way back to the dormitory, but she had plenty of time during that long and thoughtful walk to make two sound resolutions. One was:

"I'm going to marry John Barrows," and the other was:

"We're going to have a second-hand car.

RICHARD KOEHLER

Penn. Mother Knew the Way

Every mother knows what it means when her child begins to get underweight, pale, listless, bilious, feverish and fretful, with bad breath, coated tongue and no appetite. What every one of them doesn't know is that it's dangerous to use harsh methods to start the little stomach and bowels.

There's no use experimenting in such cases. Millions of mothers have proved the merit and reliability of pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable California Fig Syrup. It gently clears up the most stubborn cases of constipation; stimulates the appetite; gives tone and strength to weak stomach and bowels so they continue to act normally, of their own accord; and makes pale, lifeless children, bright, rosy-cheeked and full of energy.

A Pennsylvania mother, Mrs. F. Koehler, 250 Ithan St., Philadelphia, says: "My little son, Richard, developed constipation. He became bilious, pale and fretful; had no appetite and couldn't digest right. Being the mother of five children and having used California Fig Syrup with them for nine years, I knew how good it is, so I gave it to Richard. It regulated him quick. He began eating heartily and digesting everything. Soon he was his robust, happy self again."

Ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name so you'll get the genuine, endorsed by physicians for over 50 years.

Famous Recipe For Stopping a Severe Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, soothes away the inflammation, and loosens the germ-laden phlegm. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

AN IDEA CAN WIN YOU $100 PRIZE IN AD CONTEST

ONLY AMATEURS ELIGIBLE; 1 DAY LEFT IN 5TH PERIOD

Advertisements for the fifth period of the $15,000 Zain Ad-Test must be in the office of The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph not later than midnight Wednesday night, October 31. Those received after that hour will be automatically entered for the sixth period.

Counting today, you have two days in which to get your ads in, in competition for the $100 cash prize and the hundreds of other prizes that are to be awarded for the best ones submitted during the fifth period. Two days is ample; for your ad need consist of only a few words. A bright idea is all that you require to win a prize. You may acquire it by visiting the stores of the 39 local business concerns about whom the ads must be written. Ask questions.

A list of the 39, together with the rules for the Ad-Test, will be found elsewhere on this page. Read them carefully. Professional ad writers and newspaper employes are barred from the test. Only persons inexperienced in ad writing are eligible. But your ads must have merit to win prizes, and the best way to write convincingly is to make yourself thoroughly familiar with the subject of your ads.

To be eligible for the grand prize of $1,000 you must write at least one ad about each of the 39 co-operating firms some time during the campaign. You would do well, therefore, to become acquainted with their stores, products and service without delay.

As an example of what you may do, it is suggested that you call at the store of the Kelvinator-Leonard Corporation, 208 North Highland avenue, or at any Kelvinator dealer's, and learn some of the ways in which a Kelvinator is superior to an ordinary refrigerator. One respect in which it is superior is that the cold in a Kelvinator is a dry cold, which is unfavorable for odors and bacteria.

INSPIRATION IN FURS

You should be able to write with enthusiasm, these cold days, about the furs of Max Azen, 705 Penn avenue. Your enthusiasm will be still greater if you will call at Azen's and look at their handsome goods. The warmth, softness and luster of good furs lend themselves readily to effective writing. Azen's offer some special prizes that are worthy of your attention.

Laird's for shoes. And bear in mind in advertising Laird's shoes that they sell footwear for children as well as for men and women. Laird's have been in business for many years and have built up an enviable reputation for honest values and courteous service. You will get good material for an ad by visiting their store at 622 Liberty avenue.

TIPS FOR WASHDAY

The Gainaday electric washer has a number of interesting selling points that you can work into an advertisement effectively. It is a Pittsburgh product which differs decidedly from other electric washers. Visit the Gainaday display in the Jenkins Arcade or at 6104 Penn avenue, East End, and ask for a demonstration and a descriptive leaflet.

Write each ad on a separate sheet of paper, which should be at least as large as a postal card, and preferably commercial letter size. Put your name and address on the back of each sheet, and also on the flap of the envelops in which you mail the ads. SEND THEM TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURG SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

Rules for Sun-Telegraph-Zain $15,000 Ad Test

1—$15,000 in cash and prizes distributed over seven weeks. Grand prize, $1,000. Grand weekly prize, $100. Five prizes each week for six weeks for best ads written for each concern participating—195 each week. 1,170 prizes in all.

2—$1,000 for best ad submitted during entire campaign. Winners to be selected by committee of Pittsburgh advertising men and women.

3—Ads for fifth period must be received by midnight, October 31, at the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Ads arriving after that time will be automatically entered for the next period, and so on.

4—Ads submitted for the grand prize must be received before midnight on November 15, 1928. In order to compete for grand prize contestants must have submitted at least one ad on each concern listed.

5—One person may submit any number of ads. The test may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about any one or all, or any product or all, of the concerns listed. A person may win more than one prize.

6—Write only one ad on one piece of paper at least postcard size. Place name of advertiser at top, write words, phrase, poem, slogan, essay or letter. Sign YOUR name and address plainly on BACK of each sheet. Also on the flap of each envelope. SEND TO THE ZANE AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

7—Ads are to become property of advertiser to use in any manner he sees fit. No ads returned. No subscriptions necessary. No blanks to sign. No entrance fee required. No coupons to clip. All professional ad writers and newspaper employes barred.

SPROUL HEARING TODAY ON PERMIT FOR RADIO

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Hearings have been set for today by the Federal Radio Commission on the application of the Rev. John D. Sproul for license to establish a broadcasting station in Pittsburgh.

The evangelist formerly operated a broadcasting station at McKeesport, but his permit was revoked when he sought to transfer it to East Pittsburgh without authority of the Federal commission.

Later he was denied a permit to make the transfer.

At the commission today it was stated that consideration of the Sproul application probably would not be reached before the afternoon session.

Members of the commission have indicated that unless Rev. Sproul is able to show the necessity for an additional broadcasting plant at Pittsburgh they will not be disposed to issue the permit, feeling that present facilities in the city are ample to meet the demands of the receiving public.

$7,600 SWINBURNE ST. PAVING ASKED OF CITY

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali, which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade-Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H Phillips since 1875.

TOOK ADVICE OF HER MOTHER

Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wetmore, Colo.—"When I was married 14 years ago I was in bad health for a couple of years and when I tried to do anything I would get tired and worn-out. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound off and on all these years and have recommended it to hundreds of women. I have given birth to six children and have taken the Vegetable Compound as a tonic before child birth. It has done me worlds of good. My mother had taken it several times and she recommended it to me."—MRS. JOHN BRASSEA, Wetmore, Colorado.

Looking at Theater Offerings Through Reviewer's Critical Lens

JANE COWL'S SPLENDID WORK IN "THE JEALOUS MOON" OUTSHINES DRAMA

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

WHIMSICAL and tender spirit of James Matthew Barrie, wing your way across the ocean and breathe life into the puppets on the stage of the Alvin Theater, moving and mooning about last night in a play you should have written. The creator of "Peter Pan" might give "The Jealous Moon" what it lacks—for it certainly lacks something vital. The authors, Theodore Charles and Jane Cowl herself, have had an ingenious idea, hardly new, of using a dream as a play within a play. They have had another idea, of comparing life to a puppet show in which the figures move as some unknown power pulls the strings—which idea is also a little older than Omar Khayyam. Out of these ideas they have fashioned a drama that is played with fine sincerity by a group of fine players, Miss Cowl herself and Philip Merivale at their head. But it fails to move of itself—it has to be pushed and prodded as if it were really a puppet play, and as if the strings had got sadly tangled.

For one thing, these puppets in the dream philosophize too much. They are continually asking questions like "What is a genius?" or "What's the secret formula of love?" They are continually uttering banalities such as "Men are all alike" or "People have to do what they have to do." At other times they stop to address poetic soliloquies to a very convenient stage moon. Once a minor puppet even turns dramatic critic and says: "There is too much conversation here." He is right.

Echoes of many plays, from "Romeo and Juliet" to "Pagliacci," have crept into the plot of the dream. That might be excused, for the dreaming mummer is likely to find the figures of his dream among his waking memories. But this dreaming mummer slips into quite incongruous realism at times—as in the question "Were you ever married?"—and into feeble jests such as "You will find money in the dictionary."

Even in the waking scenes there is an awkwardness of technique that sticks out in many places. When hero and heroine, Pierrot and Columbine, are to have a scene together, Harlequin goes off stage to "wait for her" or Pierrot announces that "he wants to be alone." We hear the joints of the puppets creaking.

And yet there is a glamour about the whole production that fills one with a desire to call J. M. Barrie to the rescue. It might have been another "Prunella," that exquisite fantasy by Laurence Housman and Granville Barker. It has an atmosphere of romance like one of the tales of Hoffmann! It has an array of admirable players working valiantly to put poetry and romance into it. Jane Cowl and Philip Merivale are not the only ones, though their vibrant personalities and harp-like voices dominate the drama. Guy Standing, Harry Davenport, Marian Evanson, Richard Nicholls and William Randall play with understanding and romantic spirit. The settings by Joe Mielziner catch the very atmosphere of a dreamy Venice.

Everything is there, but somehow it doesn't fit. Now you are reading a page from "Pilgrim's Progress" and next you are reading a page from Theodore Dreiser.

The huge hand of the sleeper hanging down over the scene of the puppet stage is to remind us that it is the marionettes who are performing in the hero's dream. That is the explanation and apology of many things, but plays do not thrive on explanations and apologies. "The Jealous Moon' shines with a mild reflected radiance when it should be touched with brilliant imagination and fancy. Barrie might have made this 'another "Peter Pan."

"ABIE" AGAIN EFFECTIVE IN PITT

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH.

"Abie's Irish Rose," play of comedy and romance that has written a new chapter in theater history, is back in the Pitt once more. It opened its fifth engagement in that theater last night. As usual it kept the audience laughing.

Surely everyone by this time knows the story of the romance between Abie Levy, Jewish boy, and Rosemary Murphy, Irish girl. They met in France, you recall—he a soldier and she an entertainer behind the lines. Their friendship developed into love and when you first meet them on the stage they have been married just one hour. And it was a Methodist minister who tied the knot.

The rise of the first curtain discloses Solomon Levy's apartment in New York. Issac Cohen still is buried behind the funny paper trying to keep up with the Jones and Mrs. Cohen continues to talk about her operation. Then Solomon, Abie's father, makes his appearance as a bell rings somewhere and the story gets started on its merry though somewhat turbulent way.

Subsequent action takes the young bride and groom through a couple more marriage ceremonies and numerous comical situations, involving a priest and a rabbi and two irate fathers. And it is not until the final act, when Christmas Eve and twins have come, that the two fathers become reconciled. You leave them celebrating grandchildren and Christmas together.

Among the familiar characters of this Anne Nichols' play you will recognize some familiar faces. Patricia Quinn again is seen as Rosemary and Phil White is still at the job of being father to Abie. Both do capable work. In fact the entire cast is satisfactory. Among the players are George Hurd, as Abie; Charles W. Ritchie, as Rosemary's father; Harry Mack Stewart, Ida Kramer, Charles Guthrie and Ray L. Royce.

SOME FACES SEEN -:- IN NEW BILLS -:- STAGE AND SCREEN

Philip Merivale, of "Jealous Moon," starring Jane Cowl, in the Alvin.

Frank Craven, author and star of "The 19th Hole," playing Nixon second time.

Patricia Quinn is in "Abie's Irish Rose," showing in Pitt as farewell visit.

Billie Dove plays the central role in "The Night Watch," photoplay in Stanley.

Richard Dix portrays the title character in "Moran of the Marines," current attraction on Penn screen.

GOLF COMEDY AMUSES IN NIXON

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS.

"The 19th Hole," comedy of golf, by Frank Craven, with the author in the leading role, gave a Nixon audience much wholesome amusement, frequently punctuated by laughter, when it was presented last evening, opening a second engagemen in that theater, where it was originally played last April. "The 19th Hole," on its earlier visit, proved to be delightful fun and its repetition last night found spectators as responsive to the intensely human touches it contains as they were when it was first acted here.

Mr. Craven, in his play, not only makes the game of golf and the excesses of its adherents a medium of amusement through the presentation of a humorously exaggerated picture, which details activities on the golf course and in the clubhouse, but he presents it as a means turning a couple of persons who seem rather detached from the rest of the world into a couple of human beings. Mr. Craven, as a writer and lecturer, is one of these and Dorothy Blackburn, as his matter of fact wife, is the other.

It is an interesting study of the insidiousness of the game to follow Craven, as a novice from the moment of his first infection with the golf virus, through hitting a ball with a club merely to see if it would be interesting, to the final stages of the disease, when the winning of a $5 cup seems to him the greatest thing in the world. There have been few characterizations more droll than Mr. Craven's portrayal of the transformation of a staid, not to say timid, man of letters into a confirmed, incurable golf bug.

Miss Blackburn's typing of the wife, who not only frowned on the game, but held it in contempt, also held a depth of finesse, as she, too, progressed to the point where she is determined her husband should win his match and finally to becoming interested, too, when she takes a club into her hands.

The other members of the cast also played their roles with skill, especially Homer Barton, as a golfer who sometimes neglected his game to sell real estate; Rea Martin, as a flapper who could beat most of the men at the ancient game; Robert Wayne, as the dominant member of the club, and Allmeda Fowler, as wife of the latter, who had learned that all men are only big boys.

STAGE BILL BEST IN PENN

Richard Dix is dividing honors with Ruth Elder in "Moran of the Movies," current on the Penn screen. Either the division is unfair or Miss Elder is not a good grabber, for her share is only titular since she fails to establish any claim through acting ability. Anyway the picture is far from being the best Dix has appeared in and the fault is not all because Miss Elder is in it either. So the stage has to make up for some lack of strength on the screen and does it quite pleasingly, with Teddy Joyce back from a brief vacation to direct the presentation of "Beaux Arts Frolic," a colorful combination of comedy, music and dancing and a couple of effectively posed living pictures to establish the arts effect, suggested also in the smocks and caps of the musicians. Handers and Mills win laughs with their comedy, which has merit, and Bryant, Rains and Young please in an exhibition of dancing in which two girls run and leap at a man instead of one. Nino Sucile sings and the Gamby-Hale dancing girls frolic and look pretty in the ensembles. Organlogue, overture and other screen numbers complete the program.

COMEDY ACT OF WAR IN HARRIS

Janet of France, topping the three-day bill current in the Harris, presents an entertaining musical playlet, "La Comedie Militaire." Three male players are in her support.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Debutante Coming Out Parties Becoming More Frequent

ONE by one our debutantes step forth to take their brief moments in the spotlight. These coming-out parties are, naturally, growing more frequent as we go more deeply into the season, and this week have no less than three. November, with its increased rush of social affairs, is almost on us now and two mothers have taken these last days of the old month for parties to introduce their daughters.

Today's debutante is Harriet Wainwright. Her mother, Mrs. Harris Ewalt Wainwright, who, you remember, brought out her second daughter, Florence, at a tea last fall, gave a luncheon at the family home in Beechwood boulevard this afternoon for this youngest girl of hers. Just a little out of the ordinary, isn't it, to have two debuts follow each other so closely in the same family?

There were about fifty guests at the luncheon today, I understand, including the season's buds and their mothers. There were a few of Harriet's friends who are not making their debuts this year at the party, too, I believe. All the girls were seated in the dining room, while their mothers were placed in the living room, the tables being decorated with mounds of fall flowers.

Harriet and her mother received together, of course, and with them were Florence and still another sister, the former Clarissa Wainwright, now Mrs. Albert H. Burchfield, Jr. Harriet wore a frock of golden brown chiffon velvet and she carried one of her gift bouquets. Mrs. Wainwright received in a gown of royal blue lace, while Florence wore beige georgette trimmed with velvet. Mrs. Burchfield's frock was of tan lace.

MORE about the debutantes! I hear that there will be about 200 guests at the costume party which the William Christopher Robinsons will give tomorrow night in the Allegheny Country Club. Their guest of honor, as you, perhaps, know, will be Margaret Holdship. Cornstalks, pumpkins and other time-honored Halloween decorations will be used.

All of this year's buds, and last year's, too, will be entertained at dinner before the dance by the Frank Scott Willocks, of Academy avenue, Sewickley. You remember, of course, that Virginia Willock, daughter of the hosts, came out last June. Another dinner that will precede the dance will be given by Mrs. Clinton L. Childs. She will have 35 guests, I'm told.

The Harry Darlingtons are going to give a dinner tomorrow night, too. They aren't going to have any particular guests of honor, but will entertain about 20 people.

And still another dinner in Sewickley tomorrow night will be that of the Christian I. Shannons. They will give an informal affair in honor of the William G. Wardens, of Philadelphia, who are visiting Mrs. Henry R. Rea, of "Fair Acres," Sewickley Heights.

THE marriage of Miss Martha Hoyt Kistler, daughter of Mrs. H. Allen Kistler, of Teece avenue, Bellevue, and Edward Payson Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. P. Kerr, of Bellevue, was solemnized Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Church of the Epiphany, Bellevue, by the Rev. Dr. John Dows Hills.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, H. Allen Kistler, Jr., was attended by Miss Kathleen Gallagher, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Agnes Pyle, Miss Doreen Masters, and Miss Dorothy Kerr, sister of the bridegroom, while Sarah Jane McIntosh was flower girl and Thomas Wilson, Jr., ring bearer. Dwight Saylor, of Bellevue, was best man and the ushers included William Johnston, William Risher Hoyt and Earl McKissock.

A reception in the Woman's City Club followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Kerr have left for an eastern trip and after November 15 will be at home in Klemont street, Bellevue.

AT at breakfast given Sunday by Miss Louise Jackson MacInnes, of Murrayhill avenue, announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Lucille Juliet Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Anderson, of Jamestown, N. Y., to Howard Taylor Smallwood, of this city.

AMONG the recent travelers are the Clarence Greenes. They came back to their Schenley Apartments home yesterday morning, I hear, after spending the last fortnight at Greenwich, Conn.

MME. EDIB ADDRESSES 20TH CENTURY CLUB

"WHAT is building New Turkey is the desire of those who know something to give it to those who know nothing." This, Mme. Halide Edib, Turkey's most distinguished woman, told the Twentieth Century Club this morning. Introduced by Mrs. Elizabeth Burt Mellor as "one of the most famous women of modern times,'" Mme. Edib spoke on "The Face and Mind of New Turkey."

The large audience listened with the utmost attention to this slip of a woman whose own 44 years offer a history of almost incredible events. Seeing the slight, black-garbed figure, the smooth bobbed hair, and listening to the easy flow of words whose accent is only a trifle more Turkish than English, it was difficult to believe that before them stood a daughter of the "harem," a force in the intellectual life of New Turkey, a sergeant in its army and the mother of two grown sons.

Simply but clearly Mme. Edib drew contrasting word pictures of Turkey under the old regime and the Turkey of today, verbal portraits of her girlhood, of hearing in the men's quarters (which she visited as a child), guarded talk of a new government and of freedom and equality for the women of her country, as a step towards the building of that government. Even in those days, Mme. Edib said, the face of old Turkey was fading because the mind behind the face was old and tired and confused.

THE College Club calendar for November announces as its first event for the month a talk by Mrs. Harvey B. Gaul on "European Summer Courses for American Students." This will be given Friday afternoon and will be followed by the usual tea, hostesses for which are Mrs. Newell G. Alford, Mrs. Earl Blough, Mrs. Stephen L. Goodale, Mrs. L. C. Bixler, Mrs. Charles Carpenter, Mrs. E. E. Lanpher, Mrs. W. H. McCune and Mrs. Arnold M. Replogle. A Schubert centenary program will be given by Miss Mae B. MacKenzie and Mrs. Maybell Davis Rockwell on Friday of next week.

"What Price Beauty?" is the subject upon which Miss H. Marie Dermitt, of the Civic Club, will speak on November 16. On the 23d Prof. Alexander Silverman, of the University of Pittsburgh, will be the speaker and his subject, "The Lure of Glass," while at the closing meeting of the month Mrs. Ralph E. Davis will read a play.

MRS. F. F. ROHRER and Mrs. J. Smith Christy are arranging the musical program which will be given Thursday night, marking the annual donation day reception at the Florence Crittenton Home. Miss Sara Jamison Logan, contralto; Miss Janet Turner, violin, and Harve B. Lauderbach, baritone, accompanied by Mrs. Marian Deuel McDade, will give the program. In the afternoon Mrs. Reba Barrett Smith, of Alexandria, Va., national superintendent of the Crittenton Homes, will speak, and Mrs. Albert R. Norton will sing.

Good-bye Hard Work

It's a new type ammoniated cleanser that your grocer recommends

WHAT! Scrub that dirty stove? Not for me. I'll clean it the easy "no-work" way . . . with this ammoniated cleanser I've just discovered.

Look . . . this is the way to do it. You pour a little bit of Old Witch in a basin of hot water. Add soap. Then just wash the dirt away.

Off comes the grease in jiffy-quick [illegible] It's goodbye dirt when Old [illegible] gets on the job. No rubbing. [illegible] scrubbing, either.

[illegible]

Instantly removes every clinging particle of dirt and grime.

And best of all, Old Witch keeps hands dainty and soft . . . never coarse and rough-looking.

But don't make the mistake of only using it for cleaning stoves. Old Witch is wonderful for cleaning mirrors, windows, woodwork. A big help on washday. And simply mar[illegible] in your dishpan.

Please try just one bottle of Old Witch...and test it for all household cleaning. Convince yourself that it gives every feature herein offered.

Then decide if you'll ever again be satisfied with old-fashioned cleansing methods.

A giant sized bottle costs only 35c. Remember Old Witch is what you ask for . . . your grocer has it now.

CLEANUP ASKED AFTER DRUNK IS KILLED

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 30.—Cleanup of speakeasies and key clubs in West Springfield looms here as a sequel to the death of Joseph Mallick, 22, of Conneaut, O., who was killed instantly when a car he was driving plunged over an embankment in West Springfield.

Officers in charge of the Girard barracks of the State Highway Patrol demanded that District Attorney Otto Herbst order the cleanup on the plea that Mallick had left one of these clubs in a drunken condition just before the accident occurred.

Corporal White, who filed the complaint, declared it was the third death within the past 10 months resulting to visitors at Springfield clubs following accidents.

DIARY of a TIN SOLDIER

Tuesday, October 30th

There was an atmosphere of surpressed excitement in Boggs & Buhl's toy storeroom all day yesterday while box after box of toys were unpacked. It was all because last night was to be the final test for the beauty prize among the dolls. Just as everything was ready and all the dolls were looking their most beautiful best, that frisky clown doll (the one in the black and yellow suit) wound up a toy mouse and started it right toward the group of dolls. Amid shrieks of fright which made every tin hair on my head stand up straight, they all rushed back to their places on the shelf and needless to say there has been no prize awarded in this beauty contest, and it's just as well for each doll now thinks she would have won it, and there are no hurt feelings or doll-tears or disappointment.

QUALITY by KUPPENHEIMER

QUALITY

has a meaning here

A suit of clothes or an overcoat has quality when it says something good about you · when your very best qualities are brought out and featured by the fit, fabric and color.

When your good judgment is vindicated by long wear, continuous personal satisfaction, and by an actual saving · then you know another meaning of quality.

Quality and Kuppenheimer mean the same thing · and have for more than half a century.

The bond issue is to enclose Nine-mile Run through the borough.

Lately the borough school board has called Council's attention to deep holes washed in the bottom of the run creating a menace to the lives of children one of whom recently was drowned.

HOME BURNS, MOTHER AND 3 DESTITUTE

Mrs. Margaret Adams, 30, and her three children are destitute and homeless today after flames last night destroyed their home at the rear of 319 Cedarville street.

The father, John Adams, a war veteran, is in the United States Marine Hospital suffering a paralytic stroke. He was first stricken a year and a half ago while employed by a transfer company and has been unable to work since.

The mother, who does day housework in an effort to support her children, returned home tired out yesterday. She decided to lie down for awhile and she fell asleep. She remembers dreaming about lights flickering here and there and awoke with a start to find the frame structure ablaze. She hurried herself and children to safety but was unable to save any of their meager belongings.

The father, it was stated, served with Company B, Thirty-sixth Infantry Regiment.

Today, while the three children—Johanna, 10; Dorothy, 8, and John, Jr., 3—try to understand why their daddy always is in the hospital and why their home should burn, the mother finds temporary shelter for herself and her brood with friends at 424 Cederville street and wonders what she now can do to restore the meager fortunes of her family.

HOUSE-PAINTER IN INTERNATIONAL

JOHN KANE

John Kane, 1711 Liberty avenue, paints houses for a living and pictures for pastime—ably enough to land in the International Exhibition at Carnegie Institute.

EXHIBITS TWICE

Somewhere between 60 and 70 years of age, this soft-mannered house-painter started by daubing paint on box cars many years ago. Year after year, he wielded his brush against houses and signboards. Now he devotes all his spare time to his hobby and the International Art Jury evidently considers his work worthwhile, for this is the second exhibition which has recognized his efforts. The painter and his wife are shown in front of one of his recent canvases.

NORTH BOROUGHS TAKE UP PARLIAMENTARY LAW

"I move we adjourn." This represents the sum total of knowledge of rules of order on the part of about 90 per cent of the men and women, according to Mrs. A. Starr Martin, 115 Meade avenue, Bellevue.

Mrs. Starr has opened a parliamentary law class for residents of the North Boroughs which is held weekly in the Hayne Memorial Library, Balph Park, Bellevue, in an effort to dispel the "amazing ignorance" on the subject.

"Now that women are coming more and more into public life," said Mrs. Starr, "it is essential that they have at least a rudimentary knowledge of parliamentary procedure. They should know how to occupy a chair of the presiding officer when called upon, and be familiar with the proper procedure on the floor of a public assembly.

"The ignorance on this subject is astounding," declared Mrs. Martin, herself a student of 40 years of parliamentary practice, a veteran speaker and presiding officer.

A number of women who recently have been elected to office in clubs or organizations and those who take an active part in public assemblies have taken up the course of study, Mrs. Martin said.

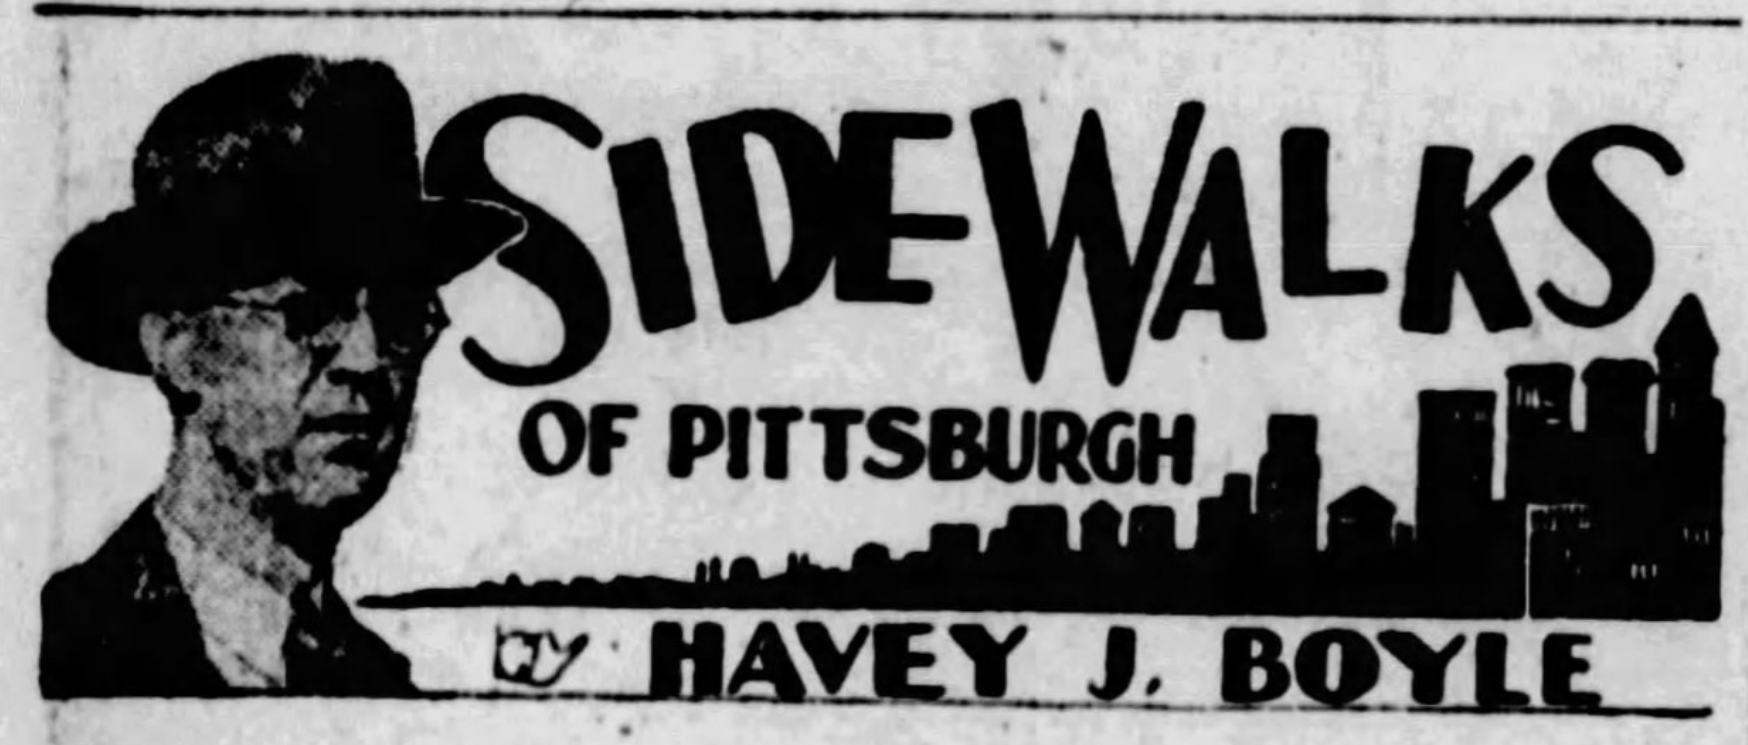
SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH



WHAT will strike many as a pretty good piece of humor was perpetrated by a group of friends of John Morrison, whose excellent article on "The Passing of the Wooden Indian," was discussed here some time ago. Mr. Morrison, who lives in Greenville, takes lunch with a group of friends here when he passes through Pittsburgh. All of these gentlemen read with considerable interest Mr. Morrison's article and then immediately sat down and wrote the editor of the magazine a letter. Each letter, after honestly citing admiration for the article in question, then told about how many wooden Indians the writers had seen lately.

William Wyman, one of the culprits, reported that he had seen two wooden Indians. One of them, he reported, was riveted and locked in an imperishable cement casement. It was patent that that particular Indian never would pass away.

Another wag reported having seen a wooden Indian in Greenville, Pa., the home of the author, while three or four other letters variously reported the writers had seen wooden Indians in practically every city and hamlet from Oregon to Maine. The letters, in fact, all indicated that wooden Indians are actually so plentiful that they are almost blocking traffic at every busy street corner. Each letter graciously wound up with the suggestion that perhaps Mr. Morrison would be interested in hearing about what must have seemed to the editor who printed "The Passing of the Wooden Indian," an actual epidemic of the lumber redmen.

Ben Anderson, secretary to Commissioner E. V. Babcock, tells of the illiterate mountaineer family's first experience with a looking glass. The father of the house purchased a cheap mirror from a medicine man. Knowing nothing about mirrors he gazed into it and exclaimed: "That's the image of my father when he was my age." Every evening the man would look into the mirror and marvel. His wife, somewhat suspicious of his concentrated attention on this new object, took a look at it herself one evening. "So, that's the ugly creature he's been raving about is it?" she said.

THE traffic cop stopped us and said: "I see a good many funny things in the course of a week, but," and he took his cap off to rub his bepuzzled red hair, "as true as I'm standing here I just saw a machine go by with a K. K. K. emblem on the radiator and an Al Smith emblem on the rear tire." We told him we'd be glad to send it along to the contest editor.

The beggar in Sixth avenue was enjoying a brief respite from his trade. We asked him the secret of his success in life, if any. He reported he depended a great deal on a psychological process. He said he always tried to make some little move as a pedestrian approached. So he always contrived to move his head or arm as a potential customer came into view. He further remarked that if he looked eye to eye with the customer the chances were nine in ten that he would get a contribution. One other way to get a little offering, he said, sagaciously, was to answer to the best of his ability whatever questions were hurled at him by persons afflicted with that ailment that killed the ninth life of the well-known feline, commonly called curiosity.

A MAN stopped us the other day and asked us where the City-County Building was located. We pointed it out. "No," he said, "that's the Philadelphia Company Building, isn't it?" he replied. He looked like a fellow who has been worrying too much over those cross word puzzles.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.

Smith broadcast from Baltimore through WJZ. Hoover broadcast from Washington through Senator Moses.

Of all the "dumb" issues that candidates bring up to try and influence people how to vote, I think "prosperity" takes the cake.

How a speaker can convince a man that he is prosperous when he is broke or that he is not prosperous when he is doing well, is beyond me.

If a voter can't feel in his pocket and see if he is doing well without having some total stranger tell him, then this government shouldn't be in the hands of the people.

We might as well have candidates argue with us that we have a pain in our stomach.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

CITY PREPARES FOR OUTDOOR ICE SKATING

Outdoor ice skating at city recreation centers will be available as soon as the weather man furnishes the proper temperature.

Council directed employes of the Department of Public Works to report on what equipment and the extent of the personnel that will be required to put the recreation centers in shape for ice skating.

Action was taken on a resolution presented yesterday by P. J. McArdle in which the department was requested to get the grounds in such condition that they can readily be put in operation when the weather permits.

The resolution directs that the grounds be kept in operation for the maximum amount of time during the winter.

KUHLER'SBRUSH COMING BACK

Otto Kuhler, whose paintings of industrial scenes about Pittsburgh have been reproduced in colors in the color gravure section of the Sunday Sun-Telegraph, intends to return here to draw Pittsburgh more fully than he has done before.

Mr. Kuhler, who left Pittsburgh some time ago, has established his home and studio in New York at Scarsdale.

Pittsburgh provides an inexhaustible source for subjects, Mr. Kuhler says—subjects of "such a dramatic grandeur that can be duplicated nowhere else in the world."

M'KEESPORTER KILLS SELF

A bullet wound in his left temple William F. Knodel, 31, of 1721 Federal street, McKeesport, was found dead in his home, a suicide, according to the coroner's report. Deputy coroners did not learn the reason for the man's act.

ENTIRE SYSTEM WAS RUN-DOWN

Gas Employe Was Very Weak and Nervous; Says Ten Herbs Gave Blessed Relief.

"I never thought I would ever give any medicine a public endorsement, but in my search for relief I never got satisfactory results until

MR. JOSEPH PAGE

I used Ten Herbs," was the recent statement of Mr. Joseph Page, 1031 Bustrick Alley, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this popular herbal compound.

"I was a victim of general debility resulting from overwork," continued Mr. Page, who is employed by the Pittsburgh Gas Co. "I had a nervous breakdown about ten months ago, and my strength was so far gone that I have not been able to work since then. I got little strength from what I ate. Food did not digest properly, but distressed me. I would fill with gas and have pains. I could not get rid of the waste matter that was poisoning my system. Physics did not give me satisfactory results. I had an extremely nervous feeling all over the body. Dizzy spells came on me. I lost weight and became very weak. My sleep was not sound, and I arose in the morning with pains across my back.

"I heard people on all sides talking about Ten Herbs and telling what real merit it had. When I learned that it was an herbal medicine I started taking it. Three bottles have made a wonderful change in me. My whole system is being invigorated. Food digests well—no more gas or distressing pains. My owels have become regular and ty spells have disappeared. I am tting stronger. My nerves have proved remarkably. I sleep sound- and arise without an ache or pain. am regaining lost weight and feel rtain that I shall be back at work a very short time. I gladly en- se Ten Herbs."

he Ten Herbs Man is at May's n Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, sburgh, where he is daily meet- the public and explaining the its of this medicine.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. After using it I purchased more and in two months I was completely healed, after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) George Geis, Federal, Pa

Joan Becomes Hysterical After Bill Pleads With Her to Marry Him

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Joan Hastings, seventeen and beautiful, lives with two old maiden aunts and one of them, Aunt Evvie, tells her of her unmarried mother's tragic love affair and death. Joan falls in love with Bill Martin, a penniless young man, and she is sent away to school. Bill, an innocent victim of a bootlegging gang, is sent to jail and Joan, begging for bail money from the aunts, confesses everything to them. She is put on a train for school in charge of a woman friend of Aunt Evvie's. Bill, freed, bids goodby to his mother, leaving no address and befriending Rollo Keyes, a rich young spender, is given a job by his father. Joan, escaping from the train, reaches his home just after he has gone. Concealing her presence from her aunts she gets a position in a department store and later works as a model in a smart shop. There Mrs. Barstow, a rich society woman, sees her, likes her and asks her to tea. She meets Curtis Barstow who immediately becomes interested in her. Joan goes to see Mrs. Martin and learns that Bill has written but has not asked for her. She thinks he no longer cares. Mrs. Kimmer, with whom she lives and for whose daughter she works, sees a love affair developing between her and Barstow and Francis tells her Mrs. Barstow has been asking about her past. Bill comes home and discovers that Joan is close at hand. He goes to the shop to wait for her, only to see Curtis drive away with her. Later Bill finds her and she asks him why he came to see her. Ruth Gillespie, one of the girls in the shop, asks Joan to help her break her engagement to Rollo Keyes. Joan meets Bill again and discovers Ruth is deeply in love with him. Again they separate, misunderstanding each other. Mrs. Barstow puts herself out to be nice to her for her son's sake.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"BUT I had to come!" he cried savagely. "I had to see you . . . tell you . . . Oh, Johnnie, to think that you came back, and I never knew. Writing letters, too, and me not getting one of them."

She clenched her hands behind her, to keep from crying—"Then you did care—you did—"

What was he saying? She held tight to the table . . . "I felt like a dog when I heard, Joan. I wanted you to know that I—that I wanted to do the right thing. I would have married you Joan, I will yet, if you'll have me. I should have been shot . . . I must have been crazy—crazy—"

So that was why he had come. Conscience. Remorse. Wanting to make amends now . . . even . . . even to marrying her, if she wanted him to . . .

Her flesh crawled. Why must she listen? Why didn't she tell him to go? "Please," she said quite steadily. "Please don't. I never think about it. It's so far behind us. It's—it's absurd you're coming here now!"

"And a year ago—less than a year ago, you promised—look at me Joan—you promised"—

The last of her self-control was slipping. He held her two hands in his now, in another moment he would force her to meet his eyes and see . . . "And don't you know what a year can bring?" she cried desperately. "I notice it brought plenty to you. Well, it has to me too. I haven't spent it weeping for you. There's someone else now"—

"Barstow"——

"Never mind who"——

"You don't care for him!" He had her in his arms now, was forcing her face back so that he could look up into her eyes. "Johnnie, you can't—you're lying to me. I don't know why but you are. You can't mean it. You're mine—mine, mine"——

"Let me go," she whispered thickly, "let me go"——

"I'll never let you go!" he cried desperately, because he thought he had lost her forever, Joan the only girl he had ever loved, the only girl he would ever love . . . "You belong to me, Joan. You can't undo that, you're mine—always. Nobody else"——

"Let me go—let me go!" She was sobbing now, beating her clenched hands ineffectually against his chest— "Please"—

He held her tight and tighter in his arms. "You're mine," he whispered incoherently. "You can't drop me for somebody else . . . you can't . . . Joan, let me talk to you, don't turn your head away . . . see Joan—"

Her eyes were closed, her lips tragically pressed together. Her breath came in rasping sobs. With the little strength that was left in her she kept her face averted, pushed him away with her clenched hands.

His mind whirled in dark circles, dark circles of deep water, whirlpools sucking him in to despair . . . "I've lost her now . . . I've gone at it the wrong way . . . frightened her . . . Joan, come back! Come back to me—"

He did not hear Maisie's key turn in the lock, but Joan did. "Let me go!" she whimpered, frozen with terror and shame.

Her eyes were fixed on the door, waiting, waiting for Maisie to come in, find them—

Maisie's china blue eyes were round with horror. She stood teetering in the doorway, on her high, high heels, her mouth open, the key dangling foolishly in her hand.

"Maisie!" Joan cried. "Maisie?" Somehow she freed herself from Bill's grasp, ran, wildly weeping and flung herself in Maisie's arms. "Maisie!" Tears blinded her. Sobs strangled her, shook her so that she could hardly stand. And against her streaming face she felt the warm comfort of Maisie's breast, the familiar acrid sweet smell of the fur coat—mothballs and jasmine.

When she opened her swollen eyes and looked into the kind pink face so close to hers the room was very quiet. Bill was gone. She knew that he would never come back.

"I told you to keep away from that Gillespie girl and her roughneck friends. The low down thing —the miserable—"

Joan began to laugh, hysterical, sobbing laughter that racked and tore at her throat. "It's so funny, your talking about Ruth now, because it's true—he's her friend. But he wasn't always. He—He's the one I knew, Maisie—the one I loved—" She laughed again, peal after peal of helpless, mirthless laughter—"It's so funny!—Your guessing it. . . . Ruth, you know—" And then she was crying again, gaspingly, brokenly, "I can't bear it—I can't—I can't—"

When Joan looked up at her again through her tears she saw that Maisie was crying, too.

"Poor child," Maisie murmured brokenly. . . . "Poor child—"

"Just a very small party," Mrs. Barstow said to Joan. "Just you and I and Curtis, and Eugenia Laird and her brother Tim, and my old friend, Mrs. Lawrence—Nora Lawrence. Nora and I will sit by the fire and knit and you children can gather red berries and hike and dance. Curtis wants you so much, and I'm sure you'll enjoy a Thanksgiving in the country—the cabin is in the real woods, you know—"

"Oh, I'd love to come!" Joan's face glowed with delight. She smiled into Mrs. Barstow's eyes gratefully.

"Then I shall look forward to having you. On Wednesday—directly after lunch—it's a long ride—"

A chill foreboding touched Joan even as she smiled. Was Mrs. Barstow really glad she was coming, or was she just asking her because Curtis insisted? This Eugenia Laird and the Mrs. Lawrence—what would they be like? What would they think of a girl who worked in a shop? What would Mrs. Barstow say if she knew about Bill . . . if she knew how he had come last night and crushed her in his arms, kissing her, bruising her mouth . . .

"Wait!" she cried. "Wait, Mrs. Barstow, I'm not sure I can come. We're really quite busy—I shouldn't ask to get off now. Thank you, just the same, but"—

"I'm afraid I don't understand." Mrs. Barstow said coldly. "Do you mean you have other plans, something you would rather do perhaps?"

"Oh, no, no. But we're busy—"

"What's the argument about?" Francine drawled, swishing into the shop from the workroom with a small black hat in her hand. "A little import I just got in. You might try it on, Mrs. Barstow. Black is so good this season."

"I was just asking Joan for Thanksgiving at the cabin," Mrs. Barstow said, "but she thinks you're too busy to let her go."

"Nonsense," Francine cried, holding up her hands and being very French as she always did with customers. "Nonsense! Of course, the child can go. Anything you want, Mrs. Bristow. You have only to ask. Then that's settled. . . . Just try the little hat. The pins are real tortoise—"

Now Joan had to go. There was no escape. The small foreboding that had touched her like a chill breeze deepened as the afternoon wore away. When Curtis called she could not face him. She sent Maudie Murphy to say that she had already gone home.

Cowering behind the gray velvet curtains of a fitting room she heard Maudie say, "Yes, she's gone home . . . oh, a few minutes ago. No, I don't know why she didn't wait . . . an errand maybe . . . oh you're welcome—goodby—"

In the dusk of the little room Joan wiped her damp forehead with a whisp of handkerchief, listened for the sound of the motor starting outside.

She had lied to Curtis. . . .

Curtis who was so generous and good. The first lie . . . she covered her face with her hands. The first lie . . . the beginning of hundreds . . . for he must never know . . . never know about Bill.

AN OBLIGING BEAUTY DOCTOR

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair.

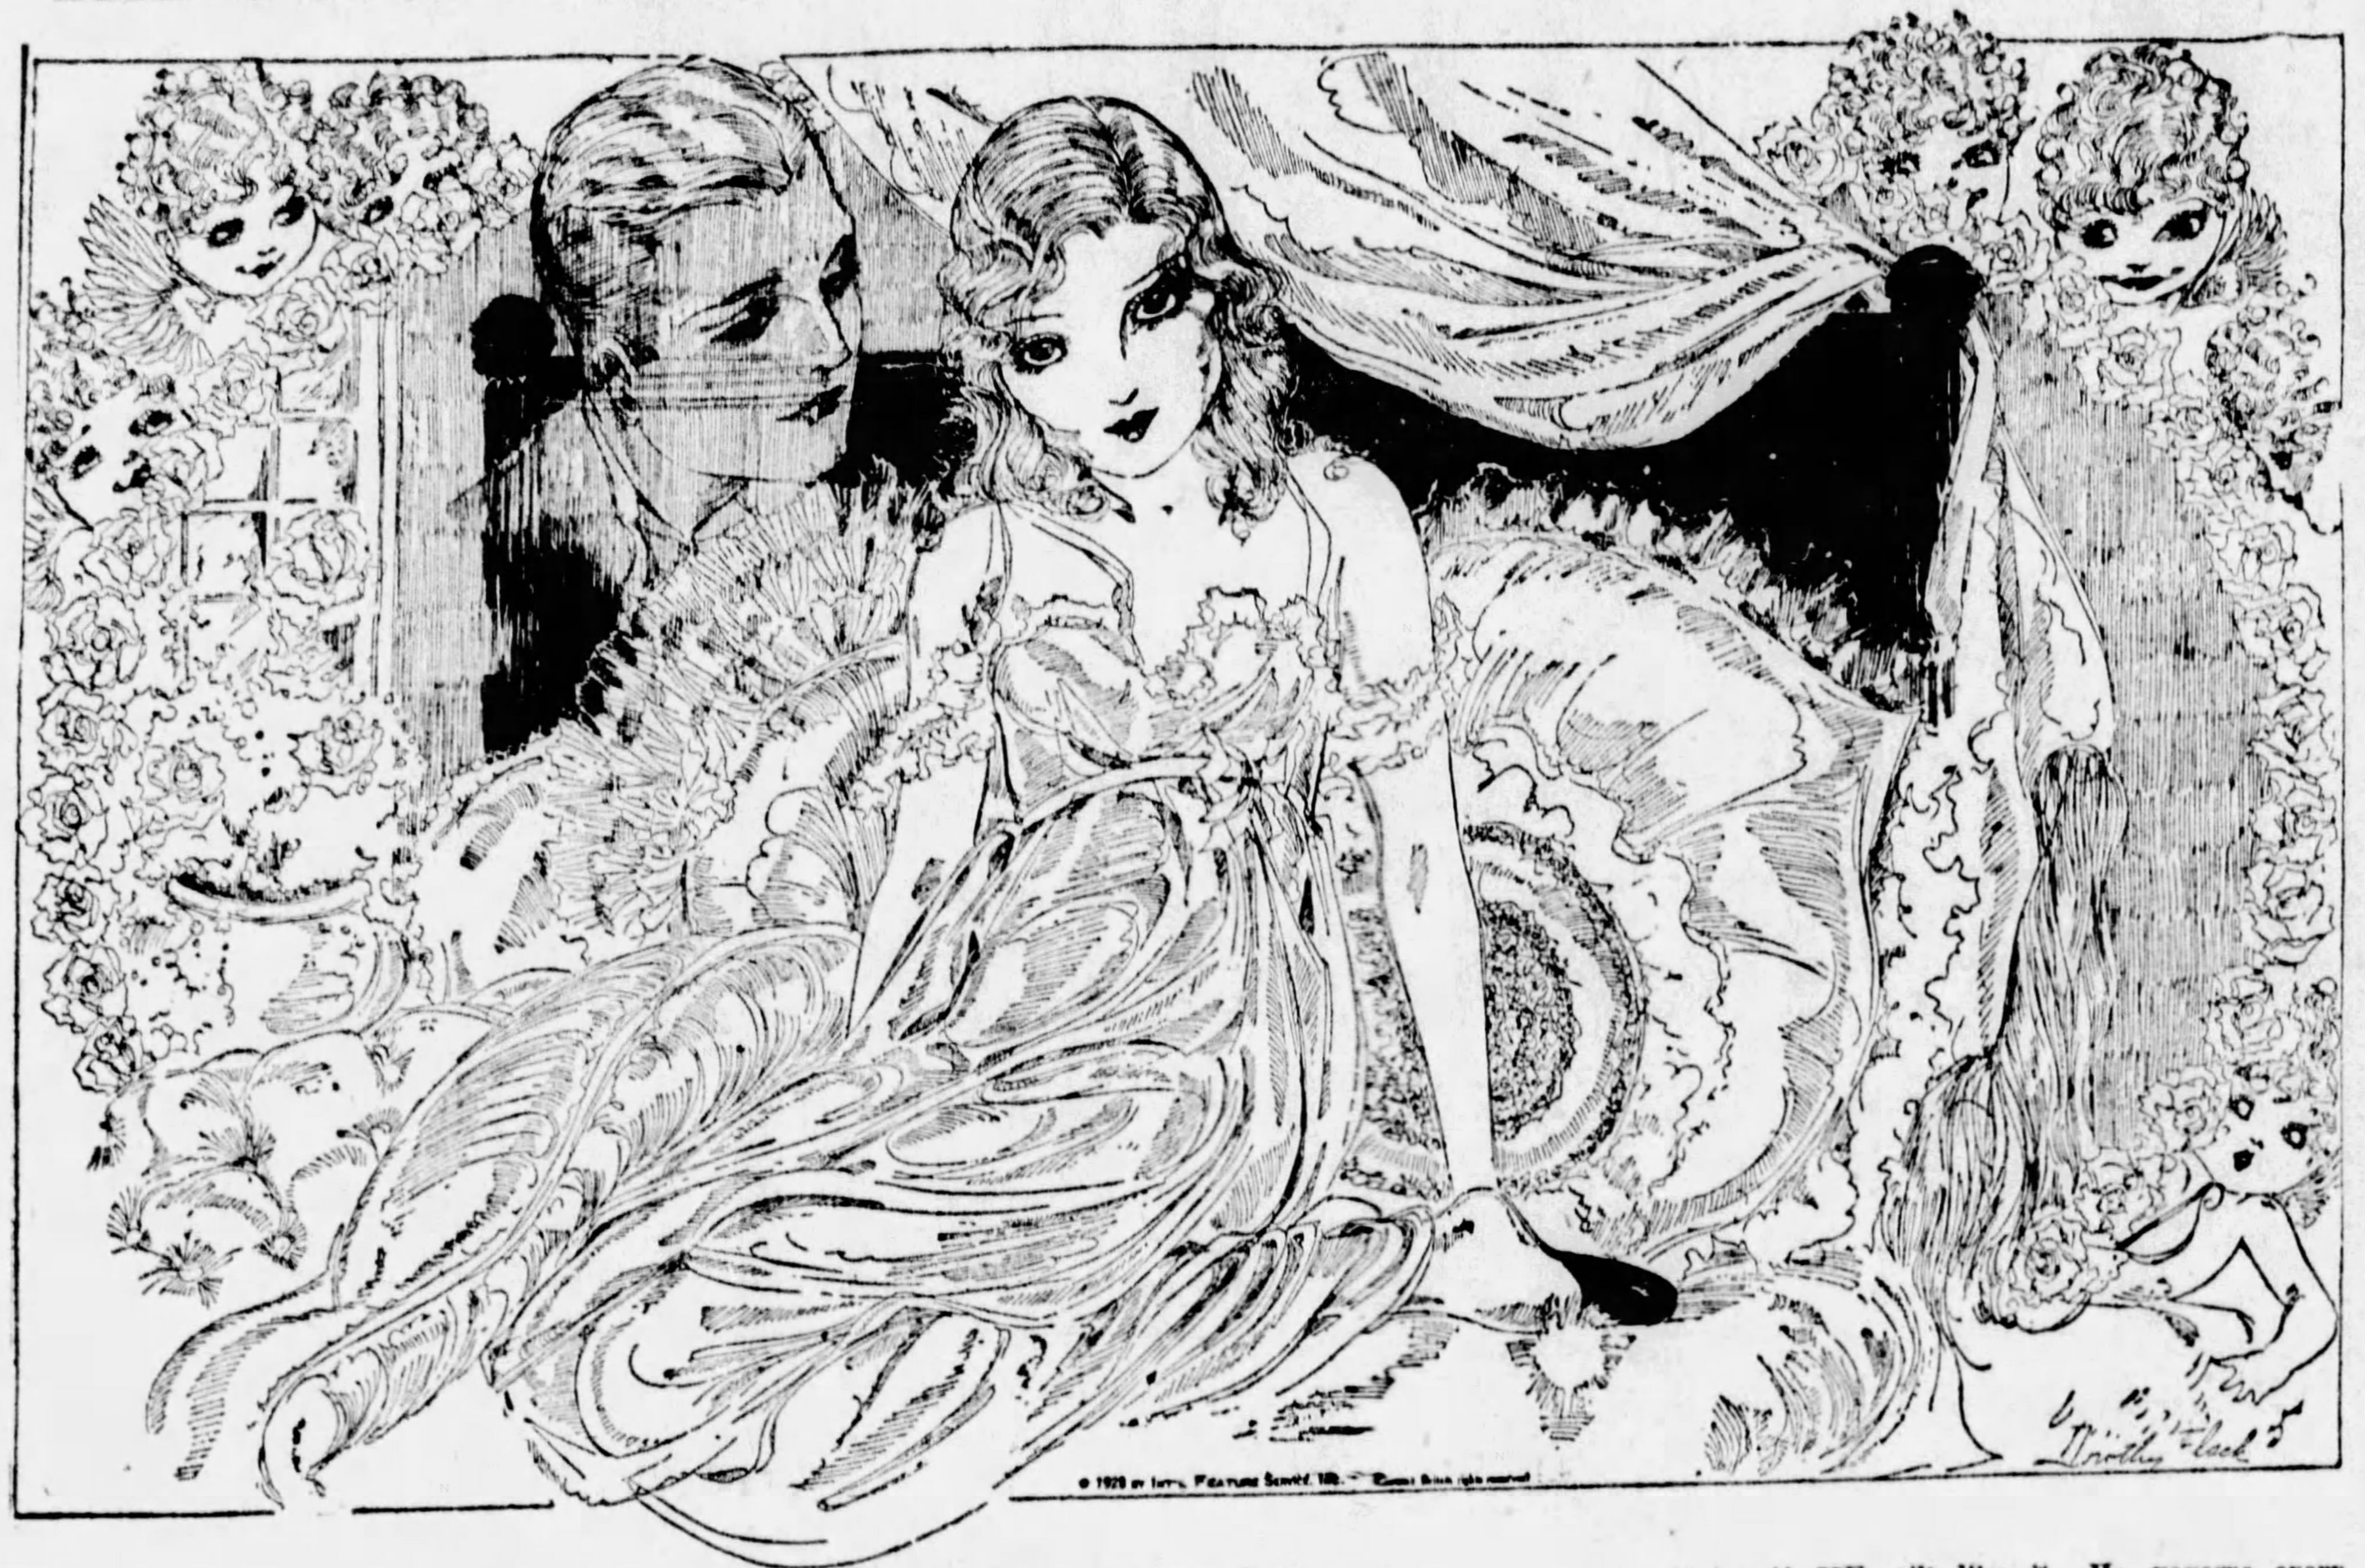
Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not

THE FIRST AND LAST THOUGHT

Drawn by Dorothy Flack



THE first thing in the morning and the last thing at night, what does a girl think of? If she's in love—well, what more natural than that every thought is of the beloved! She greets him with a loving thought when she opens her eyes in the morning, and at night she goes off to Dreamland with thoughts of HIM filling her head and heart and then sleeps, only to dream and dream and dream of HIM.

Can you blame her? For when one's in love, the whole horizon is filled with HIM. He's her world and her sun and her stars and everything else is excluded in her loving thought of the One Man.

And Dan Cupid does everything he possibly can to further such a situation. It's his fault, the scamp! For when he decrees that two shall fall in love, then it's up to him to see that the love is tenderly cared for. Therefore, he wills it that she go through the days and nights in a rosy halo of happiness. He takes good care that nothing shall happen to mar the tender love which has been so joyfully given.

A new dress, a hat—even the most trivial thing is given the most careful consideration, for she is ever wondering if HE will like it. He governs every thought.

Ah, me! It's a wonderful thing to be in love! Cynics may scoff and pessimists predict all sorts of dire happenings, but Love is always love! Nothing else matters! Nothing can disturb the calm, joyful happiness of one in love. And there's a terrible penalty attached to one who may try to kill love—and the penalty is that Love evades them, passes them by—and that's the reason for their cynicism and pessimism. So beware.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

How to Keep a Woman in Her Place

THE greatest study of mankind, today, is how to keep a woman in her PLACE! To a comely and eligible bachelor, it is the burning question of the hour.

All the newspaper columns on love, marriage and manners are running over with advice to the Perfect Lady on how to accept the attentions or repel the advances of a Gentleman.

But what the Big Boy would like to know, these topsy-turvy days, is how to receive or discourage the attentions of a modern, go-getting Girl!

HELEN ROWLAND

When she calls him up three or four times a day, at the office, for instance, how can he make it clear to her that she is embarrassing him to the blushing-point, and that all the men in the office are kidding him, and all the stenographers beginning to treat him with frigid scorn!

When she takes advantage of the fact that he is ill and down and out, to send him flowers, shall he acknowledge them with a pretty pink scented note of thanks, or would that give her too much encouragement?

When she drops by for him in her red sport car, and he innocently permits her to take him for a drive, shall he let her snuggle up to him and respond to her kisses, and thus arouse false hopes in her breast, or shall he coldly reprove her—and get out and walk home?

Shall he accept the jeweled cigaret holder and platinum cufflinks she insists on giving him for Christmas—or shall he return them with a greeting card, and the explanation that his father won't permit him to receive anything from a woman, except a book, a bunch of violets or a pocket comb?

And when she comes right out, and flatly lets him know that she's going to marry him, how can he prove to her that she ISN'T without a struggle. And what is the most graceful way of letting her know that some other girl has beaten her to it?

* * *

Because, if the boys tell me the truth, the girls DO all these things. And it's awfully confusing and embarrassing to a nice, well-bred young man. It's a delicate and difficult situation for him, because he is as yet about six laps behind the modern girl, in all these things.

He has not yet reached that advanced stage where he feels that he ought to slap a girl on the wrist for kissing him against his will, or to ask her if her intentions are serious and if she can afford to support him. Yet he is way beyond the humble stage where he would meekly and humbly let a girl maul him and muss up his hair, and then build unwarranted hopes on his acquiescence.

* * *

In short, he is in that unhappy transition period where he doesn't know whether to treat a girl as a lady, as an enemy—or as an equal and a gentleman. What he would appreciate beyond words is a book by some trustworthy authority on "How to Keep a Woman in Her Place."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, October 31.

ACCORDING to the prognostications for this day, while things may be active and the inclinations be toward enterprise and initiative, there is much probability of deceit, treachery and subtle and unsuspected complications. This duplicity may be felt in social, domestic and romantic affiliations as well as in the business relations. Precaution and wariness as well as signing all writings with care may assist to ward of loss and anxious conditions. Especial care is urged in social correspondence.

Those whose birthday it is may face a year of dangers from fraud and duplicity in their affairs, personal and business. Precaution is enjoined as regards the signing of all writings. There may be postponements and small losses. A child born on this day may be active and enterprising, but may find difficult situations to overcome from its own and others tendency to deceit and treachery, unless well disiplined in infancy.

Ah, that deceit should steal such gentle shapes, and with a virtuous vizor hide deep vice.—Shakespeare

Chasing Dandruff

Dandruff, as you know, is very injurious to the hair. Directly after it is noticed a suitable lotion should be applied, and special care taken to see that the scalp is absolutely clean. The white of an egg beaten up with a teaspoonful of spirits of wine has been found a satisfactory lotion.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

Harry Underwood Finds Himself in a Dubious Position

I HAD no words to answer Harry Underwood's question concerning my theory as to the long past disgraceful episode in which he and Grace Draper were figures. It was so startling an interrogation, brought such vivid—and unpleasant—memories of that first year of my marriage in which Grace Draper played so diobolical a role, that I simply stared at him helplessly, wondering if Lillian and I had been mistaken about his part in the sordid litle drama.

"You don't need to answer that in words," Mr. Underwood said with a smile. "Those big eyes are answer enough. As to that, I did take the Draper away, but only because I wanted to get her away from your vicinity, and besides she needed somebody to keep her from ending everything after she tried to stab Dicky. If I'd been sure she'd have stopped with herself, I think I'd have let her try the experiment. But there wasn't any of the romance stuff, sordid or otherwise, between us. I swear it. I was sore at Lil and crazy about you, and I got to drinking hard.

"You probably know when I'm hitting the booze none of my gears mesh. I'm a total loss. At any rate, when I got to the point where I didn't know the brake from the gas, the Draper began to get in her fine work. I never did get to the bottom of her scheme. She was more than half nutty over the idea of revenging herself upon Dicky and she was easy meat for the enemy spies that were floating around that time. And we both were broke. Gradually she got the idea into my bean that if I could get Dicky bumped off, I could grab you. Luckily I came to in time. But you know the rest of it."

"Only too well," I said soberly, for the memory of that awful time and the long vigil following it when Dicky's life came so near fluttering out was still vividly with me.

"I wouldn't bring it up now after all these years only that I want you to know all that about you is outfinished. I'll never bother you any more, though I'll always think you're the sweetest thing this side the pearly gates. But I've been finding myself all these years that I've been trying to square things, and the chief thing I've discovered is that there's just one woman in the world I need and want, and that's Lil with her golden heart and her tobasco temper. I've kept away from her all this time, first, because I hadn't any right to think she'd forgive me, second, because I thought for a long time she was going to take the second pair of oars to Savarin's boat. But when I heard awhile ago—never mind how — that the early-first-love romance hadn't panned out I began to hope a bit on my own account."

I was quite sure that I knew the source of his information concerning Lillian. I remembered a conversation with Dicky in which he had said that Lillian would be much happier with Harry than she would with Robert Savarin, famous artist and idol of her youthful imagination whose archaic ideas of woman's place were stronger than his love for her. I knew too, that Dicky alone had held the secret of Harry Underwood's identity in those days just past when his friend was posing as Petrovsky, the Transvanian revolutionist. Dicky must have kept in close touch with his old friend for years.

"So now I've come clean, Lady Fair," Mr. Underwood said, "and I want your advice on something that concerns me most nearly. Will you promise to give me your honest-to-God opinion without any regard to my feelings? I know if you make a promise like that, your 'rock-bound coast' conscience will make you keep it. And I want some straight-from-the-shoulder-advice without any strings attached."

"Why don't you ask Lillian?" I faltered, for my intuition told me that his question would be a delicate one to answer.

"Because it concerns her too nearly," he returned quickly. "Come, Lady Fair, it isn't like you to shirk. Give this little boy a hand. He needs it badly."

There was something in his voice—tense—urgent—which made me say quickly:

"Very well, I promise. What is it you want to ask me?"

He waited for a long minute before answering while his eyes roved over the orchard and meadow beyond the rose garden. Then he turned back to me.

"Do you think Lillian is happy with me back, or do you think I'd better disappear again?"

Involuntarily my lips formed words I had no intention of uttering.

"Marion is to blame for this," I exclaimed.

Old and New in Nutrition Theories

A READER and friendly critic, living in one of the Western States, wants something "more advanced" regarding nutrition than I appear to be writing at times. He makes the common mistake of many laymen, believing that medicine and all the associated sciences must be making such advances that the "old stuff" is out of date.

DR. COPELAND

My! but I wish this were true! Wouldn't it be wonderful if cancer, Bright's disease, pernicious anemia and many lesser ailments, had been mastered by the experts and could be removed by some miracle of modern discovery!

A few years ago I talked with one of the most outstanding research scientists in North America. I asked him this question: "Just where does the scientific world stand as regards cancer?"

His reply was significant: "Our knowledge of cancer is exactly what our knowledge of tuberculosis was a half century ago." In short, at that time, we knew almost nothing about cancer, so far as cure is concerned.

We have made progress since and a good deal of pretty exact knowledge is now at our disposal. But there is a long road yet to travel before we can face the advanced cancer patient with any certainty of relief. We must continue to emphasize that old-time, but dependable advice—give early and instant attention to any suspicious swelling or a sore which fails to heal.

This is an extreme example of how dependent we are on the "old stuff." But the same argument holds in many things relating to nutrition. From two different experts, men really eminent in the profession, we can get diametrically opposite views as to the diet to prescribe for a given patient, or the sort of food one should eat if he is to have health.

The fact is, we have many, many theories presented to us, but one after another they go into the discard. "Art is long," it has been said, and I am sure science is even slower in its processes. We rejoice in the reports of the laboratories, for they mark progress, but the research workers themselves are the last to reach conclusions. They are very, very certain of themselves before they admit a conviction as to the establishment of a new truth.

Perhaps the quotation of part of one sentence from one of the latest authoritative books on nutrition will show what is really the proper scientific attitude toward much of the newer material: "At best, technical errors are frequent . . . and interpretation is often difficult."

But we need not be discouraged. There are many fundamental and, in the scientific world, universally accepted facts, that are not yet practiced by many men and women whom I am seeking to reach. Much of this material may seem like "old stuff" to the advanced reader, but it cannot be questioned that the simple things of life are often neglected even by him.

Not every one of these articles can be informative to each reader, but even the wise will not be hurt if reminded of the plain facts of personal hygiene, health and nutrition. This body of ours is no different from that of our fathers, but I am striving to have the bodies of men and women who live today better treated than our fathers' were.

I want every reader to know the place in the dietary of the facts, carbonhydrates, proteins and minerals. I want him to get the significance of the different types of vitamins and why they are essential to his welfare. Most of this is "old stuff," in a sense, but its practical application every new day determines for each of us the state of health and lengt of life.

The Man for the Job

WHEN America was a gangling commonwealth—and experimental laboratory for democracy—manufacture was largely confined to the blacksmith shop, the home loom, candle mould and cobbling outfit.

Capital's favorite investments were in fur-traps, rum cargoes, and "East India" goods.

Folk travelled by saddle or stage coach, and used bullock carts, scows and packet boats for interstate market baskets.

And under these circumstances was conceived much of the economic theory in which our government still remains clothed.

Now we are the greatest of all industrialists—the dominating merchants and financiers in the universe.

The pace of development is swifter than Federal appreciation of its gait.

Invention and discovery keep upsetting pre-calculation's apple-carts. Forces beyond yesterday's conception, overnight, become controlling factors of prosperity.

The Electro-Chemical Cycle—the Age of Amazements—the Era of Miracles is upon us.

Progress has entered upon a phase more pregnant than the hour John Gutenberg recast civilization in his type foundry.

This portentous transition, if inexpertly guided, will pile the continent with confusion and premature obsolescence.

The adventure must be conducted by a bold and technical intelligence. Only a supreme organizer, a great engineer, can show the way. And Herbert Hoover is the one man for the job.

Legislation must fill its tool kit with new instruments. Incompetent statutes need redesigning to fit America's seam-bursting growth. Only a versatile experience and panoramic vision can chart the drift of affairs and provide the blue-prints of revision. And Herbert Hoover is the one man for the job.

Our savings and surpluses are funded in undertakings whose shares are spread through the community. These vast investments in railroad, telephone and motor securities should not be jeopardized by reckless conflicts between old and new systems. Only a technical imagination can visualize such consequence and harmonize competitive interests. And Herbert Hoover is the one man for the job.

Our minerals are vanishing down insatiate gullets. Mills and refineries have literally gobbled ore reserves. Only an expert metallurgist can estimate the thriftless depletion and furnish a conserving and conciliatory program. And Herbert Hoover is the one man for the job.

We're guzzling fuel oils at tank-a-minute clip. Unless we shrewdly steward remaining stocks, devise keener processes and develop abundant substitutes, car upkeep will become prohibitive, carrier rates will soar, thousands engaged on automobile parts, bodies and tires will go jobless, and every pocket in the land wince at living costs.

It will take an engineer and emergency handler to detour the crisis. And Herbert Hoover is the one man for the job.

Fire, pest and stupidity are exhausting our last timber stands. Washington has piddled with reforestation until lumber famine stalks the future. China's sterile acres warn us to preserve the trees and soil, or we shall have annually increasing floods and relief appropriations with annually decreasing fertility. Amateur understanding can't grasp the situation. It calls for a scientist's mind and an engineer's resourcefulness. And Herbert Hoover is the one man for the job.

The Republican Party offers a candidate in touch with every national exigency—familiar with the machinery of commerce and export, a veteran in world affairs, in agriculture, in transportation. And in efficiency.

America needs Herbert Hoover to keep wheels turning, trade booming, and prosperity in safe thoroughfares.

His election will continue high wages and high tariff—preserve Constitutionalism, opportunity and impartial justice—keep the gate locked against foreign labor, products and entanglement.

CITY STARTS SURVEY · FOR RAIL-RIVER TERMINALS

BUSINESSMEN'S AID SOUGHT BY LANG

The first step toward establishing municipal river-rail terminals on the water fronts here has been started by the Department of Public Works, Edward G. Lang, director.

Representatives of the department are making an investigation of the river conditions preparatory to the establishment of terminals on the Monongahela River wharf and on the North Side, either on the Allegheny or Ohio River. Plans and estimates for the improvements will follow.

A circular letter has been sent out by Director Lang in which he explains that the terminal and transportation service will be similar to that afforded by the Federal Barge Line Corporation operating in the Mississippi River. The line serves 44 of the 48 states of the Union at 20 per cent less than rail rates. The letter asks the business concerns to furnish information as to the possible tonnage they intend to ship. The success of the plan to enable the city to take advantage of low cost water transportation depends upon the reception given by local business men.

It is planned to have the North Side terminal care for the heavy freight and reshipment by either rail or river while the Monongahela terminal will be for the shipment of lighter freight or packet service.

RAID SALOON IN M'KEESPORT

Visiting a saloon at 412 Locust street, McKeesport, prohibition agents say they observed George P. Vargo, 39, pouring out drinks of moonshine yesterday. Leaping over the bar they seized the liquor and Vargo. A further search yielded large quantities of whisky, gin and home brew, the agents said.

BARGE WORKER DROWNS IN TUMBLE FROM BOAT

ALIQUIPPA, Oct. 30.—Domenico Cerillo, 40, was drowned in the Ohio River here when he fell from a barge. The body was recovered within a few minutes by fellow employes, but two hours' efforts at resuscitation failed.

ADDITIONAL STAGE AND SCREEN NEWS

This act, which has lots of laughs, brings a World War atmosphere to the stage. The little plot of the piece concerns an American doughboy who returns to France to find the girl of his dreams. The time is the present, with one episode harking back to the days when the big guns were booming. Loring and Lessig present what they term a bit of life. There is an episode of comedy and one of tragedy. The tragic one comprises an interpretation of Kipling's "Boots." Walter and Betty Burke win laughs in an act of song and chatter. The Three Hauser Boys furnish 12 or so minutes of syncopated amusement. They are versatile entertainers and bring a midget piano along to help them in their fun. Other acts on the bill include some performing dogs and ponies. The photoplay feature is "Sally's Shoulders," featuring Lois Wilson. Short film entertainment and an organlogue also are offered.

"Me, Gangster" Aldine Picture

A diary, purporting to show how a young fellow develops into a gangster, is what the photoplay, "Me, Gangster," has brought to the Aldine screen this week. The hero of the drama is the son of a dock hand who rises to a position of an East Side political boss. You meet the hero first as a young child to whom the rattle of a beer bucket is music. Then you see him in various stages of development — getting caught deeper in the net of crime, just as his father is rising higher in the political scale. Rotten politics and crime go hand in hand in the production, with the result that the father is "put back in the gutter" when he bucks the political machine, and the boy is sent to prison when he runs afoul of the law. But there is a girl, a good girl, and she figures prominently in the closing sequences. June Collyer, Don Terry and Anders Randolf are featured. Additional entertainment includes Odette Myrtil, singing violinist, and Fuzzy Knight, a comedian of melody.

Comedy Acts in Sheridan Show

"Arms and the Girl," a mixture of comedy, song and dance, serves as the vehicle for George Patten and Burtress Deitch in the vaudeville bill which opened yesterday in the Sheridan Square. Patten comes out dressed up like a West Point cadet. The Little Group Boys, a quartet, give an act of song and comedy. Harry Levan and Lettie Bolles are seen in a laugh skit. Eddie Swartz and Julian Clifford sing and chatter amusingly. A novelty shadow act is presented by Stanley Gallini & Co. The photoplay is "The Air Circus," a drama of peace-time aviation. Short screen entertainment is on the bill.

Clara Bow in Liberty Film

"The Fleet's In," starring Clara Bow, is the current picture in the Liberty. Miss Bow is seen in the role of a dance hall hostess, who is the center of rivalry between two sailor boys, portrayed by James Hall and Jack Oakie. The stage attraction is presented by George Matthews and his Arcadia Recording Orchestra.

Specialties in Academy Show

Music, dancing girls and comedians are to be found in "Girls From Happyland," this week's burlesque in the Academy. Irving Selig, rotund comedian, plays a henpecked husband. There are numerous sketches, including "Fifi's Boudoir," in which Leona Reed and Alice Duval are featured. Nat Tucker is seen in eccentric dances. Ben Lerner and Fred Reese appear in comedy bits. Rose Lee's "Seminole" and "Stevedore" are among the numbers on the musical program. Margie Bartel introduces specialties. Oriental dances complete the bill.

Grand, Regent Offer Jolson

Al Jolson's photoplay, "The Singing Fool," is being seen in two local theaters this week. It has opened an engagement in the Regent, East End, and is being continued for a third week in the Grand. The picture is presented in both theaters with the Vitaphone, which includes the singing of a number of songs by Jolson. News pictures and other short film entertainment are on the bills.

Janet Gaynor Olympic Star

"Street Angel," co-featuring Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, opened yesterday in the Olympic. It tells the story of youth's struggle for freedom and happiness. The background is the romantic atmosphere of Naples. The picture was directed by Frank Borzage, the man who made "Seventh Heaven," which also featured Miss Gaynor and Farrell. Short film entertainment is on the bill.

DOVE BEAUTY IS HELP IN STANLEY

Billie Dove's beauty, a dramatic tale, and a naval battle make "The Night Watch," showing in the Stanley a picture that holds interest as much through an unusual method of presentation as in the screen value of the story, which, if not outstanding, is above the average of routine production, which, of course cannot strike twelve all the time. Miss Dove's role is that of the wife of a French officer on trial in a military court for the death of a brother officer. The story is told in flashbacks of the testimony of various witnesses. Most of it is that of the accused officer's wife, who relates how she was the cause of the murder by another man, later killed in the naval engagement spoken of, and had kept silent because shame might be brought to her home. Paul Lukas and Donald Reed are prominent in the cast. The novel technical treatment of the tale helps to make it good entertainment. On the stage the De Valery-Tarasof girls, featuring Vera Calhoun, present "Dancing Tambourines." Sound effects in the Fox Movietone News, "Topics of the Day," other short films and an overture organlogue complete the program.

DRIVER OF STOLEN CAR HELD FOR OHIO POLICE

BRIDGEWATER, Pa., Oct. 30.—J. C. Davis, 27, Cleveland, O., arrested here with a stolen automobile in his possession, police say, is held for the Cleveland police.

CLEVER DOGS ARE HIT IN DAVIS

Almost human humor is displayed by two dogs in the act of the Gaudsmith Brothers, which is one of the vaudeville features in the Davis Theater this week. The remarkable part of this canine performance is that they do the unexpected. It is comparatively easy to train animals to do certain tricks, but to train clever animals to act stupid must be difficult. The Gaudsmith Brothers have every reason to be proud of their company. Another novel bit of comedy is furnished by Joe Morris and Winn Shaw—one of them playing a crazy man who forms a mosquito trust, and creates much mirth with his funereal voice and erratic antics. There is also a blackface plantation revue of considerable merit, and Ann Gold proves diverting with her chatter, while some xylophone players and a family of acrobats fill out the bill. The photoplay is a real thriller—"The Michigan Kid"—a Rex Beach story with wild Alaskan scenery, a desperate fight while a forest fire is raging, and true love winning out at the finish. Conrad Nagel and Renee Adoree have the principal parts and will stir romantic hearts.

WURLITZER, PIANO MANUFACTURER, DIES

SCHOOL BOARD STARTS WORK ON BUDGET

Ten new teachers for backward pupils were provided in an item approved last night by the Board of Education at the first session of budget making. This brings the total of special teachers to 33, but a dozen more are needed if the backward pupils are to be given proper attention, according to Dr. H. B. Burns, director of the hygiene department. The board also approved $2,500 for equipment for the backward classes. Two more dental operators and two dental assistants were approved for East End and North Side schools.

The board will meet again Wednesday night, and on Friday night the finance committee will attempt to cut down the $14,556,575 total of estimates from the various school departments, preparatory to fixing the annual tax levy, to be ready by the first Monday in December.

FIRE DESTROYS NEWELL LUMBER COMPANY YARD

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 30.—Fire of undetermined origin today destroyed the Newell Lumber Company's yard at Newell, W. Va., across the Ohio River from here, causing $23,000 loss. Two houses and garages were scorched by the flames. East Liverpool and Chester, W. Va., firemen assisted in fighting the blaze.

BUSINESS GOOD, FUTURE BRIGHT, SAYS VAUCLAIN

"Business has never been better and the outlook for the future is excellent," S. M. Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, said on his arrival in Pittsburgh to address a mass meeting under the auspices of the Hoover Business League, in the Schenley High School auditorium, tonight.

"The automobile industry is exceeding past records. The steel business is doing well. Prosperity is general," he stated, "except in a few cases, and these cannot be blamed on government interference or general dullness.

"The coal business is depressed because industry is using improved methods of burning. Where from three to five pounds of coal used to be consumed for each horsepower only one pound per horsepower now is needed. The railroads, which are among the largest consumers of coal, have reduced their requirements by the use of superheaters and water feeder heaters on locomotives.

RAILROADS EFFICIENT

"The railroads have also learned to get more out of their equipment. They are running their locomotives twice as far in a day and reducing the time required for runs of freight cars. This has given them a surplus of equipment, and has reduced the buying of cars and locomotives. Next year some of the roads will be in the market for new rolling stock.

"Labor is well employed," continued Mr. Vauclain. "The introduction of machinery has made the pick and shovel man a curiosity. But the general prosperity is so great that if a man loses employment in one industry he is able to get work in another."

J. S. Crutchfield, a Democrat and leader of the Hoover Business League, will preside at the meeting tonight. Mrs. A. S. Kech, vice chairman of the Blair County Republican Committee, also will speak.

A. L. Humphrey, president of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, will introduce Mr. Vauclain. Mrs. C. A. Verner will introduce Mrs. Kech.

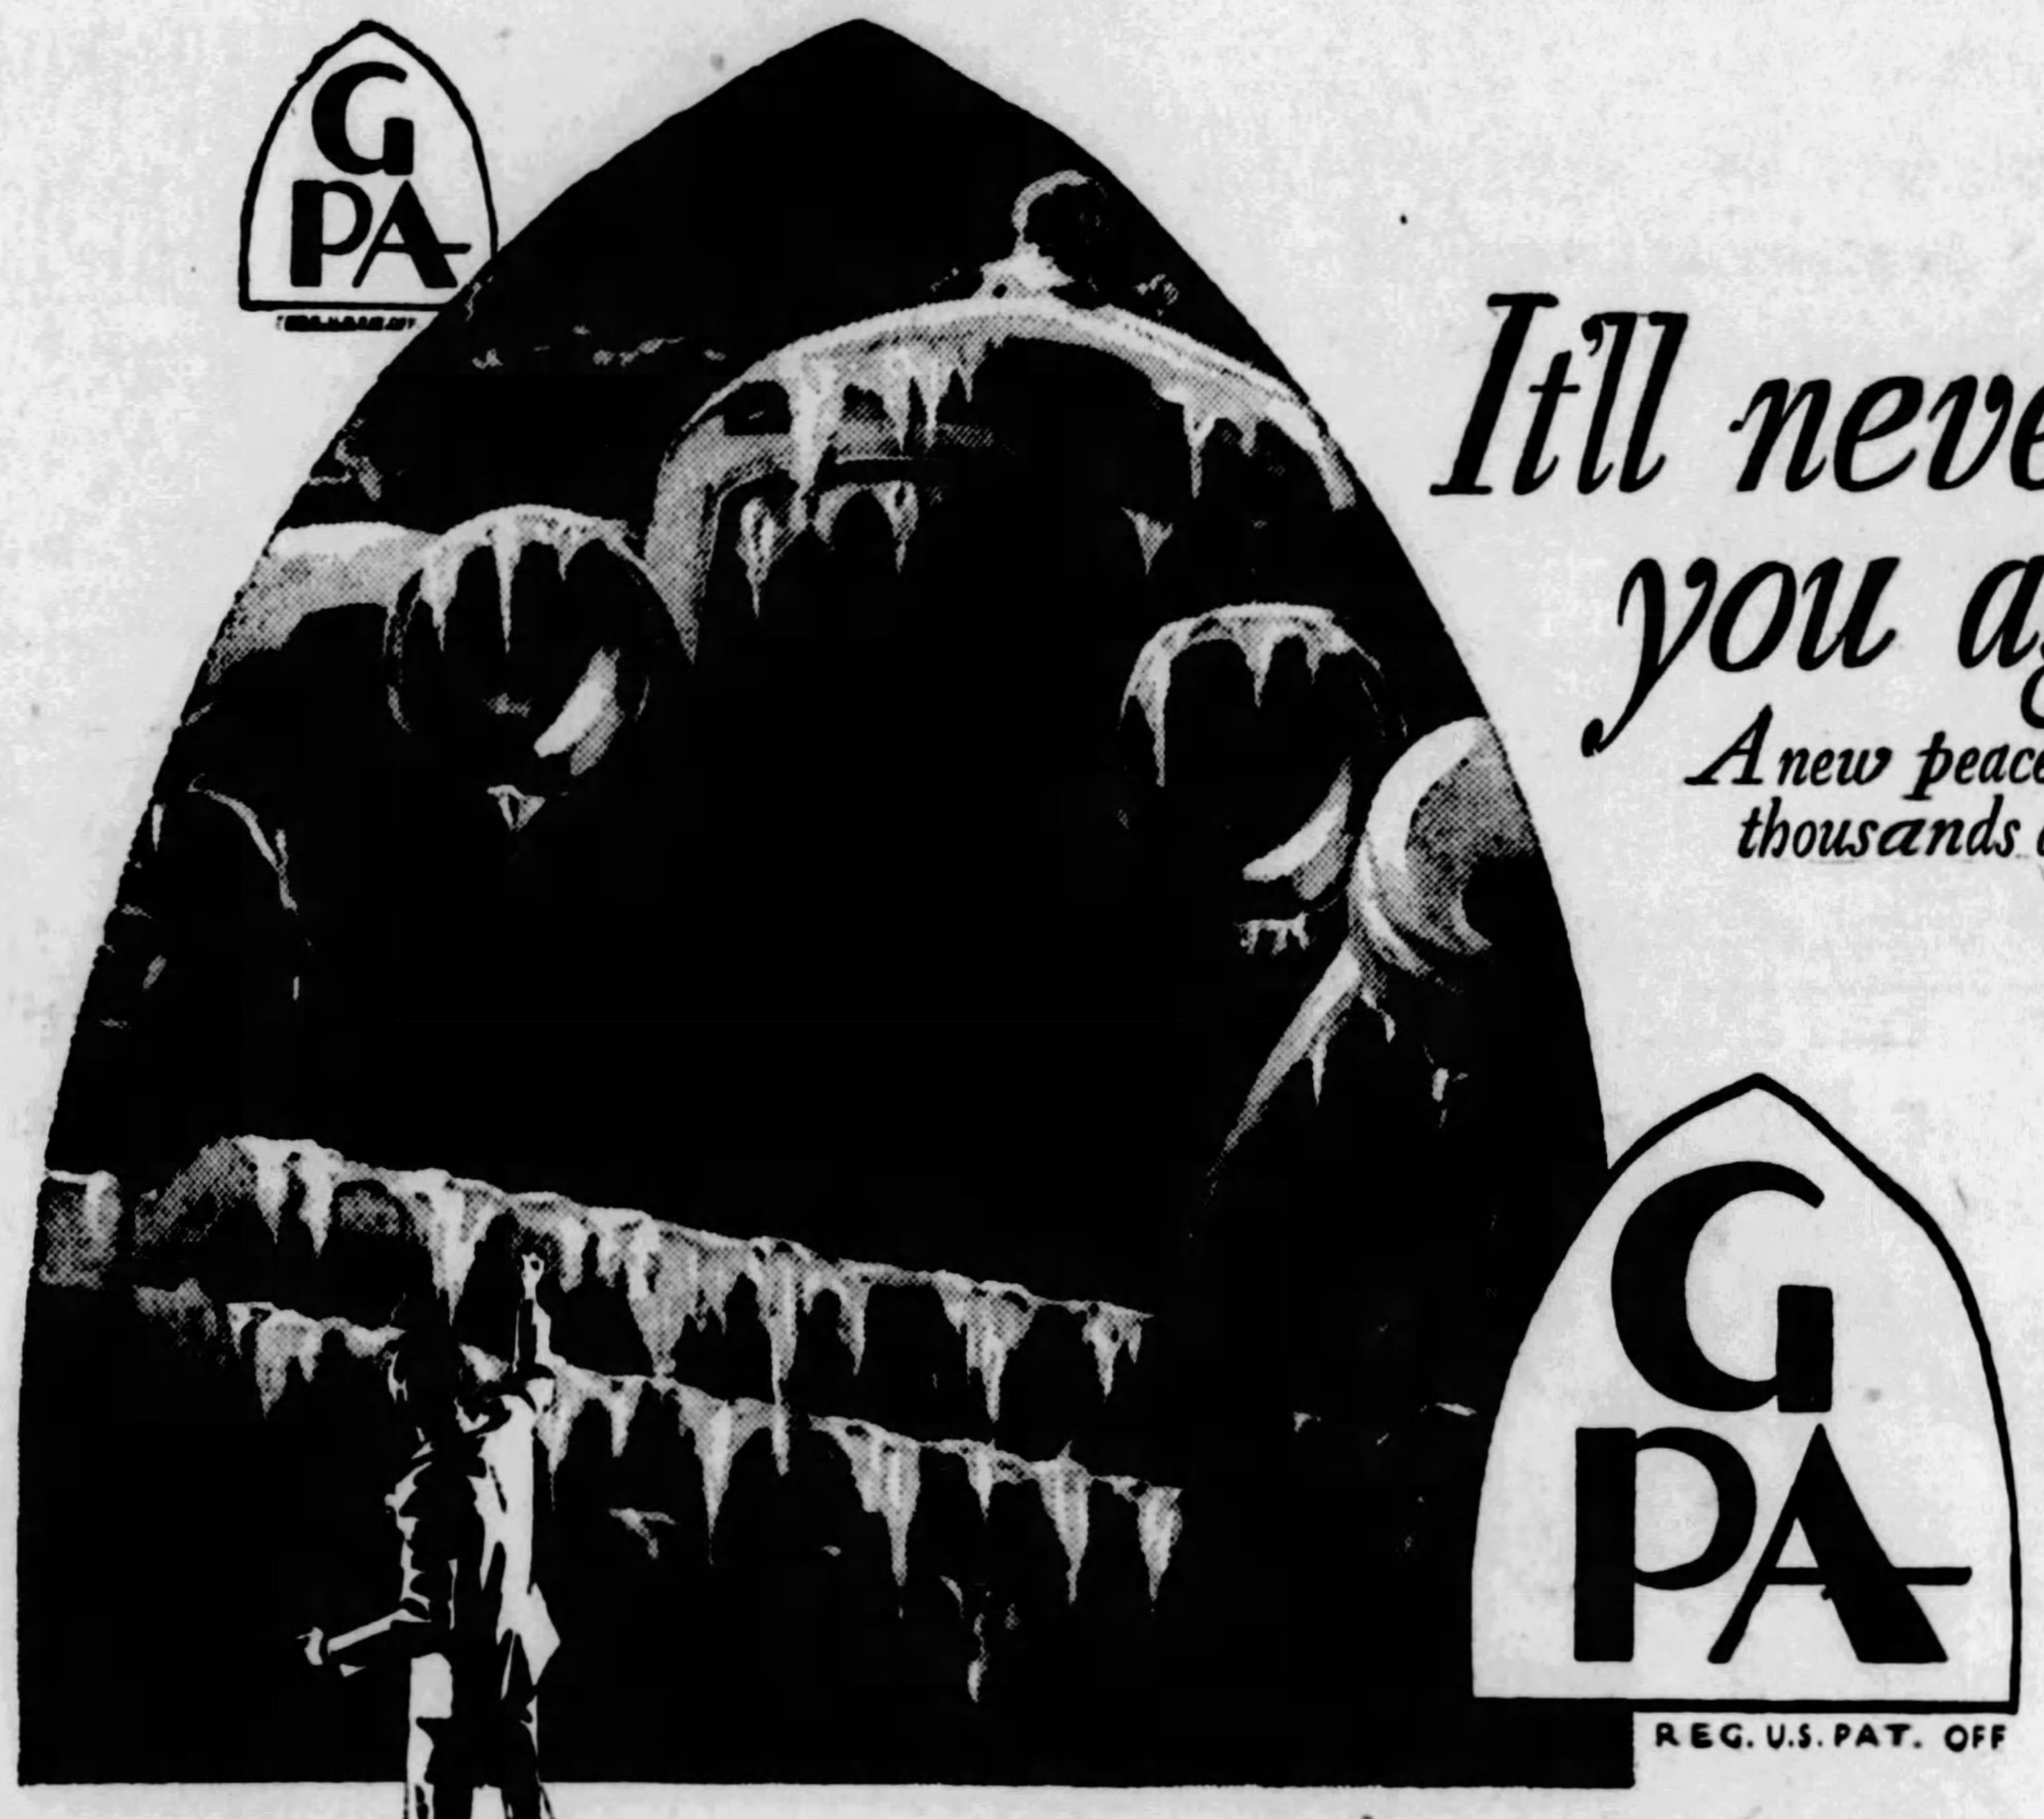
ACIDINE
THE GREAT DIGESTANT
AT YOUR DRUGGISTS



It'll never bully you again

A new peace-of-mind for thousands of motorists

Insist on this seal. It appears only on standard glycerine solutions vouched for by the Glycerine Producers' Association as especially adapted for automobile use.

RADIATOR Glycerine
THE SAFE ANTI-FREEZE

Give your car this permanent, safe, anti-freeze protection.
No evaporation, no odor, no constant worry. Harmless to car and finish.
Does not boil away.

You don't have to worry . . . because glycerine will not evaporate!

THOUSANDS of motorists are bullied by their cars in winter. They fear a freeze-up. They put in anti-freeze but it evaporates. They keep running for more solution. They worry every time they park their cars in the open or in an unheated garage. And even then, too often, they end with the very freeze-up they feared—with a fat repair bill to meet, and their car out of service.

Thousands of other motorists have learned a better method. They get their cooling system tightened up, put in one filling of Radiator Glycerine and say good-bye to freezing worries for the entire winter. They know glycerine can't evaporate. They know it won't boil off. They know they are safeguarded for the season, not only against freezing, but against the worry and bother that ordinary anti-freeze solutions require.

A well-known, reliable product

You know what glycerine is. You know it is bland and harmless. It cannot corrode or attack any part of the cooling system. It will not spoil the car finish. It has no odor of any kind to "perfume" your car when the motor warms up.

Radiator Glycerine went to the North Pole with Amundsen. It is recommended by motor car manufacturers and also for use with radiator shutter fronts. Its virtues have been pointed out by the U. S. Bureau of Standards. Thousands of motorists use it with perfect success.

Have your car serviced

One precaution is necessary. Be sure your cooling system does not leak. Have your garageman check up on it before putting in Radiator Glycerine, for glycerine can only be lost through leakage or carelessness—it cannot evaporate. Complete directions are on the container.

Put it in NOW

Get full benefit of your Radiator Glycerine by putting it in your car now. It won't evaporate no matter how warm it gets, so there is no reason to wait. Your garage probably has it. Any distributor listed here can give you complete information.

Grid Teams Win Games, But Students Get the Holidays

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 30.—(AP.)—Johnny Farrell, National open champion, and Mrs. O. S. Hill, united North and South and trans-Mississippi champion, were victorious in an exhibition golf match here yesterday afternoon.

IMPORTANT GRID GAMES BOOKED

By TOM BIRKS.

WITH the Bridgeville Firemen signing to meet the McKeesport Olympics at Rainbow Gardens, and the Burns Club of New Kensington signing the dotted line to meet the East Pittsburgh Firemen at the Quarry field, both games for next Sunday, more light was shed on the outstanding battle for titular honors.

To add fuel to the flames, for the bnefit of the followers of the independent gridiron, McChesneytown signed to meet East Pittsburgh Fremen at East Pittsburgh, the following Sunday, November 11, and the Burns club cinched matters with Max Rosskamp of the Springdale Amicus for these two great Allegheny valley clubs to meet Armistice Day at Parnassus High School field.

So, all in all, it was a great evening for the sandlotters' managers Grafton Sullivan, representing Burns acting Manager Brown, acting for Manager Connelly, of East Pittsburgh, who has a bereavement at home. Freddy Iverson, popular manager of the Olympics got together and the latter did not hesitate when asked to sign on the dotted line to meet the Bridgeville Firemen sponsored by Walter Der. In fact, the cnntracts, now duly agreed upon, were settled in a short space of time. Most of the managers this season seem to be pretty level headed, and are not looking for the whole world with a little fence around it. The games named bring together some of the greatest teams ever banded in this district, and fandom generally will see some games in the next two weeks full of fight and interest.

The system of padding and loading up in the few remaining titular independent games has been broken up to a certain extent by two managers in the district who are still in the undefeated ranks. This pair of level-headed football mentors signed a contract for a meeting on Sunday and as they signed also produced an eligible list of players for the game, this list will be strictly adhered to undner the agreement.

This gentlemen's agreement might do a lot to break the practice noticeable last Sunday when all corners of the earth were scoured to get talent for games. It is too bad that Gibby Welsh and Red Grange are far removed from Western Pennsylvania's scene of action, or there is quite a possibility that this peerless pair of ball-toters might have been pressed into service.

From now until Thanksgiving Day all of the wise managers in the district will insist upon an eligible list beig produced when a contract is signed. Every manager knows just what material he has, and it will break up this Saturday-night stunt of taking an automobile 50 miles in search of a star.

"Much ado about nothing," is aptly named the much-discussed play at West View on Sunday, when the Burns club was reputed to be given a touchdown on a questionable play. The only reason that Burns got a touchdown, and not a five yard penalty was the fact that a West View player talked out of turn. Referee Purcell, who called the turn is a keen believer in strictly enforcing the rules, and when Head Linesman Evans called the offside play against Burns, Purcell naturally prepared to step off the necessary five yards. However, while the inexperienced followers of the code watched events from the side lines, the more experienced 10 year players did not know what it was all about. So says Referee Purcell. Kelsch, as captain, refused the penalty, so quoth the knight of the whistle, "it stands a touchdown." Then, says Kelsch, " we will take the penalty." Too, bad, Referee Purcell says, "There are no second guesses in this game." What could be sweeter, tooted the Burns followers, but at that they did not win.

BALTIMORE CLUB TO BE SOLD

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—The Oriole club of the International Baseball League will be sold to the highest bidder as soon as an appraisal of the club's properties here can be made, Mrs. Dunn, widow of Jack Dunn, announced yesterday at a meeting of the directors. Charles H. Knapp, executor of the Dunn estate and for 15 years Dunn's counsel, was elected president.

The meeting was attended by Joseph J. Hock, of the Arundel Corporation; William F. O'Hara, general manager of the Bowie race track; Fritz Maisel, captain of the Orioles; Leo Denon, former secretary, and William Ashton, former vice president.

Under the terms of Dunn's will, which was filed several days ago at Towson, Mrs. Dunn was bequeathed his entire estate, which includes 998 of the 1,250 shares in the Oriole Baseball Club.

It is believed Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Clark Griffith, of the Washington Senators, will bid for the Oriole club. Mack has figured in many baseball deals with Dunn and helped the late Oriole magnate with players and money during the Federal League days here. It is said also Tris Speaker is interested in the Oriole club.

According to Knapp and Mrs. Dunn, there have been no offers made as yet to either for the purchase of the Orioles.

BLITMAN, GROSS DENY HOFF IS MANAGER

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—(AP.)—Harry Blitman, featherweight, and Jack Gross, heavyweight, both Philadelphia boxers, denied on the witness stand yesterday that Max Boo Boo Hoff is their manager. Their testimony was elicited at proceedings brought to seize Hoff's assets to satisfy a judgment of $32,495.

Both fighters said their contracts with Hoff as manager had been broken the same day and before court attachments were issued holding up their purses in two recent fights, in which Blitman was defeated by Benny Bass and Gross lost to Tommy Loughran. Gross testified that he was his own manager and that Hoff had received no part of the $3,334 paid Gross for the Loughran fight.

Blitman testified that he had given the $30,000 he received for fighting Bass to his father and that he did not know what his father had done with it. The case was continued until today when Blitman's father will be summoned into court.

Judge Stern in instructing the jury in the case affecting Gross remarked that "the court is skeptical of the truth of these statements and cynical as to the good faith of the severance of business relations" between the fighter and Hoff. The court declared that cases could not be decided on suspicion, and directed a verdict for Gross.

Hoff has been questioned frequently by the special grand jury investigating gang murders, bootlegging and police graft, and has been characterized as "the king of bootleggers" by District Attorney Monaghan.

COMMUNITY MAY BOLT LEAGUE

By JULIUS LEVIN.

North Side Community House, winner of the Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. basketball championship last winter, threatens to bolt the newly-organized Greater Pittsburgh Institutional League unless the powers-that-be agree to change the rule that prevents players from representing more than one club.

Several of the Community House stars are members of local industrial teams, according to Manager Woods, and if the officials of the Institutional League bar them from competition in that circuit it will wreck the championship quintet that wore the colors of the North Siders last winter.

Manager Woods voiced his objections at a closed meeting at the Young Men's Hebrew Association last night and judging by the tone of his protest Community House will withdraw from the league rather than agree to a ruling that would prevent it from using its strongest lineup in league competition.

The Greater Pittsburgh Institution League has all the ear-marks of developing into one of the best amateur circuits ever organized in this vicinity, but the loop will lose much of its appeal if it starts the campaign without the North Siders in the fold.

Community House contends that its lineup is the same as that which represented it on the floor throughout the 1927-1928 campaign, although several of the players were active participants in commercial league basketball.

The purpose of the rule to prevent players from representing more than one club keeps basketball stars from over-exerting themselves. Officials of the league are firm in their convictions that two games a week is enough for any athlete and they plan to uphold this ruling regardless what Community House decides to do.

From present indications the Greater Pittsburgh Institution League, including in its membership Young Men's Hebrew Association, Kingsley House, East Liberty Y. M. C. A. and Hill top Y. M. C. A. will start the basketball campaign without Community House.

The Enoch Rauh Club, slated for retirement this winter, will be back in first-class vasketball this winter, according to reliable reports in local floor circles. There is a movement on foot to organize a first-class league and if plans go through the Rauhs will be among the contestants, using Columbus Temple as their home quarters.

Heinz House will present a vastly changed lineup in amateur basketball this season, according to Coach Francis. Ralph Marshall, a sub last winter, is the only veteran back this year. The North Siders will present a lineup this season composed mainly of youngsters, not one over 19 years of age.

If the Enoch Rauhs make good their promise to return, only one regular of last season will be absent. Lou Alman, who held down a forward position, is working on the Pacific Coast and will not be available this year. The Rauhs have at their disposal the two Paris brothers, Meyer and Wyoming, Johnny Serbin and Bill Miller.

Moy Rubenstein, former captain of the Geneva College quintet, is said to be dickering for a berth with the Goldensons of the South Side. There is still a possibility that Rubenstein will appear in the lineup of the Rauhs in event that team operates this winter.

Stash Wrobleski, former University of Pittsburgh star, is working for the Goodrich Rubber Company in Akron this winter and will represent that organization in basketball this year. The Akron team will be composed mainly of former college stars.

PENN STAR SUFFERS BROKEN THUMB; OUT

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—(AP.)—Leon Westgate, Pennsylvania's first-string center, suffered a broken thumb and will not be able to start against Chicago Saturday. Westgate broke his thumb in the Penn State game a week ago last Saturday, but believed it was only sprained. He played for a time against Navy, but was compelled to leave the game.

Save for the loss of Westgate, the Penn team came out of the Navy contest with no injuries.

"We'll beat Chicago," Coach Lou Young said yesterday, "despite the fact that the Middies upset us. I intend to rest the varsity all week."

"I'm solid for Chesterfield"

Mild enough for anybody . . . and yet they Satisfy*

*A PLAIN, unvarnished statement of fact: "Mild enough for anybody and yet they satisfy."

If you will light a Chesterfield and smoke it critically you will find no hint of harshness, but a certain mildness, with a rich, wholesome flavor.

Chesterfields satisfy without being harsh. They're mild without being insipid or tasteless.

DEMARCO RALLIES TO DEFEAT GOLDSTEIN

CHAPPIE FADES AT FINISH

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

A ROUSING finish in the last two rounds pulled the fight out of the fire for Cuddy DeMarco, local veteran lightweight boxer, against young Phil Goldstein, of the Hill, in the 10-round windup at Motor Square Garden last night. Up to the ninth round, Cuddy had just a wee bit of a shade and he had to step out and gather points to clinch matters. Both judges and the referee agreed on the award.

DeMarco did not appear to be any too well conditioned and at several stages seemed tired and was breathing heavily. He lost the opening round, but came back to win the next three, in which he used his experience to good advantage in outsmarting his opponent. Then he slowed down and Goldstein carried three of the next four rounds, Cuddy taking the seventh.

HOT FINISH WINS

They stood four rounds apiece, with the advantage slightly with DeMarco going into the last two sessions. Then Cuddy got his second wind and finished with a hard-punching attack that ripped open Goldstein's right eye, injured earlier in the battle, and caused the blood to stream down heavily. Cuddy forced Phil at a fast pace and nailed him with some hard rights and damaging lefts. Phil fought back as well as he was able to under the conditions and they were exchanging blows briskly at the final bell.

Despite some unethical tactics on both sides, it was one of the cleanest bouts Cuddy has fought in the Garden ring in some time and pleased the fans, who were particularly elated over the hot finish. As was the case when he lost to Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, in the same ring, two weeks ago, Goldstein lacked his old speed and did a lot of his fighting standing flat-footed. Now and then he circled about, jabbing and crossing. In the main, his punches lacked steam. It was his third hard fight in two weeks and a rest might do him some good. At the same time, more conscientious training would not hurt Cuddy.

Goldstein weighed 134 pounds and DeMarco 139 at 3 p. m.

MAYBERRY VICTOR

Howard Mayberry, veteran bantamweight of Donora, subbing on a few hours' notice for Jackie Rodgers of the North Side, in the eight-round semi-final, proved too ringwise for Dan Billick, of Duquesne, making his first local appearance after turning professional in New York, and easily won the honors, although one of the judges voted for a draw.

Mayberry, who scaled 119 pounds against 119¾ for his opponent and was handicapped in height and reach, more than made up for these shortcomings by his cunning pacing and timing of punches, which enabled him to pick off the willing Billick coming in with solid punches and rake his midsection in the clinches. He won every round but two, which were even. It was a rough melee.

Dominick Profio, of Cecil, 144, appeared stale in his six-round bout with Young Chappie, of Scranton, same weight, but won by a technical knockout in the last round, when the battle was halted after 45 seconds of fighting by order of the boxing commissioner. Chappie,

Cochet Ranked First

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Henri Cochet and Miss Helen Wills head the lists of the "world's first ten" tennis players named by S. Wallis Myers, British writer and critic of the game, and announced in the current issue of merican Lawn Tennis. In ch list the United States has ore representatives than any her nation.

Cochet succeeds his country- n, Rene La Coste, who was first 927, and Bill Tilden trails both the French stars, having oped a notch. The runner-up Miss Wills again is Senorita De Alvarez, of Spain.

he United States has held its n in the men's first 10 with four presentatives, the same individuals who made it last year. France, on the other hand, has three instead of four, the veteran Jacques Brugnon having failed to make the grade.

In the women's ranking, the United States, with three representatives, has one less than last year, Mrs. Molla Mallory and Mrs. A. H. Chapin having failed to repeat.

How the Cadets Work the "Old Army Game" on Their Grid Rivals

CAGLE BIG GUN IN ATTACK

Army's eleven defeated Harvard and Yale on successive Saturdays with a high-powered attack built around the speedy halfback, Chris (Red) Cagle. Harvard bowed, 15-0, and Yale, 18-6. Above is one of the Cadets' favorite trick plays, with Cagle carrying the ball. It worked against both Harvard and Yale. Army features a sweeping play toward the end with plenty of interference. On the play diagrammed, as it was employed in the Harvard game, the interference went as per usual, but Cagle cut in between guard and tackle and eluded the secondary defense for a substantial gain. Against Yale last Saturday, Cagle broke away for touchdown runs of 52 and 73 yards.

Coach Sutherland Works Wonders With Green Material—Italian Fighter Seeking $5,000 Wins $38,000 in Fourteen Months. Proposal to Cover Diamonds on Billiard Tables Is Up Again in Angle Circles.

TO MANY a thoughtful football fan Saturday's astonishing battle of the light, relatively green Pitt team against an admittedly first-rank Carnegie Tech eleven, demonstrates convincingly the excellence of the Panther coaching. To develop by midseason, largely from untried material, a team that for three quarters of a tremendous game can outfight and at least hold even an opponent of the power, weight and ability of Carnegie is no mean feat for any coach.

Dr. Sutherland

Consider, besides, that Dr. Sutherland had to send a confessedly weaker team into this game minus the services of its best back, whose great defensive power would have permitted a helpful change in the Panthers' defensive tactics, and fairminded fans will concede to Pitt's taciturn Scot a major achievement in coaching.

AT THE beginning of the season, Pitt's material was the weakest the university had had in many years. Eight of the 11 regulars of the 1927 champions had graduated; so had eight other letter winners, leaving as a nucleus only Fox, Donchess and Guarino of the regulars and Montgomery, Edwards and Parkinson of the "near regulars."

In addition, last year's freshman squad was generally weak, and some of the more promising scrubs and freshmen flunked out. On the whole the squad this year is lighter and less experienced than any Pitt coach has had to work with since the war.

BUT Dr. Sutherland has steadily built them into an outfit that for fight and ability to shake off misfortune, could not be excelled, which testifies to his capacity to instill the right mental attitude. He brought them out on the field Saturday so full of pep and resolution that no stranger could have imagined that they were expected to be a doormat for the mighty Tartans.

As for the condition of his men, it will be noted that only at fullback was any substitution made, 10 of the starting 11 playing the whole game despite the handicaps of almost a 20-pounds-to-the-man weight disparity and a heavy, muddy field.

Local Dux Star Hits Perfect Score

THE first 300 perfect score in duckpins this season in the Pittsburgh district was turned in last night by Marty Corcoran, rolling for the Warehouse team of the Spear & Co. League on the Penn Recreation alleys.

The perfect tally of 12 straight strikes came in the second game of Corcoran's series. He rolled 185 in his first and 103 in his third. His average for 21 games so far this season is 136.

Corcoran is a righthanded bowler who sends the ball straight down the middle of the alley. His feat makes him the first local roller to become eligible for the E. J. Wuerthele solid gold medal for perfect scores rolled with standard equipment, as recently announced.

Chi's Oldest Golfer Makes Hole in One

CHICAGO, Oct. 30—(AP.)—Chicago's oldest active golfer, Chelett Cady, 79 years old, has finally bagged his hole-in-one. After years of effort he scored an ace at the Oak Park Country Club and it came on the thirteenth hole, 145 yards from the tee.

LEACH, O'DOUL TRADED

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP.)—Announcement of the trade of Frank (Lefty) O'Doul and an unnamed amount of money to the Philadelphia Nationals for Fred M. Leach was made by the New York Giants yesterday.

Both players involved are hard-hitting outfielders. O'Doul played last season with the Giants for the first time, while Leach has been with the Phillies since 1923, with the exception of a year's vacation in the minors.

Leach, a left-handed batsman but right-handed thrower, was out of the select .300 class for the first time last season, winding up the season with an average of .298.

O'Doul is a converted pitcher, having hurled for the Yankees before going to the Pacific Coast League and taking regular assignments as an outfielder. He was drafted from San Francisco by the Giants at the close of the 1927 season after being voted the Coast League's most valuable performer. Art Jahn, drafted by the Giants from Los Angeles at the same time, was sent to the Phillies during the 1928 season.

Leach has been regarded as a National League star for several years. He went from Waterloo, Ia., to the Phillies, in 1923, but was sent to Harrisburg in the New York-Pennsylvania League for further seasoning in 1924.

Returning to Philadelphia the next season, he has been one of the club's most consistent performers.

Race Horse Kicked At Post, Bettors Sue Officials

PARIS, Oct. 30.—(AP.)—Is a horse injured at the post and incapacitated, unable to run, to be considered as "left at the post" and all bets stand or should the money be refunded?

Such is the racing query which French courts will have to decide.

Kicked at the barrier by a crazy horse at Longchamp, Orosmade, a top-heavy favorite in a handicap race, was so severely cut in one of the forelegs that he was unable to start when the barrier was sprung.

The rules of French racing are that "once a horse has been under the orders of the starter" he is considered as having started and no money is refunded.

A group of bettors formed a syndicate and is suing the Longchamp officials for a refund.

McGraw Grabs Edge

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

IN swapping Frank O'Doul for Fred Leach yesterday, Manager McGraw of the Giants apparently moved to get the bulge on all competitors in the chase for the 1929 flag.

Leach appears to have been the best leftfielder in the National League this year, the Quaker star playing that pasture with just as much cleverness as he displayed in the middle garden.

The Pirates dickered for Leach some time ago, but Burt Shotton, Quaker pilot, wanted Fred Brickell included in the deal and his demand did not fit well into the Pittsburgh scheme.

Leachs' all-around play of last year should not be judged as his top form. Put him with a flag contender and he probably would be bad news for every righthand pitcher in the league, as well as for some of the southpaws.

NEW PLAYER FAST

Fred has some of the motions of the one and only George Burns, who was McGraw's stellar left gardener over a long span of years. There has been nobody to equal George since he hung up his uniform.

The new Giant is fairly fast; he hits the ball hard and far, he is a ball hawk and he owns a fine throwing arm.

O'Doul, on the other hand, is not a first-class pasture man; Frank is better than some of the others but he will not be as sure on defense as the athlete for whom he is traded.

The home-run king of the Coast League had the misfortune of breaking a leg at the beginning of the 1928 race. Had he been in good health he might have been up with the other home-run sockers of the league.

The promotion that comes to Leach should have the effect of brightening his play. It is altogether possible that he was a bit disappointed when he wasn't traded after all the talk about a deal that would have sent him to the Buccos.

Chillysauce

CHICAGO is having a tough time getting a pennant, despite the view of the skeptics who boastfully informed you that the Cubs would win a year ago owing to the extra seats put in the park.

Wrigley would trade his double-mint twins and a few of his summer and winter homes for a flag. The owner of the Bears is making a new fortune each year with his club, but he won't be satisfied until he cops.

The acquisition of Hornsby would not insure a pennant by any means. Another infielder with a punch at the plate could be used by Marse Joe of Louisville.

DUKES GIVEN REST

By JESS CARVER.

LIFE, to the Pitt football team, is just one tough quarterback after the other.

Today the Pitt Panthers will start heavy drill in preparation for the Syracuse battle in the Stadium on Saturday. Syracuse, fairly heavy and with a hard-hitting set of backs, is led by a quarterback who is probably the equal of Howard Harpster, of Carnegie Tech. In Harold Baysinger the Orange expect to forward pass Pitt to another defeat.

Baysinger is rated one of the leading backfield men of the year. He was good enough in 1927, his first varsity year, to rate all-America selection on numerous teams. He is a passer, punter and ball carrier extraordinary. He is leading a team tough enough to travel out to Nebraska and hold the husky Cornhusker team to a 7-6 score, which outplayed the Huskers for the greater portion of the game.

Coach Jock Sutherland gave the battered Panthers a day off yesterday, but will order a fairly strenuous session for today. Particular attention is to be paid to the aerial defense, as it was a completed forward pass that gave the Tartans their triumph last Saturday. Syracuse completed 18 out of 24 heaves against Nebraska.

DUKES FACE TITANS

Duquesne also rested yesterday following the tough game with Geneva at Beaver Falls. Today Coaches Layden and Reagan will start work for the Westminster contest, scheduled for the Bluff gridiron on Saturday. The game is another Conference battle and is regarded as a highly important one at Duquesne. Westminster is in second place in the Conference rating, having toppled Thiel las week.

The Duquesne season is far from ruined as a result of the Geneva defeat. Only the one game has been lost, and the force of the blow has been greatly lessened by the triumph scored over Wash-Jeff. If Westminster, Waynesburg and Thiel can be taken, Duquesne will have a record of eight games won and one lost. And that, my friends, will be the equal of any other record hung up in these parts this season. Wait and see.

Layden has fond hopes of being able to use Burns against Westminster this week. Doog was hurt in the Wash-Jeff game and had to sit idle on the bench while his mates were battling both Loyola University and Geneva. In as much as he is a splendid ball carrier, his presence in the lineup against Geneva might possibly have swayed the verdict Duquesneward.

STATE PLAYS IRISH

While the Pitt-Syracuse game leads the local card for the coming week, Penn State's battle with Notre Dame is going to attract much attention in the district. Folks will be wishing to get a local line on the Irish so as to have some basis for comparison between Rockne's charges and Carnegie Tech.

Wash-Jeff travels again, having Herb McCracken's Lafayette Maroon to get past at Philadelphia. The Maroons, walloped unmercifully by West Virginia last Saturday, will be a bitter foe this week-end. Wash-Jeff came out of the Fordham clash in poor physical condition. It is hoped, however, that the day of rest granted Douds and Capt. Aschman will enable those stars to play against Lafayette.

DIEGEL WOULD PLAY HAGEN FOR TITLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(INS.)—Leo Diegel, P. G. A. champion, may play the great Walter Hagen on California links soon for the "unofficial" world championship which Hagen won by defeating Johnny Farrell, open golf champion, in a series of special matches recently. Before leaving for Detroit today Diegel issued a challenge to Hagen for a series of matches, to be played in California.

Diegel asserted that his triumphs in the Canadian Open and P. G. A. tournaments entitled him to consideration as Hagen's leading "challenger."

N. B. A. to Ask Pennsylvania To Join

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—(AP.)—A campaign to draw non-member state commissions with legalized boxing into the National Boxing Association has been started by Paul Prehn, newly-elected president of the national organization.

Under his plan, each state commission which is a member of the N. B. A. will communicate with the non-members, New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, California, Wyoming, Idaho and South Dakota, urging them to join.

"If it is impossible for these states to come in," Prehn said, "the Illinois commission then will attempt to arrange a working agreement whereby suspensions and other rulings will be respected by Illinois and the state where the agreement is made. If this can be accomplished, the ring game will be advanced considerably."

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 30.—(AP.)—George T. Dunlap, Jr., of New York, won the Princeton University golf championship yesterday, defeating Herbert W. Koehn, Jr., of Rosemont, Pa., 1 up, in the final of the fall tournament.

COTTON QUITS HOLDOUTS

By CARL W. SHATTO.

ANOTHER name was erased from the list of Pittsburgh hockey club holdouts this morning when Harold Cotton, star wingman, attached his signature to a 1928-29 contract. Bert McCaffery, defense man, reached an agreement with the management a few days ago and signed for the new season.

Hib Milks, center; Harold Darragh, wing, and Roy Worters, goal, remain on the holdout list, but they must sign today or stand suspended. They are to meet with Benny Leonard, new owner of the local franchise, after today's workout, and indications are that all difficulties will be adjusted at this showdown conference. Despite the fact that the club lost more than $30,000 last season, Leonard has offered Milks, Darragh and Worters substantial salary increases. He feels that he can make no further concessions, and will regard the players in question as out for the season if they do not come into the fold today.

Odie Cleghorn, manager of the Pirates, is confident that the holdout situation is not as grave as it appears. In discussing the early activities of the club today, Odie expressed confidence that there would be no holdouts after this afternoon's conference. Cleghorn also expressed satisfaction over the showing of the players in the early drills.

Leonard is to leave for New York immediately after the conference with the players late today, but will return within a few days to assist in completing arrangements for the opening of the league season, on November 15.

LONG'S SPORT COMMENT

in huge quantities, are Alec Fox and Albert Dimeolo, Pitt guards. Each weighing just over 170 pounds, the lightest guards on a Pitt varsity in years, they had to take the brunt of a terrific pounding, play after play, from men weighing from 30 to 60 pounds more than themselves, and they stood up to it in magnificent fashion throughout. It may fairly be said that the Pitt line outplayed its heavier opponents—where is there a better line coach than Sutherland?—and no small part of the glory for such a feat redounds to these "pony" guards. And Charley Tully, presumed the weak spot in the Panther forward wall, held his own in stellar fashion, too.

PITT players think Carnegie Tech immeasurably stronger than West Virginia, the only other major opponent the Panthers have met to date. Considering that Pitt made 15 earned first downs to three against the Mountaineers, who won by the singlehanded achievement of Bartrug in intercepting a pass and running it back to the goal line, this is not strange, for the Skibos, playing against a much more cohesive and truly inspired Pitt team than the West Virginians faced, kept the Blue and Gold on the anxious seat every minute.

It is the concensus of opinion on the Pitt campus and in the Panther squad that the friendly enemies from "The Hollow" have better than an even chance to down Georgetown and Notre Dame and are at least an even bet against the mastodonic New York University outfit.

YOU can see why so many young fellows are attracted to the professional boxing game when you consider the case of Roberto Roberti, the Italian heavyweight. For Roberti, it proved an amazingly short road to riches far beyond his fondest dreams.

Roberto Roberti

Only 14 months ago, Roberti borrowed $2,500 to come to this country, and the height of his ambition was to clear for himself in the fistic sport the sum of $5,000, on which he figured he could subsist to a ripe old age in his native land.

ACCORDING to Wilbur Wood, Roberti offered to hire himself out to Promoter Humber J. Fugazy for the remainder of his fighting days for $7,500 and living expenses. That would be enough, he reasoned, to enable him to pay off his debts and leave him the desired stake of $5,000. Fortunately for the Italian heavyweight, no such contract was drawn and he was allowed to plug along on his own hook, getting what he could from fight to fight. The other day Roberti sailed for Italy on the steamer Majestic for a few months' rest. He was attired in the height of fashion, occupied an expensive suite, and carried among a bunch of interest-paying bonds, the deed for a home recently purchased in Roselle Park, N. J. In 22 fights here in 14 months, the Italian earned something like $38,000. And he's coming back for more when his cracked ribs have mended.

ONE of the most promising fighters of three decades ago in this district passed in the death of Jack Kinlow, of McKeesport. He cleaned up in the 115-pound division as an amateur in the 90's in such style that he was looked upon as a possible coming champion when he went East and turned professional.

KINLOW never reached the championship goal predicted for him by many good judges, but for a long time he was active in the front ranks of the featherweight class, fighting Oscar and Eddie Gardner and many other topnotchers. His 15-round battle with Jack McClelland in Homestead early in 1898, in which McClelland was given the decision by Referee Jack Bennett, attracted more attention than any featherweight match staged around here in those days. His bouts with Yock Henniger and Tommy Mitchell in the West End also were big numbers in Western Pennsylvania competition at that time.

Jake Schaefer

THE idea of covering the diamonds on billiard tables for three-cushion matches has been revived by a challenge issued by Young Jake Schaefer to the winner of the Gus Copulos-Otto Reiselt match of 600 points now in progress in New York.

Schaefer, former balkline champion, says that balkline players depend upon their natural english to make shots, whereas three-cushion players use the diamond or mechanical system to score points.

BOTH Reiselt and Copulos have consented to meet Schaefer under such conditions, though covering the diamonds has been considered unfair to the three-cushion players who have become accustomed to the diamond system. It is contended that the diamonds are a part of the equipment, just as much as the cloth and the rubber on a table, and that it would not be a genuine billiard match if they were removed. Angle men point out that the diamonds always have been there, and say it is unfortunate that the balkline players have been unable to find use for them.

CANZONERI WINS

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(INS.)—Tony Canzoneri, former featherweight chamuion, today entertained visions of reaching the summit of the comeback trail as a result of his victory over Gaston Charles, clever French boxer, in a 10-round bout here last night. A rally in the last round gave Tony the nod.

FIGHT

a good catcher, who couldn't dent a pane of glass with his own punches, took a shellacking from the start and was trying to stick the distance. He stood up under Profio's best punches and went down numerous times from shoves and rolling falls and always disdained to take counts. He was game to a fault, but was outclassed, and, if Profio had been himself, the finish would have come in short order.

RANDALL STOPS POLO

Marco Polo, of the North Side, was counted out after 2 minutes and 54 seconds of the second round of his scheduled four-round bout with Tiger Joe Randall, Negro welter of Elizabeth. He was no match for the elusive, body-smashing Randall and was down twice in the first round, claiming fouls and getting up at counts of six and eight, and then, finding he couldn't take the easy way out in that manner, began to fight. He caught Randall with a left to the jaw and spilled that surprised worthy for a count of three just before the bell rang. Randall proceeded to finish it up in the second round. He kept after Polo's weak spot, his body, and, in his anxiety, twice hit the top of the cup with a thud and each time Polo tried to claim the fight on a foul. Then Marco was sent down for four with a blow along the ropes and for eight from another body smash. Finally Randall hit him on the chest with a right swing and he again went down claiming a foul and this time remained there for the count. Polo is a southpaw. A southpaw is correct. Randall scaled 142 pounds, and Polo 140.

Dave McConnell, of the North Side, Luke Carney's Irish lightweight, recovered from a momentary knockdown from a right to the jaw that rendered him groggy late in the first round after he had been leading up to that point and came back to hand Bob Collera, of Beechview, a tasty trimming in the four-round opener. With his educated left hand, he drew claret galore from Collera's nose and mouth and had him painted like an Indian throughout the last three rounds. Both scaled 143 pounds.

Al Grayber and Joe Keally alternated as referees and judges, with Jock Simco sitting in the other judge's chair. A. C. Couch was timekeeper. The house filled up fairly well after a poor early gathering.

RESIN DUST

There will be no show at Motor Square next week on account of election.

Terry Lingo wants to fight Johnny Mellow again. He defeated Mellow at Louisville and then lost to him recently at McKeesport. He says he fought the latter bout with a badly bruised knuckle on his left hand that prevented him from doing his best fighting. He now is under the management of Charley Jones, of Louisville, and formerly of McKeesport.

Leo Clements, former local amateur heavyweight, who now resides in Cleveland, will box Eddie Simms in a return bout topping an amateur card in the Public Hall annex, Cleveland, Friday night.

Billy Wallace, of Cleveland, boxes Bruce Flowers, Negro lightweight of New York, at Cleveland Wednesday night of next week.

Jackie Fields and Sergt. Sammy Baker clash in an important welterweight elimination battle in Los Angeles tonight. Fields recently all but knocked out Young Jack Thompson, knockerout of Joe Dundee, the champion.

Dominick Profio meets Walter O'Keefe in a six-round bout at East Liverpool, O., next Monday night. Midget Mike Moran, of Mt. Washington, boxes Johnny Wilde, of Canton, in the main bout.

Johnny Gordon, of Philadelphia, will box Young Jack Thompson at Chicago, tomorrow night, taking the place of Bobby Tracey, of Buffalo, who has an injured hand.

Cuddy DeMarco and Johnny Hayes, of Philadelphia, have been matched for the 10-round main bout at McKeesport, Thursday night of next week. Hayes held Cuddy to a draw in Philadelphia more than a year ago.

Otis Gardner, who was knocked out by Jimmy Slattery in two rounds at Buffalo last night, was advertised as a Pittsburgher.

Ace Hudkins and Rene DeVos have been matched for Madison Square Garden, New York, December 10. Joe Glick and Baby Joe Gans will meet in the same ring November 30.

But Dick never mailed that letter. He was afraid to. He knew that his constant sense of stuffiness meant bad physical condition . . . and that poisons bottled up in the system undermined efficiency. That he never quite measured up to what was expected of him! Yet he'd tried ordinary laxatives; slow-acting health foods—cathartics that wracked the system . . .

The Philly wrecker knows how to tear down a team; the athletes of the league wish he would tear down his park.

MEN WHO SMOKE AND GUARD THEIR HEALTH, SMOKE CIGARS

100% of the Doctors interviewed on the Staff of St. Luke's Hospital, New York—are Cigar Smokers

LA PALINA
Senators

OF the doctors interviewed on the staff of this leading hospital—all smoked cigars. There can be no more conclusive testimony to the smoking preferences of men whose lives are dedicated to the preservation of health, and whose professional duties demand the physical fitness of the athlete and the mental alertness of the scientist.

Cigar smoking cannot be a mere nervous habit. In the slow, leisured smoking of the cigar is the taste, the comfort and the solace that are tobacco's greatest gifts to man. One cigar is not lighted from the end of another, nervously and hurriedly. The most taxing of duties find cigar smokers keen and alert after hours of unflagging concentration.

The full, rich flavor of the cigar is satisfying to the taste of most smokers—without inhaling. Observation proves that few ever inhale.

Throat troubles that are so prevalent amongst smokers can be attributed to the scorching, drying effect of hot tobacco smoke. In the words of a celebrated New York throat specialist:

"Cigar smoke is cool. A cigar is smoked leisurely, and since no quick-burning foreign substance is used for wrapper, the tobacco burns slowly and is further cooled and filtered as it is drawn through the body of the cigar. So a cigar has no tendency to create annoying throat conditions.

Make this test for a week—smoke cigars exclusively and you will find yourself feeling better, with no cough or throat irritation, improved nerves, increased vitality and less of that tired feeling.

To really test cigars with justice to yourself and to cigars, we suggest the test be made with La Palinas. Since they are America's largest selling high grade cigar—over a million a day—you can smoke them, confident that they will please you.

The sensational success of La Palina results from an exclusive and secret blend which combines for the first time in one cigar an extreme mildness with a rare richness of both taste and fragrance.

Human Engineering Edison Is Needed: Schwab's Vision

By B. C. FORBES

Do we ever stop to think of how much we owe to others, how much we owe to progressive business men who make possible the activities of a constantly growing number of scientific, engineering, chemical and other research workers?

More and more of this country's new enrichments of life, new inventions, new products, new appliances, new comforts, new conveniences, new luxuries have their concention and birth in the laboratories of industrial corporations.

Charles M. Schwab believes that the day of the isolated inventor or scientist, playing a lone hand, is passing and that in these fields, as all through our economic life, co-operation and organization and large-scale operation will hereafter be the rule.

"OFF with the old, on with the new!" is the battle cry of industry, declares Mr. Schwab. Discussing what we owe to others, to research workers, to progressive organizations supporting and encouraging such workers, the former "boy president" of the United States Steel Corporation and now one of the steel industry's veterans, observed:

"Consider the case of shipbuilding. The hull of a ship reminds us of the wealth of research that has been expended in metallurgical laboratories on the qualities of steel. Inside the hull the engines, whether they be turbines, reciprocating or internal combustion, Diesel, or otherwise, exemplify a range of study in almost every phase of physical and chemical science, requiring the use of every kind of instrument, the development of which is a craft by itself.

"And then the screw of the ship, with its unique design, causes us to think of the curious and efficient thrust block by which the force of the screw exerts its influence upon the ship, a plan based on Michell's study into the physical properties of liquids.

"WE look up and see the wireless device, also an offspring of the physical laboratory. The sounding apparatus is based on the designs of Lord Kelvin. A study of the law of acoustics have enabled ships to utilize apparatus for establishing the depth of water by echo. The ships carry refrigerating apparatus, recalling the investigations into the production of cold, again by students of science. Go through the whole ship and you will find that it is linked by innumerable ties to the research in the laboratories.

"The same is to be said for the motor industry, the aeroplane, the chemical industry, the electrical industry. New applications of scientific knowledge, new ideas, new process, new machines, must always be in preparation."

"TOUCHING upon the future, Mr. Schwab remarked "In future pioneering will be done by great groups of trained men utilizing each other's scientific knowledge, rather than so much by the individual as has been the case in the past, when so often an invention was the result of a lucky chance or a happy idea.

"We saw in the great war that the era of individual heroes and even of individual generals capable of daring deeds in battle, was replaced by vast organizations moving over wide fronts. Will it not be so in the future development of industry and material progress?

"Society is today improving by organization and co-operation among its members."

IS American industry devoting as much time to improving the lot of its workers as it is to improving its efficiency and its products? Invention, science, business, industry all exist—or should exist for man.

Says Mr. Schwab on this point: "There has been extraordinary development in the production and distribution of goods, conveniences and material ideas, but we have not yet made the same progress in human engineering. Here, again, it is doubtful if any one individual will be the future pioneer. The laboratory studies of psychology, researches into industrial relations being carried on at innumerable points, are placing at the disposal of all of us information which constitutes a new basis upon which we may move forward.

"The happiest feature of this situation is the co-operation which exists in this country today between the leaders of industry and the leaders of labor. We believe in one another, and on the basis of that mutual faith we shall be able to move forward into a higher range of living."

LET us pray for the advent of an Edison of human engineering!

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Bearish crop estimates, especially from Argentina and Australia, did much today to pull wheat values down. The two leading southern hemisphere wheat producing countries were unofficially credited with a probable minimum yield of 288,000,000 bushels, based on present conditions, as against 244,000,000 bushels actually shipped so far this season. In addition, Kansas winter wheat seeding was reported today as practically completed with recent rains, just what was required for the crop.

Wheat closed weak 1@1⅛c net lower; corn ¼@⅜c off, oats ⅛@¼c down and provisions unchanged to a setback of 45c.

According to estimates current today, the world crop of wheat aggregates 4,104,000,000 bushels, compared with 3,801,000,000 bushels in 1927. However, the yield of other cereals in Europe is smaller, and therefore increased quantities of wheat are likely to be imported than last year. The total European requirements of wheat, nevertheless, are still figured at 824,000,000 bushels, about 300,000,000 bushels under the available surplus. Comparative steadiness of Liverpool wheat quotations today on the other hand helped to induce some strength at times in wheat at Chicago, especially after downturns. In various quarters the action of the Liverpool market was ascribed to buying orders from America, but it was also pointed out that Liverpool stocks of wheat are decreasing. Another steadying influence was talk from some trade leaders that it is advisable to treat the wheat market now as a trading affair until after election.

Steel

By River and Rail

TO Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation belongs the credit for revival of interest in the great possibilities of river transportation.

The World War brought it on. Railroads were choked with traffic, shippers were at their wits' end. In October, 1921, Jones & Laughlin started a shipment of steel products on a 2,000-mile voyage down the Ohio River on nine huge barges. It was an experiment to determine the feasibility of regularly established river delivery service. All down the valley of the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, the great steel tow was hailed as the augury of a new era in transportation. And such it turned out to be.

Today, seven years after that first river shipment of steel, this method of transportation is in common use by practically all the steel companies of the Pittsburgh District, resulting in appreciable savings in distribution costs in making deliveries to steel consumers in nearly every state west of Pittsburgh. Trans-shipment points have been established at Cincinnati, Louisville, Evansville, Cairo, St. Louis and Memphis, where the steel is transferred to freight cars and carried the remainder of the journey by rail. At New Orleans, the steel is trans-shipped to ocean-going vessels for export.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation and its predecessor, Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, have maintained an account at the Mellon National Bank for almost a quarter of a century.

ANNOUNCE NEW INVESTMENT CONCERN

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE formation of an international investment corporation, which will have one of the largest initial capital structures of any yet organized in the United States, was announced today coincident with an offering of $50,000,000 of its first preferred stock by Dillon, Read & Co.

The new company will be known as the United States and International Securities Corporation and will include among its directors Walter P. Chrysler, president of the Chrysler Corporation; Clarence Dillon, head of Dillon, Read & Co.; Charles Hayden, of Hayden, Stone & Co.; Dean Mathey, of Dillon, Read & Co.; S. Z. Mitchell, president of the Electric Bond and Share Company; Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison Company and the Brooklyn Edison Company; George M. Moffett, vice president of the Corn Products Refining Company, and Ernest B. Tracy, president of the United States and Foreign Securities Corporation.

EACH share of the offering of $5 cumulative first preferred stock at $100 a share will carry one share of common stock and in addition will carry a subscription warrant entitling the holder to subscribe for one additional share of common at $25 a share.

In addition to the preferred stock, the company will have outstanding 100,000 shares of second preferred, which have been purchased for $10,000,000 cash by the United States and Foreign Securities Corporation and certain of the directors, and 2,500,000 shares of no-par common stock out of an authorized issue of 3,000,000 shares.

The management will be closely affiliated with that of the United States and Foreign Securities Corporation. Under the new corporation's Maryland charter it will be empowered to buy, sell, underwrite and offer both American and foreign securities. It will also be authorized to take part in the organization, reorganization and operation of corporations.

THE oil companies had a hard time making ends meet in 1927, but in spite of a decline in the price of oil from $2.25 a barrel in November, 1925, to about $1.30 a barrel in March, 1926, with but little variation since until a short time ago, interest on 44 bond issues of oil companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange was earned over three and three-quarters times, after deducting, with a few exceptions, depreciation and depletion.

An analysis made by Kelley, Converse & Co. shows that of the 44 listed issues only three failed to show interest charges fully earned in 1927. Interest could not be determined in the case of four of the issues. The total outstanding bonds of the three issues on which interest was not earned aggregated only $17,100,000, compared with the total listing of $834,500,000 of oil bonds.

"THE typical oil company bond matures in 10 years, bears an average coupon of 5¾ per cent, is outstanding in the amount of $19,000,000, is quoted at 102¼ to yield 5.38 per cent and is callable at 103.6 per cent," says the survey.

"Co-operative measures toward restricting production have materially improved the status of the industry as a whole. Approximately 75 per cent of the country's production is committed to a carefully worked out scheme of curtailment, and, temporarily at least, the 1927 overproduction period is ended. As a result, 1928 profits so far reported show distinct improvement. Sentiment has taken a more optimistic turn, and oil company securities have been finding favor in the expectation of a good 1928 showing."

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

"Tuesday Reaction" Mild.

The usual reactionary tendency witnessed on every Tuesday for the past several weeks made its appearance again today, but there were no sharp breaks in the market, nor was their enough selling to cause anything like the break the list suffered last Friday. Several noticeably strong spots in the early market encouraged the trading element, and while many of them were out of their stocks in anticipation of a reaction, or were ready to sell quickly if the list gave signs of a wide recession, there was no dumping of stocks such as has occurred on several occasions recently. American Locomotive was one of the early features reflecting the increasing tendency of the railroads to place orders for motive power and rolling stock. Supplementing the order for 20 engines given to American Locomotive Saturday, the D., L. & W. today placed an order with Locomotive's subsidiary, American Car and Foundry, for 100 automobile cars. Both stocks responded to the news. Oils, both on the curb and the "big board," were strong, and the radio stocks were in good demand. Selected rails reflected further accumulation, but buyers did not appear inclined to reach up for stocks. The demand, however, was right under the market and slight recessions uncovered the buying orders.

Street Expects Easier Money.

Call money continued firm today at the opening rate of 7½ per cent, as against yesterday's quotations of 7½ on the opening and 8 later. Firmness in money just now is due to the usual November 1 shifting of balances. There is no especially great demand for funds in any section nor in any particular line of business. On the contrary, commercial demand for funds has fallen off sharply. Banks are thought to have overestimated autumn demand at the interior. Time money shows an easier tone, although still quoted 6⅞ to 7 per cent for short dates and 6¾ per cent for longer maturities. Bank acceptance rates are reduced ⅛ of 1 per cent on 180-day bills to yield the buyer 4¾ per cent. This foreshadows a general reduction in money rates. After a week from today the Street expects a noticeable decline in both call and time money, although rates will still continue relatively firm.

Business Sound—Coolidge.

General business conditions in the United States are remarkably strong and better than a year ago, according to advices to President Coolidge. The continuance of this improved business will increase governmental receipts, and it is expected to be a large factor in the prevention of the estimated deficit for th fiscal year of 1928. The President feels that business must be on a sound foundation, not to be hurt by the present presidential campaign.

Export Copper 16½ cents.

The price of copper for export has been advanced from 16 to 16½c a pound C. I. F. European ports. Directors of Copper Exports, Inc., in making the announcement, stated that in the opinion of its member producers and refiners, consumers are buying in excess of actual requirements, thereby creating the danger of a runaway market. They express the opinion that increased mine production (September 7,000 tons over August, and 20,000 tons over January) will be sufficient to satisfy any reasonable demand. "Unfilled orders on the books of producers and refiners, as shown by available statistics," the statement added, "were 353,000 tons at the end of September as compared with 257,000 at the end of August and have undoubtedly been further increased during this month. It is believed that if buyers would confine their purchases to actual requirements the situation should be relieved by increased mine production coming upon the market."

Heavy Demand for Metal.

Buying of copper metal continued good at New York and abroad today. Foreign sales Monday were 12,000,000 pounds, forcing an advance into line with domestic at 16½ cents a pound, c. i. f. European base ports. Producers have begun to sell February deliveries and are trying to foster more orderly buying by ultimate consumers in the hope of preventing a further advance in price. Despite their efforts it is not improbable that the price will have to advance another ¼ of a cent a pound the coming week.

D., L. & W. Orders Cars.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company has ordered 100 automobile cars from the American Car and Foundry Company. The road recently ordered 20 engines from the American Locomotive Company, involving $1,700,000.

Warns of Reactions.

From time to time there has been much comment over the fact that the current bull market has been in progress for several years. This is not unusual when it is considered that fundamental and business conditions favored an advancing trend and aided in causing the great growth of public participation which has been such an important factor in the past six or eight months. A leading market observer views last Friday's sharp reaction in the light of a warning. He expresses the opinion that rallies and reactions are likely to develop from time to time, but downward movements similar to that of last Friday must be expected before there has been a full-fledged correction of the technical structure. This observer has been favoring a policy of reducing long commitments so that accounts will be in a position to take advantage of another sharp break when it comes.

Construction contracts awarded in 37 states east of the Rocky mountains during the week ended October 26 totaled $139,520,000, F. W. Dodge Corporation reported today. This is 3 per cent above the average attained since the first of the year and is the second successive week in which an increase was maintained over the previous week. Standard Oil of Indiana.

Oil circles are disposed to credit reports that Standard Oil Company of Indiana may increase its extra dividend soon. Such a move, it is contended, is warranted by largely increased earnings this year. Indiana for some time has been paying 62½ cents regular and 25 cents extra quarterly. The expected change is that the extra will be made 50 cents, which would bring total annual payments to $4.60 a share, against the present $3.50. Another forecast regarding Indiana is that eventually it may submit an offer for the outstanding stock of Pan American Petroleum and Transport Company. Through its ownership of practically all the stock of Pan American Eastern Company, Indiana controls 51% of the voting stock of Pan American Petroleum and Transport. A likely future development is that eventually it will undertake to acquire the balance of the voting stock and possible the nonvoting stock of the Pan American company. It is pointed out that Indiana has sufficient of its own stock unissued to take care of such a proposition through an exchange of securities.

Kolster Radio.

Kolster Radio has been one of the strongest features on the stock exchange in recent sessions. The stock has responded to buying with new high records, and offerings have been comparatively small during the upturns. Most of the buyers have been large wire houses, representing interests in the Middle Western cities, with a particularly good demand from the Pacific coast. This buying has been viewed as significant. Kolster is greatly enlarging its eastern plant facilities to keep abreast of the increasing demand for its products. At Palo Alto, California, the company will continue its major research operations under the direction of Dr. Kolster. Forty radio engineers are employed there in the development of radio receivers and loud speakers, electric phonographs for Columbia Phonograph Company and communication equipment.

Moran Heads Marland Oil.

Election of Daniel J. Moran as president of the Marland Oil Company of Ponca City, Okla., to succeed E. W. Marland, was announced by Mr. Marland at the close of a directors' meeting yesterday. Mr. Marland said he had resigned because he no longer was able to give as close attention to the affairs of the company as he did in the past, but will remain a member of the board of directors and of the company's executive committee.

Mr. Moran, who for 20 years has been associated with the Texas company, has resigned as vice president and as a director of that company and will take over his new duties November 1. He has been elected a director and member of the executive committee, succeeding Vice President W. H. McFadden, whose resignation also was announced.

The Marland company, a complete oil unit and one of the leaders of the independent group, was incorporated in Delaware in 1920 as a holding company for oil, gas, pipe and other units situated in Oklahoma, California, Texas, Colorado, Mexico, London, England and Canada. It has extensive acreage holdings in the mid-continent field, Mexico, Western Canada and Texas, Louisiana, California, Colorado and adjacent states. Mechanical facilities include a large refinery and lubricating oil plant at Ponca City, Okla., as well as casing-head gasoline plants, tank cars, distributing and filling stations, storage tanks and oil and gas lines.

Net crude oil production last year was in excess of 15,000,000 barrels, while total sales of crude and refined products were about 25,600,000 barrels. Unmined oil reserves are estimated at 300,000,000 barrels.

HOLD 5 IN FATAL STRIKE FIGHT

Charged with manslaughter in the death of Louis A. Davis, who was fatally injured in a fight precipitated by a coal strike argument, early Monday at Gallatin, five men were lodged in the county jail today. They are Americo Fellipelli, Charles Carney, John Kozon, Joseph Newman and Paul Partavans, all of Gallatin.

According to County Detective James Reddington all five of the men admitted participating in the fight. The brawl is alleged to have started when the dead man called Carney a "scab."

STOCKS QUIET DOWN, TURN IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP.)—Speculation quieted down considerably in today's stock market, with price movements showing more irregularity. Prices rallied at the opening, turned reactionary before midday when heavy selling developed in some of the recent favorites and then pointed upward again in the early afternoon. Extensive readjustment of speculative accounts for the mixed price movement, with commission house selling rather heavy on fears of a pre-election reaction.

Call money renewed at 7½ per cent, and was in fairly plentiful supply despite the calling of about $15,000,000 in bank loans. Heavy month-end requirements, including the distribution of about $300,000,000 in interest and dividend requirements, is expected to keep rates fairly high for the remainder of the week, but an easier undertone is looked for next week. Fresh imports of gold and a reduction of ⅛ of 1 per cent on 180-day bankers' acceptances were regarded as bullish on the monetary outlook.

In an effort to maintain bullish enthusiasm, pools were bringing forward a number of recently neglected issues, including the railroad equipments. International Nickel was an outstanding strong spot all day, soaring more than 8 points on buying presumably influenced by the recapitalization plan. Kolster Radio was taken in large blocks at advancing prices.

Some selling developed in the rubber shares as a result of the reported cut in tire prices, Goodyear falling back more than 3 points. Kelly-Springfield was active and strong on reports that powerful automobile interests had acquired a large block of the stock.

Abitibi Power sank 4 points to a new 1928 low at 37 and rather substantial losses were recorded by Victor Talking Machine, Wright Aeronautical, Texas Pacific, American Machine & Foundry, Du Pont American International, Murray, Simmons Corporation and Motor products.

MERGER RUMOR SENDS CAN STOCKS TO RECORD

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 30.—Rumors of the sale of Wheeling Can, a subsidiary of the Wheeling Steel Corporation, to the Continental Can Company, of New York, caused Wheeling Steel Corporation stock to soar to 77½ points, a new high mark for all time. I. M. Scott, president of Wheeling Steel, would neither confirm nor deny the deal, which, it is reported, will involve $5,000,000. Directors of Wheeling Steel will hold their quarterly meeting tomorrow.

LOCAL LIST IGNORES IRREGULARITY IN N. Y.

Prices were firm and the volume of trading was fairly large on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. The list here maintained an orderly demeanor in the face of a rather erratic market in New York.

The new Pittsburgh Plate Glass shares, representing a four-for-one exchange of the old $100 par stock, came into the market for the first time today, the opening being at $70 a share. A few odd lots of the issue changed hands at that figure. The price represented a slight gain over the last previous quotation on the old stock, which sold yesterday at 278. In addition to the split-up of the Plate Glass shares, the company will also pay a 10 per cent stock dividend on the new issue at the end of next month. Stockholders of record November 15 will receive the stock dividend.

Lone Star Gas, which held the leadership of the local market yesterday, made further slight progress in the early dealings today, but failed to show any of the speed witnessed in the first hour yesterday. The current strength in Lone Star is based on expanded earnings due to weather conditions favorable to sales and steady operations.

Several officials of the Lone Star company were in the city today and it was reported that important conferences were scheduled. No news reached the street during business, however, and the stock held within narrow range limits right up to the close.

National Fireproofing preferred was firm today, but only a small amount of the stock changed hands. The price held around 21, but there was not much stock available at that level.

Irregular fluctuations were noted in some of the miscellaneous specialties. May Drug slipped off a point to 27 and Pittsburgh Steel Foundry was down a fraction at 32. Carnegie Metals was also down fractionally, but the stock was quiet.

Blaw Knox encountered a strong demand in the late market and sold up several points above the previous close. Dividends meeting on Blaw Knox is several weeks in the future and in the absence of this as an influence in the current buying, the Street believed that the move represents expectations of a consolidation with other industrials in which the Blaw Knox shareholders will fare well.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 5 to 9 points and eased off during the early trading under realizing or reselling by yesterday's buyers who were influenced by the failure of early weather reports to mention any frost in the south and relatively easy late cables from Liverpool. There was also some selling for southern account on the decline which carried prices off to about 19.50 for December and 19.35 for May, or 12 to 18 points below yesterday's closing quotations by the end of the first half hour. Private cables said that hedging and Bombay liquidation had been absorbed by trade calling and continental buying in the Liverpool market and reported an improved cloth demand from India, with yarn sales equal to production.

EIGHT NURSES TO GRADUATE

Eight young women graduates of the Braddock General Hospital will receive their diplomas tonight in the Carnegie Library, having completed the course in nursing.

An address to the class will be delivered by Judge Frank P. Patterson, of the Common Pleas Court. Diplomas will be presented by A. L. Lipsky, member of the training school committee of the hospital.

Following the graduation exercises members of the class will be honor guests at a reception in the nurses' home of the hospital. The dinner usually given by the hospital to its graduating class will be dispensed with this year, in lieu of which the board of directors will send the class to the annual Halloween party of the Nurses' Club at the William Penn Hotel.

SECOND (a) In consideration of the above vacations the Company shall dedicate for street purposes the land required to widen Pike street between Twelfth street and Twenty-first street, in accordance with the following specifications: The Southeasterly line of Pike street as widened, from the Northeasterly line of Eleventh street to the Southwesterly line of Twenty-first street, shall remain as at present, except that the Company shall dedicate to the City a triangular strip of ground at the Southeasterly corner of Pike street and Twelfth street fronting a distance of Ten (10) feet on Twelfth street and extending a distance of Fifty-one (51) feet, more or less, to the Southeasterly line of Pike street at a point about Fifty (50) feet East of Twelfth street. The Northwesterly line of Pike street between Eleventh street and Twelfth street shall remain as at present. The Northwesterly line of Pike street as widened is described as beginning at a point on the Northeasterly line of Twelfth street; thence Northeastwardly, parallel to and Sixty (60) feet from the Southeasterly line of Pike street as above described, to a point One Hundred Twenty (120) feet from the Southwesterly line of Twenty-first street; thence continuing Northeastwardly to a point in the Southwesterly line of Twenty-first street at a right angle distance of Eighty (80) feet Northwestwardly from the Southwest corner of Pike street and Twenty-first street, as shown on Exhibit "A"-1; provided that no sidewalk shall be constructed on the strip of land dedicated to public use on the Northerly side of Pike street; and provided further that the Company shall not be assessed nor required to pay any sum or sums of money whatsoever for the widening, change of grade, or cost of the paving of said Pike street as widened.

(b) In consideration of the above vacations the Company shall dedicate for street purposes the land required to widen Twenty-first street between Smallman street and Railroad street to a width of Eighty (80) feet, the said widening to be on the easterly side thereof, and to widen Twenty-third street from Smallman street to Railroad street to a width of Eighty (80) feet the said widening to be on the westerly side thereof.

IN THE OPERATION of the Company's tracks crossing Twenty-first and Twenty-third streets, it shall not permit any cars to stand on the tracks crossing said streets, and such use shall be subject to regulations that may be made from time to time by general or special ordinance of the City of Pittsburgh relating thereto.

THIRD. The City shall repeal an Ordinance of November 29, 1847, extending Duquesne way from Washington street (now Eleventh street) to the East line of the City, as it then existed.

IN CONSIDERATION of the repeal of said Ordinance, the Company agrees that in the event of the construction by the City of a boulevard or roadway along the south bank of the Allegheny River East of Eleventh street, it will at that time dedicate to the City all riparian rights to property then owned by said Company on said south bank of the Allegheny River between Eleventh and Twentieth streets; and to waive all claims for damages for the taking of land for the location and opening of said river-front thoroughfare to a width of Fifty (50) feet, measured Southwardly from the United States Harbor line as now fixed between Eleventh street and a point One Hundred and Fifty (150) feet West of the West line of Sixteenth street; thence tapering uniformly to a width of Twenty (20) feet measured Southwardly from said Harbor Line at the East line of Sixteenth street; thence extending Eastwardly with a width of Twenty (20) feet measured Southwardly from said Harbor Line to Twentieth street, subject, however, to the reservation by and for the use of the Company of a strip of ground at least Twenty-five (25) feet in width, measured Northwardly from the North line of the proposed outbound freight house, as shown on Exhibit "B" hereinafter described, and provided that said thoroughfare shall be constructed to the grade of the driveway North of said outbound freight house shown on Exhibit "B", and in such fashion as to offer no obstacle to the passage of vehicles between said freight house driveway and said boulevard for the full length of the freight house.

THE COMPANY agrees further that it will join with the City and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company in an agreement providing for the construction of one track in said boulevard and along the southerly side thereof between Twentieth street and Eleventh street, and west thereof, in lieu of the existing track or tracks owned or used by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, along the river bank within the limits named, said track to be owned and used equally and jointly by the Company and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company for the purposes of serving side tracks of either of the Companies located west of Eleventh street. It is agreed that said track shall not be closer than Twenty-Five (25) feet to the outbound freight house of the Company, as shown on Exhibit "B," and that its use shall be restricted in accordance with regulations to be imposed by the City by general or special ordinance or ordinances relating thereto.

THE COMPANY agrees further to release the City from any and all damages that may be occasioned to its property by the construction of a river front wall located on or beyond the present Harbor Line.

THE CITY agrees that no assessment for benefits nor for the cost of construction of said boulevard or roadway or river front wall shall be made against the Company.

FOURTH. The City shall reestablish the grades of Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Sixteenth, Nineteenth, Twenty-First, Pike and Etna streets substantially as shown on Plan No. 22,465, Sheet 2, dated June 12, 1928, and revised October 9, 1928, indentified by the signatures of the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City and the Chief Engineer—Central Region of the Company; a copy of said plan being on file in the office of the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City, marked "Exhibit A-2;" and the entire cost consequent to the said change of grades, including any land damages to property affected thereby, shall be paid by the City, excepting for Eleventh street, Sixteenth street, Etna street, Twelfth street and Twenty-First street north of Smallman street, as elsewhere herein provided.

TRACKS

FIFTH. The tracks in the proposed new Freight and Produce Terminal and the tracks leading from the main tracks over the Allegheny River to the said terminal must be relocated and grades changed and additional tracks constructed, as shown on Plan No. 21,505-Q, dated January 11, 1928, revised April 21, 1928; revised May 21, 1928; revised October 1, 1928; revised October 9, 1928; marked "Exhibit B," and identified by the signatures of the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City and the Chief Engineer—Central Region of the Company; a copy of said plan being filed in the office of the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City.

THE COMPANY agrees to move southwardly from its present location to a point 40.28 feet from the north line of Railroad street, the center line of its northerly track on Railroad street between Twenty-third street and a point about half way between Twentieth street and Twenty-first street; thence westwardly so as to substantially pass through the same point at Twentieth street as at present.

SIXTH. The Company may, when authorized by ordinance or ordinances of the Council, approved by the Mayor, construct its tracks across the streets within the limits herein specified, in locations other than as shown on said "Exhibit B," but said tracks shall be constructed to conform with the grades shown on Exhibit "A-2," as revised.

SEVENTH. The Company agrees, without expense to the City, to dedicate all its right, title and interest in and to land on the easterly side of Eleventh street from Penn avenue to Duquesne way as now opened west of Eleventh street, and thence approximately parallel to Twelfth street from Duquesne way as now located west of Eleventh street to the United States Harbor Line to provide a street Eighty (80) feet in width, including the additional ground for making proper curved connections with Penn avenue and with a proposed river front roadway, all as shown on Exhibit "A-1."

EIGHTH. The Company agrees further that at such time as the City shall construct a river-front roadway west of Eleventh street it will grant to the City any rights which the Company may have to the property between the present United States Harbor Line and a line parallel thereto and distant Eighty (80) feet southward therefrom, and extending from Tenth street to Eleventh street, subject, however, to the Company's right to maintain its present bridge, including supports thereof.

NINTH. At such time in the future as the main tracks between the Allegheny River Bridge of the Company and the new passenger terminal are relocated and reconstructed as provided in the agreement of March 25, 1925, the Company shall relocate and raise its tracks leading from the Allegheny River Bridge to its produce yard, and the City shall lower the grade of Eleventh street so that the connecting tracks will be carried across Eleventh street over head, as shown on Exhibits "B" and "A-2." The connecting tracks between Eleventh street and Thirteenth street shall be relocated north of and entirely off Pike street. Freedom of Speech Upheld by Citizens

A number of citizens, including several clergymen, Protestant, Catholic and Jew, have organized a branch of the American Civil Liberties Union. The object is to champion the freedom of speech and the press and the right of assemblage.

This is a little light in the darkness of a city in which its Council recently went on record in upholding a man who had refused to permit a speech to be delivered in the North Side Carnegie Music Hall. The man who wanted to speak was a Communist. Perhaps not one of those who have organized the local Civil Liberties Union does agree or could agree with that man's political views, but they do agree with his right to express them, and they properly hold that the suppression of speech in time of peace is much more dangerous to American freedom than any verbal attack that could be made on the government.

When the public and the press is debarred from speaking, the Constitution is being violated and one of our greatest safeguards against despotism is ignored. The fact that the incident was insignificant in itself does not minimize the danger, since it establishes a precedent either of favoritism, discrimination or the scrapping of the Constitution.

Tech Team Celebrates; Pitt Worthy as Loser

Carnegie Tech had a celebration yesterday in observance of the victory of its football team over Pitt in the city championship contest in Pitt Stadium before a crowd of approximately 50,000 Saturday. Students were given a holiday in which to "make whoopee" befitting their triumph over the enemy residing on the hills on the far side of Forbes street from the Tech campus. It is just as well that a holiday was declared, thus magnanimously saving fevered students from the sin of skipping classes, as many of them certainly would have done.

Tech, in winning the first championship game, officially recognized by the city through the donation of a trophy, has the honor of being the first to be inscribed thereon as the victorious team. It deserves commendation for having come through in a crisis which threatened to make a break in an unbroken record of games won. Pitt, selected as the underdog in the contest, takes a worthy palm also for having made such a gallant bid for the winner's reward, and for having held to a low score a team that was expected to defeat it with much greater ease than it did.

There is honor for both teams in the final result. The case is not similar to that of the man who, served with a one-clawed lobster with the explanation that it had been in a fight, told the waiter to take it back and bring him the winner. Withholding no acclaim from Tech for its strength at the time when it was needed, the public, nevertheless, regards each team as having demonstrated possession of the stuff of which champions are made.

Extension of Boulevard Important Improvement

Opening of the extension of the Boulevard of the Allies, announced for Thursday, marks the completion of another important traffic improvement, work on which has been progressing for several months. It provides a second and shorter route from the downtown district to Schenley Park that has no street cars. Indeed, after passing Grant street, it crosses no car tracks at grade, although it has two elevated crossings over Forbes street, beyond Brady, which are massive structures, the completion of which is an engineering accomplishment of note.

Opening of the boulevard also does away with a detour between Forbes street and the boulevard made necessary by closing the boulevard at Brady street during the time the new work has been under construction. It will facilitate traffic passing through the Oakland district and will serve to make the roads of Schenley Park traffic channels of Squirrel Hill and Beechwood boulevard to a greater extent than ever.

It is a big improvement in exemplification of our slogan—"Pittsburgh Promotes Progress."

Be Careful About Girls

Some "Pack a Punch."

Young women of this day are energetic, aggressive and like the worm, they will turn. Unlike the worm, some ladies, as they turn, will "swing on a gentleman's jaw."

Bear that in mind, even if you happen to be president of a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

Mr. Thomas Price, of South Orange, is the president of that society in New Jersey. What's more, he is secretary of the Union Pacific Railroad.

All this did not save him from being horsewhipped when he tried to take a lame horse from Miss Vivian Munce, proprietor of the Millburn Riding Academy, of South Orange.

Miss Munce, who knows a good deal about horses, was riding a mare that seemed to be lame in one front foot.

Mr. Price, who knows that it is his business to protect our dumb friends against heartless owners, told Miss Munce that she mustn't do that, and he would have to take the horse away.

In addition to horsewhipping the kind man, she is prosecuting him for horse stealing, and he must appear in court to answer.

The way of a transgressor is hard, but sometimes not as hard as that of the person trying to interfere with the transgressor.

In these days the more you let others alone, the safer you are. Even a tender female may surprise you.

Truth and Lies

(Proverbs 12; 14-28.)

A MAN shall be satisfied with good by the fruit of his mouth: and the recompense of a man's hands shall be rendered unto him.

The way of a fool is right in his own eyes: but he that hearkeneth unto counsel is wise.

A fool's wrath is presently known: but a prudent man covereth shame.

He that speaketh truth sheweth forth righteousness: but a false witness deceit.

There is that speaketh like the piercings of a sword: but the tongue of the wise is health.

The lip of truth shall be established for ever: but a lying tongue is but for a moment.

Deceit is in the heart of them that imagine evil: but to the counsellors of peace is joy.

There shall no evil happen to the just: but the wicked shall be filled with mischief.

Lying lips are abomination to the Lord: but they that deal truly are his delight.

A prudent man concealeth knowledge: but the slothful shall be under tribute.

Heaviness in the heart of man maketh it stoop: but a good word maketh it glad.

The righteous is more excellent than his neighbour: but the way of the wicked seduceth them.

The slothful man roasteth not that which he took in hunting: but the substance of a diligent man is precious.

In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death.

Tyranny

THE state of Minnesota has passed a law permitting an injunction against future issues of any periodical if any issue is, in the opinion of a judge, "malicious, scandalous and defamatory." In other words, any judge who disagrees with an editor can shut him up—and, in effect, confiscate his property. The law will, of course, be carried to the Supreme Court. A periodical which is scandalous and defamatory should, of course, be punished. There are plenty of existing laws which provide for such punishment; they are the laws concerning libel. They do not need to be supplemented by any provision which puts property and personal freedom at the mercy of a judge's taste.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Beware the Speed Demon in You!

IN YOUR treatment of strangers you are fair and courteous and will give and take in a good-humored way—until you get behind the wheel of your automobile.

Then you become arrogant, demanding, unfair.

You cuss, rave and crowd the other fellow.

You yell at pedestrians, bawl at the other autoist, though he may be driving as nearly on his side of the road as you are on yours.

Somehow you seem a different sort of person, at your steering wheel.

You don't give an inch and you expect others to get out of your way.

Analyze the change that comes over you, if you please.

Is it not because the feeling of power at your command gets the better of your good judgment and sense of fairness?

You are carried away by the knowledge that you are now to be reckoned with.

You are reacting to your childhood days when you envied Jack the Giant Killer; it is dangerous business in your speed car.

Usually the road hog is a person of little importance, lacking gray matter.

If you don't wish to qualify in the numbskull class, stay where you belong and save the necks of others, and incidentally yourself.

WINTER MUSIC

By Garrett P. Serviss

A Georgia "boy who wants to know," writes: "Why, when it is half way between the horizon and the zenith, does the sun shed a different heat in the morning and in the afternoon? Then, I would like to know why the wind taken at the same height and blowing as near as I can judge at the same rate whistles in cold atmosphere and in summer does not. These questions may sound silly, but just the same I want to get straight on them."

THE questions are not silly, but they show a sensitiveness of observation that is not common, or rather a sensitiveness of perception. Not many would notice that the sun seems to shed a "different" heat in the morning from that of the afternoon. Observe that the boy says not that the sun is hotter after noon, but that its heat is different. The afternoon is generally warmer than the forenoon for the evident reason that the sun's rays have been passing through it during a longer time, so that both the air and the ground have accumulated heat. But there is something else, something more obscure—the afternoon air is less stimulating than that of the morning. Its molecules being more heated must, theoretically, be in a state of more intense agitation, but the reaction upon the human body, and through the body upon the mind, is felt not merely as heat but as an inhibitive influence which dulls all the faculties.

The question about the whistling of the wind involves yet more obscure reactions, both physical and mental. All know that, broadly, it is true that the winter winds whistle and those of summer do not. Many various influences are concerned in producing this difference. The winter trees, stripped of their leaves present multitudes of high-keyed "tongues" to the breeze, which passes over their rigid but vibrant forms like the bow of a violin over tensely tuned strings. All nature is crowded with eolian harps in the frozen atmosphere of a winter's day and at night every tone is deepened and strengthened as the wind descends the chimneys and meets the sparks from the blazing fire-logs ascending the reddened throats of the flues, where heat and cold contend to throw the distracted air into wild discordance of vibration, from which issue the moaning and shrilling voices of the storm.

One would say that the winter cold keys the atmosphere to higher pitch. And yet, as already remarked, the vibration of the molecules of the air must be more powerful when the atmosphere is hotter. But on the other hand, cold air is denser than warm air, and it might be said that this accounts for the higher keying of the atmospheric bow and strings. The denser the air the more musical it becomes.

An indication is to be found in the melody of sleigh bells—though, alas! I fear that sleigh bells are far from common now, like the broad-throated chimneys and roaring fireplaces of our fathers. Echoing over frozen winter fields the sleigh bells of former days furnished unforgettable evidence of the superior vibrant quality of the atmosphere of winter. A set of bells, however well shaken, never gave forth their real music in the summer air. They were tuned for the crystallinehiemal atmosphere. But on the other hand, church bells fling out no such resounding peals in winter as in summer; their sounds seem cracked, sharp and short when the landscapes are white and the trees bare.

This whole subject is less a matter of science than of sentiment and of poetry. But is it less interesting, or less important, on that account?

Tales That Are Told

Why the Tram Stopped

THE Scottish express thundered northwards through the night. Suddenly there was a grinding of brakes and the train came to a stop.

Windows were dropped and inquiring faces appeared. The guard left his van and, flashing his lamp before him, went down the length of the train, inquiring who had pulled the emergency chain. He came at length to a compartment where a dear old lady sat smiling benignly.

"Thank you so much," she said; "you need not have stopped the train. What I want is a nice hot cup of tea, with two lumps of sugar, please."—London Tid-Bits.

Softening the Blow

A WEALTHY business man, who, incidentally, had insured his life for $100,000, went on a trip to South America.

Shortly after a report was published that the ship had sunk, and there was no news of the safety of the man in question.

A week later, however, the brother of the missing man received a cable from Rio de Janeiro:

"Safe after all. Break news gently to wife."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THE guy that comes home late and full is still awful funny to everybody but his wife. A story I heard about him is that he was talking to his friends on the way home in a taxicab. They were all talking about what would happen to them when they got home, and some of the guys claimed their wives didn't do anything to them only get them some soup to drink to make them feel better.

They asked this fellow Jones. He says, "I ain't worried."

"Why not? Is your wife away from home?"

"No. She's home, asleep."

"Oh, well then, maybe she won't miss you."

"Yes, I reckon she'll miss me all right. She missed me every time but once and we been married 10 years. But that time that she didn't miss she happened to be throwing a jardeniere, and I didn't wake up for three hours."

Triumphant Things

TOO few have loved the sunrise,
  Through all the ages long;
Too few have caught dawn's glories
  And shrined the morn in song.

Some always told of sorrow,
  And sensed pain's wistful lure;
Too few have praised the power
  To conquer, to endure.

There is a beauty hidden
  In all triumphant things,
From seed that finds the sunlight
  To eagle's soaring wings.

Too few have told the story
  Of sure and patient strength,
The conquests of the humble
  Who plod, yet win at length.

But there is beauty flowing
  From all triumphant things;
From patient labor surely
  As from the eagle's wings.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Existence in New York becomes more and more a coin-in-the-slot affair. The first Automat was hailed as a fad which would attract the experimentalists for a time and then be dropped as soon as a newer wrinkle popped along.

But the Automat is now a part of New York's eat-and-run living. There are more than 20 in the greater city, attracting all classes of trade including the carriage. There is an appeal in inspecting tempting foods displayed in the glass slots, dropping the coin and carrying the dishes to a table.

The Automat on Broadway near the Globe Theater is packed day and night and draws an especially heavy after-theater patronage. Customers secure change at the entrance and so alluring is the food that all but the regulars purchase more than they can eat.

Hard by the Winter Garden about two years ago a photomaton parlor was opened. One dropped a quarter in a slot, sat inside a little cabinet and in a few seconds out popped a strip of six pictures. County fair stuff but the invention made its inventor—a penniless immigrant boy—a million.

In the same block now are three other self-taking picture shops with a standing line at each. The next stop in the metropolitan machinal was a cigaret vending salon. One dropped a coin for his favorite brand, it slid out and a phonograph voice rasped, "Thank you!"

Then came the Sodamat, which as the name implies is an automatic device for soda water. The patron could secure his choice of 10 flavors for a nickel. The Sodamat caught public fancy and are now stretched the length of Broadway.

The last word is the Vendomat occupying a beautiful polychrome parlor at Sixth avenue and Forty-second street. The floor is of tinted stone leading up to a marble wall holding vending machines. Drinks are mixed automatically before the eye and slide out through a door. The electric self-shoe-shiner also flourishes.

New York has innumerable rat-faced lawyers who chase ambulances and otherwise pillage profit from the muck of human woe. Hundreds have been disbarred but remain in the background and operate through confederate shysters who have not. Polite blackmail is their dish and philandering husbands sooner or later fall into the net. In the past year they have been particularly active and Broadway whispers they have collected upwards of $2,000,000 from men who did not care to have foolish and amorous letters read out loud to 12 perfect strangers.

One little shyster called on a certain gentleman associated with the theater. He had a packet of letters the gentleman had written to a doubtful Juliet and which would tickle a tabloid editor a perfect pink. He requested the modest sum of $50,000. Asked to call a few hours later, he was introduced to the theatrical man's wife. "She handles all my legal matters," he explained, indifferently, and left the room. The shyster mumbled something or other and departed in utter confusion. It developed the intended victim had told his wife nothing, but staked all on a magnificent bluff. And it worked.

The town has two nonagenarians who are frequent first nighters in silk hats and full evening dress. My idea of a mark to shoot at would be to have a "desire under the elm" in the first row at the Follies on one's 100th birthday. Or it would be all right with most of us at the century milestone to have Helen Kane sit on a creaking and rheumatic knee and warble: "I want to be loved by you! Boo-Boo-Bo-Boop!"

"I see no reason"—Goody! I'm being heckled—"for you to act as spokesman for New York," writes someone who signs himself Native Son, and continues: "People who have lived here for 50 years cannot interpret the voice of the city. Yet after 15 years you have the nerve to try. Comb that out of your mustache."

Even at that I would rather try futilely to interpret the voice of the city than waste time writing anonymous letters. And pluck that one out of your blond beard.

DISCIPLINE

By Dr. Frank Crane

Suicide stands for the absolute collapse of a personality. The thoroughbred is one who goes on no matter what happens.

In a New York play some years ago was a line as follows "You go till you can't go any farther, you stand it to the limit of human endurance, and then you stand it for another minute." That expresses the indomitable will of man.

History is full of instances where men have surmounted apparently insurmountable obstacles. Crippled, they have gone on fighting on their knees. Deaf and blind, they have not acknowledged defeat.

Henley's lines about one's head being "bloody but unbowed" express the sentiment of heroism in all of us.

Since the ending of the war the suicide rate has gone up all over the world.

To avoid starvation, it is said, entire families in China have poisoned themselves.

All this presents a very serious question. What makes life worth living? And what is it makes us want to quit it?

If we think the matter over carefully we can hardly help coming to the conclusion that the joy of life is inseparably bound up with discipline.

We are full of strange forces. Our passions, desires, longings, ambitions, hopes and shames act within us as fierce electricities.

The first lesson of youth should be discipline.

Not by some one else, but by one's self.

It is not obedience, but self mastery, that brings power and joy.

It is the undisciplined who slump.

It is they who have never learned, and have not perfected in practice the art of self-control, who rush to suicide.

Suicide is the tragedy of weakness. Strength and the disciplined soul never experience tragedy.

They always triumph, as did Socrates drinking his poison and Jesus upon the cross. We do not pity these two, we stand in awe of them.

The most fundamental and the truest of all creeds is belief in life. And we do not believe in life unless we master it.

To be continually blown about, to rush from excess to regret, alternately to coddle and curse a bad habit, to whine everlastingly at the inevitable, to be a plaything of events and to have no skill of adjustment—this is the story of the undisciplined.

And it is the high road to suicide.

OH, THESE WOMEN

By Leola Allard

A BEAUTIFUL example of what most wives aren't was demonstrated in Omaha. The wife believed in her husband, who was a huckster, thought him a good man who would provide for her and their children, so she let it go at that and didn't nag him about how much he made and what he did with it. They were happy.

He died the other day and had saved for her $43,000.

It's a curious thing how many women marry men they mistrust, thereby making jobs for judges.

There was a rule in Mexico City that there should be no kissing in public. Nobody obeyed it, and the new police inspector general threw it in the waste basket. But he DID say, sort of nonchalantly, "don't OVERDO it."

For instance: Don't kiss on these moving staircases in department stores.

Don't kiss in streets except when you see stop lights. When green lights say go, then stop.

Don't kiss in crowded cafes, where waiters are carrying trays.

Don's kiss while driving an automobile.

Moving picture houses are foolproof, but its better to watch the picture and learn how.

He was born when she was 40. If she had courted him when she was 41 and he was one it would have been easy for his nurse to have hidden him under the blankets. If at 50 she had decided he was her man, the 10-year-old boy's mother could have spanked him and put him to bed without supper. But 40 years of experience against 28 years of bewilderment could hardly be called 50-50.

The men who are forever bemoaning the disappearance of the old-fashioned, timid, feminine type, will be happy to hear that in Evanston, Ill., a group of women at an afternoon lunch party called out the police to rescue them from a tiny mouse, which was so frightened by their screams that he fell into a jar of jam.

A San Francisco girl killed nine polar bears and captured a cub. Not to underrate her victory, but if sh is as pretty as the rest of the girl in San Francisco, one can't get excited over her marksmanship. The bears probably walked right up to her and asked to be taken home.

Oakland police must have a mea disposition. A best man hurrying to a wedding with three gallons of wine for the celebration in his car, was arrested, had to post a bail o $750, and, worst of all, face the wedding guests empty handed.

He was still the best man. Ther wasn't a better one there who kne how to get what was needed t make the wedding jolly.

Look, Who's Here!

"THE time has come to beg active propaganda for th conversion by orderly processes of the United States government into a monarchy."

This is no paragraph from a modern joke book, but program for an organization, the Royalist League of America, which planned to meet in Dallas recently.
